move on any annexation be made until 1971 when the present Council would have completed its term.

After the Council rejected the proposals, a delegation representing some twenty people in the Jeffreys Drive area appeared before the Board asking

Winning School Writers Listed

Mrs. Rena C. Bland, sponsor of the Louisburg High School newspaper, School Daze, which won the coveted first place award for feature writing recently, has announced the names of students contributing to the publication.

During the past year, the period for which the award was received, Mrs. Bland discloses that features were written by Editor Matt Person, associate Editor Cassandra Versteeg and the following columnists: Van Clifton, Georgia Griffin, Charlie Hobgood, Phyllis Kerley, Betsy May, Phillip Robertson, Cynthia Schubart and Bill Taylor.

Mrs. Bland also said that other feature writers include Carolyn Chadwick, Larry Clements, Lanier Hasty, Dee Hutchinson, Robin Kerley, Bebe King, Donna Park, Linda Patterson, Michael Perry, Deborah Roberson, Larry Romero, Cynthia Shillinglaw and Marilyn Stewart.

"There were still others," Mrs. Bland said, "but I have named those who regularly contributed." She explained the paper was judged on a basis of a year's production.

Speaking of the award, Mrs. Bland said, "I am thrilled, overwhelmed and humbled. I am pleased not only on behalf of the school newspaper, but on behalf of the school itself."

that the Council accept the amendment to exclude them from any future annexation. Harris Spencer, Charles Merritt, Robert Edwards and Jimmy Cottrell made the request for the group.

Cottrell reports that about twenty people met at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Herman Spencer earlier Friday evening to discuss the matter. Later the entire group visited the home of State Senator E. F. Griffin to discuss the matter with him.

Cottrell explained that his group appeared before the Town Council to urge the Council to accept the Speed amendments and to exclude their section for any plans for annexation.

Two members of the Council said that Speed "treated us like children" in his proposals Friday night. One said, "It was like him saying to us, do this and I will give you this piece of candy".

The proposals by Rep. Speed, according to Council members, would have included all of Franklinton under the 1959 law, allowing the Franklinton Council to annex any outlying sections. It would have excluded Bunn and Youngsville along with those sections around Louisburg from the bill.

The Franklin lawmakers were presented a petition Monday containing nineteen names of persons favoring not only the bill but saying they also favored being annexed into the Town of Louisburg. Fifteen of the signers live on or in the general section of Jeffreys Drive. Four others represented the North Main Street area and the Davis Development between Bickett Blvd. and the Bunn highway.

Thus far, there has been no reaction on the part of the Town Council or opponents of the measure. Most, apparently, are awaiting today's Senate action before expressing an opinion.

Twenty-Three May Die On Roads

Too much independence on the highways over the long Independence Day weekend could bring death to at least 23 persons in more than a thousand traffic accidents on North Carolina's streets and highways, cautions the N. C. State Motor Club.

The official count of the holiday highway toll runs from 6 p.m. Thursday, July 3, through midnight Sunday, July 6, a 78-hour period. The July Fourth casualty list for a 102-hour period last year came to 26 killed and 771 injured in 1,472 accidents. Eleven of the deaths were recorded on Thursday the Fourth.

Leading driver violations reported were: speeding, 353; drove left of center, 198; failed to yield right of way, 171; failed to see movement safe, 134; and following too closely, 109.

"Since the Fourth falls on Friday this year to make it an extended weekend, there will be a tremendous upsurge in traffic, especially to and from vacation areas," said Thomas B. Watkins, president of the motor club and the National Automobile Association.

"The State Highway Patrol has done a remarkable job in holding traffic deaths to about eighty less than this time last year. Let's not spoil their good work with an outbreak of careless driving and a rash of highway accidents. Remember, no one can 'bring 'em back alive' except you and the other drivers on our highways. Do your part in making this a safe and sane Fourth."
