The President's Coming Visit--General News--A Buncombe School. Cor. News and Observer.

ASHEVILLE, N. C., Oct. 1, 1887. It is now authoritatively setfled that President Cleveland will arrive in Asheville at 10 o'clock in the forenoon of the 21st day of the present

Immediate steps will be taken by the proper authorities and represenfative men to give the President a fitting reception. A meeting of the board of trade will take place tomorrow night, and will be participated in by the mayor and board of aldermen. Committees will be appointed and all necessary arrangements perfected for

It is proposed to receive the President and party at the depot with carriages and drive them rapidly up Patton avenue, thence to Connolly's View, and on to the Swannanoa Junction, where the special train will be in waiting. Only fifteen minutes is allowed for the stop here; but this will have to be changed; a half hour at least is required. Efforts will be made to have the time of his visit extended. As this will be the first visit ever made by any President of the United States to this section, a tremendous crowd is expected to gather here from all parts of the mountain country. Twenty thousand people may be expected. A live President draws better han a circus.

It is hoped that Governor Scales and our U.S. Senators will be present to meet and greet the President and escort him over North Carolina soil. Congressman Johnston, being at home, will take a prominent part in he reception.

Mrs. Fannie Gudger, wife of Captain James M. Gudger, died yester-day morning quite suddenly, after a brief illness, and one that was not at all alarming. Her husband was absent at the time of the sad occurrence attending Yancey court. He reached home a few hours after she ceased to breathe, and knew nothing of his beeavement until he entered the house. Mrs. Gudger was the daughter of Rev. Mr. Patty, formerly of east Tennessee, now of Oregon. The funeral will take place this evening at the M. E. church, South.

Rev. Dr. W: W. Bays closes his service as pastor of the M. E. church, Scuth, here today. He preaches his farewell sermon this morning. He has spent three years in this pastorate, giving satisfaction to the congregation and doing a deal of good Christian work. As a pulpit orator he has few if any superiors in this State, and his eloquence and powerful argumentation will be missed in the circle of Christian endeavor in this part of the country. Rev. D. M. McInturff, pastor of the

M. E. church of this city, has been appointed missionary to Japan by the mission board of his church. He will sail from Vancouver's Island, British Columbia, on November 4th for his distant field of labor. Gas will be used in the M. E. church tonight. Tomorrow night the gas will be turned on throughout the city.

The Blue Ridge conference of the M. E. church will hold its annual ses sion in this city, commencing October 19th. Bishop Mallieu, of Boston, Mass., will preside.

Buncombe county has within its borders fifty-three Federal pensioners, with pensions aggregating the annual sum of $1,553 25, as shown by the last report of the Commissioner

The Superintendent of Public In-struction publishes the following interesting description of a country school in a remote part of the county: "A log cabin eighteen by twenty-two feet, and six feet high, board roof, steps built like a partridge trap, locust pillars, walls of chestnut logs, puncheon floor with puncheons eighteen to twenty-four inches wide. The chimney built of stone with fire-place five and a half feet wide, hearth stone three by seven feet. The furniture consisted of sixteen pegs, to hang hats on, six benches, one chair and one switch five feet long. There were twenty-six children present, ranging in height from thirty-nine inches to five and a half feet. The house is a fair specimen of olden times. No cupola, no windew. No saw has been used and but few nails; hand-axe, the locust pin. Webster's immortal blue back is the text book. It is wonderful to be there! No slate, no blackboard, no globe except the grand climax peak upon which they stand, and which is covered with wild forest, rattle weed, fern and golden rod.

THE PRESIDENT AND HIS PARTY.

HEIR CORDIAL AND REFINED WELCOME-THE PRESIDENT'S SPEECH-OTHER

NEWS BY WIRE. Sr. Louis, October 3 .- Till this morning the President has been the guest of Mayor Francis, but today and tomorrow he belongs to the people. Fairer weather could not be asked. The skies are clear and the gentle north winds are sufficiently cold to make light overcoats desirable. The streets, cleaned by last night's shower, are free from dust, and everywhere along the line of the President's ride to the fair grounds the sidewalks are crowded to their utmost capacity. The President's carriage, drawn by a quartette of richly caparisoned, high-stepping, black horses, and followed by five other carriages, provided for his traveling comparions and the local committee in charge, reached the Francis mansion in Vandeventer Place a few minutes before 10 o'clock. At 10.15 the President and Mrs. Cleveland appeared at the door of the mansion and were applauded by a crowd of ladies and children that had gathered in the park in front of the residence. There was a noticeable absence of men and the dresses of the people indicated a preponderance of the better classes. Major C. C. Rainwater entered the carriage with the President and wife, and in a few mincommittee in carriages. Hundreds of vehicles, crowded with people, waited on Grand Avenue at the entrance of Vandeventer Place and joined the procession, which was strung out along the avenue for more than a mile. There was no noise whatever along the route, except the clatter of horses hoofs on the road and the tramp of thousands of feet upon the beaten walks. No mishap or incident occurred to mar the pleasant morning drive and at 10.45 the party arrived at the gate of the fair grounds. The drive to the fair grounds was made at a trot. It was "children's" day and the youngsters were out in great force. They, with their mothers, nurses and friends, packed the seats of the amphitheatre and the surrounding promenade to the numer of sixty thousand. A brass band in the pagoda in the centre attempted to make itself heard, but the shrillvoiced congregation made everything but the bass drum inaudible. The visitors did not alight. After driving round the amphitheatre track a halt was made and Mrs. Cleveland was presented by the lady superintendent of the kindergarten schools with a handsome bank of flowers. The children, led by bands, sang "Hail Columbia," and the cortege, after a drive through the fair grounds, made its way back to the city, where they went directly to the Merchants' Exchange. Mrs. Cleveland did not accompany the opportunity to pay their respects.

On the first appear ance of the President loud cheers went up from the entire multitude, and as he ascended the platform the enthusiasm was intense. Mr. Frank Gaienne, president of the Merchants' Exchange, introduced Mayor Francis and declared this the most auspicious day for St. Louis within her history. Mayor Francis then welcomed the President to the city and State, and after another explosion of cheers the President responded as follows: "If I am expected to make an extended speech on this casion, I am afraid that shall disappoint you; and this should be sorry to do after having succeeded at last, through much trib ulation, in standing face to face with my St. Louis friends. The tribulation of which I speak has arisen from the extreme kindness of a vast number of American people and the cordial invitations they have terdered me to stop and see them on my way to you. Your city was the objective point of my travel in this direction, but it has sometimes seemed to me that every town between Washington and here has been represented as being directly on my route, and it has been hard to convince these kind and
