"To Know Her Was To Love Her"

In loving memory of my sister Mable G. Page, who passed away in Watts Hospital at the age of 57 on December 1, 1968.

Her smile was worth a million, you have always heard them say. Her radiance was enriching, through every single day. Her gratitude and kindness always meant so much to me, her cheerfulness in living was so wonderful to see.

Her love for life and friendship, to all she knew she'd love. Her Christian witness was patterned by the Father up above. Her love for her household, her enthusiasm with each new day. Her faith in God was always strong, come health or sickness or what may. Her living glow to others, revealed the fathers shining face. Her patience true and faithful reflected Gods saving Grace, her personality bubbled every where she went. Mable Lois's short time here on earth, I'm sure it was well spent.

They say time heals all sorrows and helps us to forget, but time so far has only proved how much we miss you yet. God gave us strength to face it and courage to bear the blow, but what it means to lose you Mable only God can know.

But how wonderful that Christians share a hope which sorrow can't impair, for our loved one waits at Heavens' door, where we shall meet to part no more.
