instructed, and our Representatives are requested to vote for and use all honorable means to secure the financial reforms as demanded in the platform adopted by the Ocala meeting of the National Farmers' Alliance held in December, 1890.

Mr. Patterson moved to amend so that the resolution should read: That our Senators in the 51st and 52nd longress of the United States be and Representatives are requested to vote for and use all honorable means to secure the objects of the financial reforms contemplated in the platform adopted by the Ocala meeting of the Farmers' Alliance, held December, 1890.

Mr. Holman accepted the amendment.

Mr. Peebles inquired what was the Ocala platform, as he was not conversant with it.

Mr. Holman explained that he had no copy, but that its object was to obtain plenty of money for the farmers. The object was to try and give the relief the people needed. That they had not studied it. He could not vote intelligently on the subject. This is a very serious matwas no necessity for haste; no neces sity for pushing; no necessity for rushing this thing. As members of this legislature, it is our duty to give more time to this matter. This matter wears something of the appearance of a contract, and in that aspect we ought to give time for consideration. It is true that the people have demanded some instructions, but these instructions can come with more grace later on. He thought that the resolution ought to be referred to a committee. Since we met last night (evidently referring to an Alliance meeting) he said, I have been asked fifteen or twenty times what the Ocala platform was, and I could not say. I read it casually. I never expected to have to vote upon it in this way. I don't know what it calls for, and he unged some delay. Mr. Pritchard said that the resolution was after a fashion a shotgun load. It seems to indicate that

We cannot expect anything else but op position to the sub-treasury from Re show where it has sunk.

The resolution does not bind the Senator to any particular bill, it elect Senator Vance. only requires him to advocate the St. Louis and Ocala plan of relief. He enrolling clerk was taken up and at Chicago, or other centres of trade-not the ruling price at homeonly 40 cents. Thirty-two dollars was what he got after all his expense, and at the end of the year the corn was sold by the government.

He thought the financial bill now before Congress would give relief. The people needed more money, and the President was in sympathy with the people and the people would get more money which was the relief they needed. They did not need to borrow money; but to have more currency so as to get better prices for their products.

He agreed in part with the financial policy of the Alliance, and in part differed from them. He thought this resolution would embarrass Sen-
