

[SPORTS] In Our Opinion

By CLINT FULLER

Perhaps while the Legislature is in session, it should pass a law which would prohibit the Carolina Tarheels from ever again going to Louisville, Ky. In four tries, the ACC representatives have fallen flat on their faces. Particularly, this year they must have left a great deal of doubt in the minds of the national basketball watchers about the strength of other ACC teams. If Carolina is the ACC power and can show no better against even unranked Drake than it did in Saturday's consolation game, what they must be asking does Duke, State and South Carolina have? In both games, Carolina made a pitiful showing—what ever excuse might be forth coming from Chapel Hill.

The still undefeated Red Springs Red Devils are State Class 1-A champions. The Red Devils downed Stoneville, a Western power Saturday night, 64-61 to succeed Franklin's Youngsville Phantoms as state champs. The neighboring Vance County Cougars finished as number three team in the state by taking Cullowhee, 61-53 in the consolation contest.

Youngsville's Vickie Rogers, and Harriett Pearce were chosen All-East 1-A by the News and Observer Prep Clip Board, written by Grady Elmore. Both were All-Conference and All-Tournament selections in the Franklin League and Rogers was chosen the Tournament's Most Valuable Player for the second consecutive year. Unquestionably, they are the best girl cagers in the League.

Marsha Winstead of Bunn and Louise Person of Gold Sand were named to the second team and Wakelon's Linda Brown and Gayle Pearce were also second team selections. The six chosen represent six of the top seven scorers in the Franklin League. Jean Hagwood of Bunn tied with Winstead for season scoring averages but was overlooked in the All East selections. Wakelon's Jackie Perry and Bunn's Ellen Andrews and Jean Crudup were other scoring leaders in the League.

Now that basketball—live, local, state and television—is over, Spring has brought forth its favorite sport—baseball. High School play gets underway today with Louisburg at Youngsville and Bunn at Franklinton. Friday afternoon, Edward Best will play at Wakelon; Vance County will be at Oxford Orphanage (both play in the Franklin League, although Vance games do not count in the standings); Franklinton will be at Louisburg and Youngsville will play at Bunn.

The College plays its second game against Western Maryland today and begins a two-game slate against Williams of Mass. Friday with the second game being played Saturday.

Hurricane Golfers

Louisburg College golfers open their 1969 schedule with three regulars back from last year. They are Dwight Leadbetter, who will probably play the number 1 position; Pat Radford, a straight hitting golfer, who's very consistent; and Deane Hege, a Whiteville product from a golfing family. Rounding out the team will be freshmen Dave Stamper, rated high in the state his senior year in high school; Rick Green, the Zebulon product, who will push Stamper for the No. 2 position; and Jay Klinge who plays to a handicap of 9.

Louisburg has good balance in the top five players. All are capable of shooting below 80, with Leadbetter, Green, and Stamper threats to play even better.

The outlook of the '69 season is very good. Chowan will pose the major threat, with Ferrum a close second. Louisburg has high hopes of finishing in the top division, but consistent play on the part of all the golfers could result in a ranking of number one when the year is over.

'Canes Take Second Win

The Louisburg College Hurricanes combined 5 hit pitching by four Cane hurlers and timely hitting for a 7-2 win over N. C. State's Jayvee team Friday. The win was their second in a row and leaves them with a 2-1 record going into today's doubleheader with Western Maryland.

The Maryland club will be one of the Cane's toughest opponents, compiling a 16-3 record last year. They return all but two of last year's team. They had a team batting average of .292 last year. Against State the Canes used four hurlers with Jim Rivers picking up the win as the Canes scored the go ahead runs during his stint on the mound. Mike Farris' two run homer was the big blow for the Canes in the 7th.

Louisburg will meet Williams College Friday and Saturday of this week. Game time for all single games is 2:45 with doubleheaders beginning at 1:30.

Pork, Egg Vote Wednesday

Wednesday, March 26, is a red letter day for pork producers in North Carolina. On this date producers will be requested to approved for another three year period the $0.05 per head assessment on market hogs to finance the North Carolina Pork Producers Association programs. Since 1964 the Pork Producers Association headquartered in Raleigh has maintained an active, aggressive campaign promoting the pork industry of the state. This has included point of sale promotion to encourage consumer groups giving them factual information on the improved quality and nutritive value of pork.

Franklin County egg producers will also vote March 26 on continuation of North Carolina's producer-financed egg promotion program, according to J. R. Shillinglaw, Agricultural Extension Agent.

A two cent per case assessment on each case of table egg purchased, packed, or processed in North Carolina finances the state-wide egg promotion program conducted by the North Carolina Egg Marketing Association.

On March 26, egg producers will vote on continuation of the 2 cents per case assessment for the next six years. All producers of eggs are eligible to vote in the referendum. A two-thirds majority of favorable votes will continue NCEMA's Nationally recognized egg promotion program.

Polling places for both pork producers and egg producers in Franklin County will be as follows: Youngsville Milling Co., Youngsville, Louisburg Milling Co., Franklinton Milling Co., Agricultural Building, and FCX in Louisburg, Childers Milling Co., Route 2, Louisburg and all Vocational Agriculture Departments in the County.

"Just minding
our own business"

Robert and Joann Sherron are part owners in a local business — a three million dollar local business!

And, come 7:30 p.m. Friday, March 28, they'll be at Wake Forest High School Gymnasium in Wake Forest to help look after it.

You see, Robert and Joann are member-owners of Wake EMC and they're meeting with their fellow owners to, among other things, help elect several directors for their business for the coming year.

In so doing, Robert and Joann are helping to "call the shots" in how their business is operated. They know it can't be run by proxy and operate with maximum benefits to them. So, come bring your family and meet your partners in business.

"Meet the goof-proof
motor oil."

If the hired hand puts an auto engine oil in a tractor that needs Series 3 diesel oil, it could void your warranty—right?

And if he puts Series 3 diesel oil in your car and farm engines you could lose their warranties—right?

Not any more. We have an oil that's fully qualified for every engine on your farm—ESSOLUBE D-3. With it, you don't have to keep two or more different kinds of oils on hand. And if it prevents just one mistake, it could save you a bundle!

Let us send out some of our goof-proof ESSOLUBE D-3 with your next order. Call:
