mileage including urban streets. Wake leads with 1,316.45; followed by Orange with 632.73, Franklin with 609.47 and Durham with 606.78.

Orange with its 45,300 population is nearer the class of Wake and Durham than of Franklin. In its politics, Orange is far removed from Franklin. Chapel Hill, one might remember went for Dr. Reginald Hawkins in last year's Democratic Primary. Franklin gave Mel Broughton a slight edge in May but Scott led Jim Gardner by over a thousand votes last November here.

The new alignment includes not only the state capital—a fact that many contribute to Franklin's being left out of appropriations in the past—but the highly favored Research Triangle area. The Triangle lies in the heart of the three other counties in the new group.

Without commenting on the new alignment, The Chapel Hill Weekly has taken Chairman Faircloth to task in Wednesday's edition. Editorially, The Weekly says Faircloth "has spelled out generally what he hopes to achieve over the next four years with that $1.5 billion at his command. To nobody's great surprise, certainly not ours, the missing Chapel Hill leg of the Chapel-Hill-Raleigh Expressway was not mentioned, even in passing."

The Weekly continued, "Mr. Faircloth thinks his new Commission ought to concentrate on improving and upgrading the State's East-West road system." The Weekly goes on to list a number of major projects it expects to gain priority. It makes it obvious that the newspaper has misgivings with the new highway setup.

In the interview this month, published in WE, THE PEOPLE, Faircloth was asked: "What do you expect the main thrust of highway construction to come during the next four years?"

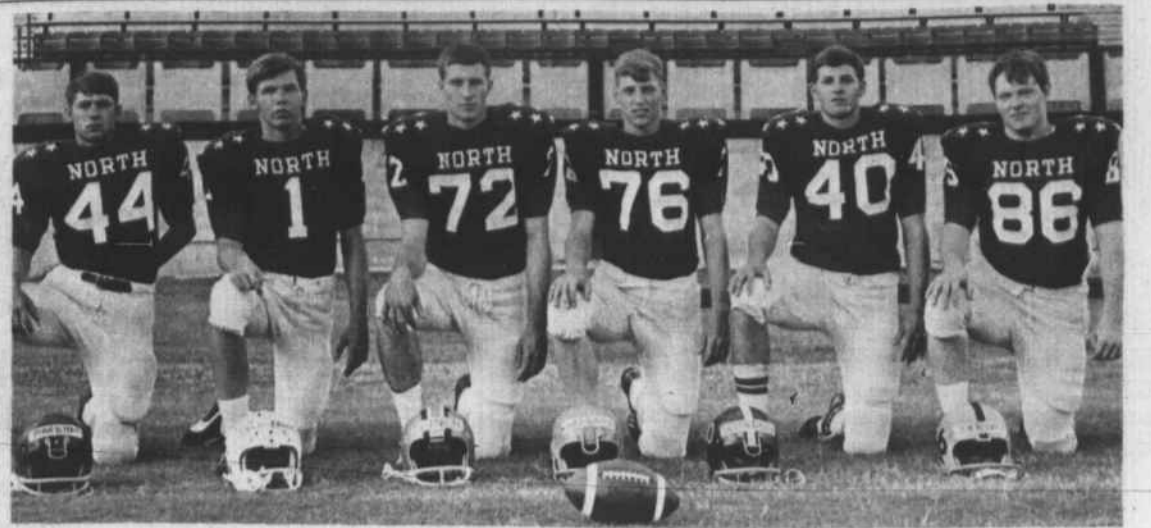

He answered: "We intend to put the major emphasis on the improvement of the primary and urban feeder highway system. That is where the big need lies, and that's what we're going to work on."

It has been reliably reported that Franklin's new Commissioner Cliff Benson would like to see improvements made to NC-56 both east and west and to see NC-39 completed to the Vance line. One source, connected with the Commission, said a few weeks ago that Franklin could expect more road funds in the days ahead than it had received in years.

Speaking before the Joint Finance Committee back in June, Faircloth said, "Recently I was asked to speak in Franklin County and when I started looking into the county's road history. I found they have not had a primary road project in 19 years. Certainly some consideration should be given a county that has been neglected that long."

WE couldn't agree more with the Chairman.

Finch In All Star Game Saturday

Louisburg's Thomas Finch (72) and five other All Stars are shown above at East Carolina University's Ficklen Stadium where they and their counterparts on the South team are practicing this week for Saturday night's annual Boy's Home All Star Football Game. ### Quicker Route

A drunk was last seen ambling up to a subway excavation in New York City. He leaned over the rail and shouted down to the workmen: "Shay, how longit gonna take to finish it?"

"Two years, bud," someone yelled back up.

"Two Yearztah!" the drunk cried. "Sh-too long—I'll take a cab."

Youngsville Lions Hear Dr. Smith

Youngsville - Dr. Arlis Smith of Wake Forest was guest speaker at the Youngsville Lions Club meeting held Monday night, July twenty-eighth. Introduced by Program Chairman Davis Hill, Dr. Smith spoke to the Lions on a subject related to his profession which is Chiropractic. Lion President Earl Hart presided at the business meeting.

Welcomed as a guest at the meeting was the new principal for the Youngsville school.

Never brag about something you expect to do: wait until it is accomplished and then let others pass judgment on it.

Local Golfers Qualify For CGA

Two Louisburg golfers were among the sixty qualifying Wednesday for the 55th Annual Carolina Golf Association Championship tournament which begins today in Pinehurst.

Kevin Warren, with a 78, and Louis Wheelis, Jr., with a 77, both were well within the 80 it took to survive the cut. Sixty of the 160 participants in the qualifying rounds will tee off today for the championship play which will end Sunday.

Warren is pitted against Buzzy Basinger of Charlotte in the upper half. Basinger shot a 73 Wednesday. Wheelis is matched with Pat Brady of Reidsville who shot a 79 in the qualifying round.

There will be two matches Thursday, two Friday and two semifinal matches Saturday. The winners of the upper and lower halves will play a 36-hole final Sunday.

The 6,970-yard course was wet Wednesday from recent rains and played extremely long.

Horse Show Slated At Franklinton

The Hilltop Stables Registered Quarter Horse and Appaloosa Show and the Franklinton Saddle Club Registered Quarter Horse Show will both feature a special western Pleasure Horse Class for all 4-H members. The 4-H members will be judged as a regular western pleasure class, and there will be no entry fee for these youths.

These two shows will be held at Hilltop Stables, Route 1, Franklinton, North Carolina on August 2 and 3. Both of these shows will feature a complete Registered Quarter Horse Show and will draw the finest Quarter Horses in the entire United States. The Hilltop Stables Show will also include an Appaloosa Show and an Open Show.

Someone ought to compel every public speaker to listen to his own remarks.

The judges for these shows are Dave Page of Aubrey, Texas, Russell W. Moore of Madill, Oklahoma and Max Culppeper, Haines City, Fla.

The public is invited to attend and to encourage our 4-H youth to participate.
