NEWS OBSERVATIONS.

—Quiet reigns again in Havana. -The Ohio republicans are scared. Charley Foster says they will have to work very hard to carry the State. -Philadelphia is making gorgeous preparations for the centennial of the constitution which will be celebrated this month.

-The first thing General Buckner did after being inaugrated governor of Kentucky was to appoint Mr. Matt Adams, an ex-federal soldier, Secretary of State.

-A recent decison of the treasury authorities declares that any one who imitates any part of a United States note is guilty of counterfeiting. It is claimed that under this decision Mr. Hyatt, the treasurer, can write his name only on treasury notes, as his signature is an essential part of such notes and must therefore not be used elsewhere

Don't you know fifty mules ought to more than supply the wear and tear of the mules in this county! The bank statement had no apprehard work, bad treatment, and dollars. We know another man whose mules are always fat, never scarred up, and he never buys any feed, and can get credit for any amount desired. One of these men is poor, lives hard and has no friends. The other is well off, lives well, and everybody is his friend. One is never in a strain, the other is always in a strain. One is happy, the other is miserable. One is the builder of his own fortune, the other is the wrecker of his fortune. How can any man get along, how can any man expect the Lord to proshis own interest? The law ought to be enforced against every man who misuses or abuses his stock. Who will put the ball in motion? If men were made to take care of their mules and horses in this county, it would be a clear saving in dollars and cents yearly to the county, or rather to the people of the county, of at least fif-teen thousand dollars yearly. How can we help being poor so long as we kill up our stock, buy all our home supplies from the north, and don't raise enough on the farms to foot the bills made during the year? Ought we not to be poor, and do we deserve any better fate? We saw nine mules

One of the boavest operators on the street said the the close there was no benefit to be gained from the settlement except that, which might accrue to the creditors of the B. & O. They are essentially the same parties who have taken preferred stock and bonds and it is simply a matter of bonding the floating debt. This may have saved the B. & O. from going into a receiver's hands on account of the floating debt but that is all that has been done.

So far as the telegraph settlement is concerned that is farther away now than ever. The Baltimore & Ohio is now in strong hands and will be run in conjunction with the Pennsylvania and Reading for the benefit of the latter; and if Mr. Gould buys the telegraph system it will be on the syndicate's terms and there may be a fight of years before a consolidation is made.

J. Pierrepont Morgan said today that the preliminary contract signed yesterday was the only one necessary and that no other would be drawn up. He refused to answer any questions regarding the stories that Gould had already arranged for a time sale of the Baltimore & Ohio system, but said that it was the intention to sell both the telegraph and sleeping car plants and franchises as soon as it could be favorably accomplished.

New York, Sept. 3—10 a. m.—The scenes in the stock market this morning have never been equalled in the history of the street. Every one of the brokers seemed to have heavy buying orders and little or no stock was offered for sale. Fluctuations were all wide and on an upward scale. Reading, which closed last night at 59, opened at 601 and advanced in a minute to 63. Union Pacific opened at 1½, went up to 56½ and advanced immediately to 57. Western Union closed last night at 743, opened at 76 and is now 77g. Richmond Terminal closed last night at 27%. opened this morning at 29 and is now 30%. Larceny and Receiving Case. On Friday evening a colored man named Fab. H. Jeffries, who has been employed for some time past by Messrs.A.D.Royster & Bro., as a drayman, was arrested by the police on a Blaine. charge of stealing goods while haul-ing them from the depot to the candy factory. Sugar seems to have been the priecipal article confiscated, and this was taken in as large quantities as two barrels at one time. As he was loading a barrel at the One girl about five years old was depot with its head stove in, the agent noticed it and had the barrel weighed to see if it was full

After Jeffries delivered it at the store, it was weighed again and found wanting. Nothing was said about it, but further investigations were begun. Enough was learned to justify the arrest of Jeffries, and also of a white man named A. V. Emery. A colored man named R. H. Aiston was wanted, but it seems he got an inkling of what was going on and left the city before the police could catch him. In the preliminary trial before the Mayor it was learned that on one occasion Jeffries, while hauling up a load of sugar, met Jim Hatcher, another colored drayman, and got him to take two barrels of sugar to R. H. Alston's store. On another occasion one barrel was delivered to A. V. Emery from Jeffries. Emery paid $12.00 for the barrel of sugar and sold it to a baker in the city for $21.45. The sugar delivered to Alston, it is supposed, was sold at retail and the profits divided with ceiving stolen goods, and Alston would have been arrested for the same thing had he not left so soon After the hearing yesterday, both Emery and Jeffries were bound over to court in bonds of $200 each, which at last reports they had not given. It seems that a ring had been formed for a systematic robbery of the Messrs. Royster, which has ended as above. It is not known how much sugar altogether has been taken in this manner.

Raleigh people will remember Prof. Dahlberg, who appeared here not long since in a high class musical concert. He has been in Asheville for some time past and has evidently been busy as the following from the Asheville Citizen will show:

"We are enabled without the violation of any confidence to let the public into possession of a pleasant little piece of what the Americans call gossip, but which the Germans with better taste and judgment regard as information. They are too unselfish to keep their happiness to themselves. They gladly bid others to share it with them. Therefore, after the custom of his country, Prof. Dahlberg permits us to make known his engagement to Miss T. H. Burmeister. Miss Burmeister is the musical instructress at the Asheville Female College. Prof. Dahlberg is a pianist of established repute and his fame is hereditary and associated indirect-le with the fame of the great mis-tress of song Jenny Lind. The pro-fessor's mother came to America with the Swedish Nightingale and was the accompanying pianist to the songs of the divine singer.

The North American Review. The North American Review for

September is rather an interesting number. It contains an article from Jefferson Davis on the life of John C. Calhoun in which Mr. Davis seeks to present his former friend as Calhoun desired to have himself thought of.

After the address several short addresses were made and several subjects discussed. In the afternoon the children were addressed by Rev. H. T. Darnall and A. M. McPheeters, Esq., after which the second set address was delived by Rev. Wm. S. Lacy; subject, "The Teacher's Character." A formal vote of thanks was given by the convention for the address Judge Dick in taking his seat as chairman delivered a most eloquent address. Resolutions were adopted to Jeffries. The President's Visit. Cor. of the News and Observer,

RALEIGH, N. C., Sept. 3, 1887. I think you voiced the sentiment of the people of this city and others in the State who are interested in the matter, when you said in yesterday's issue that some effort should be made at once to learn from the President what his intentions may be in reference to attending our State fair to be held next month. It is to be hoped that some immediate effort will be made in this direction. Would it not be well for you to urge the appointment by the city or the Agricultural folks of some one (not a delegation) to go to Washington to press the invitation already made to the President, and to learn from him what his intentions in the matter may be? I think this course would be prudent, since the President is being pressed to accept so many invitations.
