On Soviet Crime

Moscow - Eighty per cent of all juvenile law-breakers here were committed while they were drunk, according to a justice of the Soviet Supreme Court. The youthful law-breakers usually committed the crimes with an adult. Stiffer sentences for adults introducing drink to young people have been sought.

Attend Education Meeting

Raleigh - Teachers from the Franklin County school unit were among the 1,200 persons to attend the 21st Special Education Conference in Charlotte recently.

The theme of the 2-day meeting was "Organizing to Serve Exceptional Children". Governor Robert Scott, who has shown special interest in the education of exceptional children, spoke at the first general session.

"This conference is part of the Department of Public Instruction's policy for an exchange of ideas, methods, and techniques by hearing from outstanding national leaders in this field," Dr. Craig Phillips, Superintendent of Public Instruction, explained. Those interested in special education from this area attending the conference included: Mrs. Ruth Best of Louisburg and Mrs. Mary C. Hinson of Bunn. Both Mrs. Best and Mrs. Hinson are Speech Therapists in the county school system.

Chief Lassoos Animals

Buffalo, Wyo. - Today's police need many talents to serve their area. Police Chief John Taffner lassoed a stray horse and returned it to its owner. Upon returning to his office, he received a call that a resident's pet falcon was loose-he went out and lassoed the falcon.
