What Horace Greeley Knows about War.

We have fought and been beaten. God forgive our rulers that this is so ; but it is true, and cannot be disguised. The Cabinet recently expressing, in rhetoric better adapted to a love letter, a fear of being drowned in its own honey, is now nearly drowned in gore while our honor on the high seas has only been saved by one daring and desperate negro, and he belonging to the merchant marine. The sacred soil of Virginia is crimson and wet with the blood of thousands of Northern men needlessly shed. The great and universal question pervading the public mind is: Shall this condition of things contine ?' "

' If we are ever to put down the rebellion we shall do it within a few moaths. We have more men and more means wherewith to attack and overcome the rebel armies than we shall have a year hence, should the war continue so long. If we beat them, we shall have guns enough; if they beat us, the same. One way or another, we snall have peace before the close of 1862; and it we cannot whip them with the arms we now have, we never shall. And since we need every dollar. we have or can raise for present pressing use, we protest against spending one dollar for arms that are not to be in the hands of our soldiers before the 1st of May, If we should want more arias after the rebellion is put down, let them be provided for; for the present. et us use every dollar where it will tell in the present conflict."-Tribune, January 31, 1862.

Such was the well earned fame of 6, 1871. Kentuckians-Colonel Nimrod Wildfire, then representative before the footlights, being represented as so spoiling for a fight, having been inhumanely deprived of that luxury for the intermediate space of ten days, that he would have to 'kiver himselt in a salt barrel to keep,-that we have been wondering how many invading rebels would be required to show a front in that State for the space of ten days, have concluded that nothing less than one hundred thousand would answer.

"When John Morgan made his horse stelling raid across the State last sum mer, meeting very little resistance, we explained the matter by considering that he traveled so fast-always taking fresh heres to replace those that from time to time grew weary-that the hunters aforesaid could not overtake him. But this famous parade of Kirby Smith throughout the famous 'Blue through the Union. A victory which Grass' region does not abide that solution. Here are some twenty or thirty thousand rebels who have advanced through the very heart of the State from Tennessee to the banks of the Ohio, routing the only Union force gathered to detend the Capital (which contained, we believe, just one Kentucky regiment) and Louisvine without serious opposition. Perhaps the interruption of the mails and telegraph has left us in the dark as to what is going on in that quarter. The facts will doubtless soon stime forth in all their glory and shall we be very glad to hear of the prompt and enthu instic rally of the aforesaid huntets to drive rebellion and disunion into BI ."-Tribune, September 20, 1862. It has pleased Congress to decree the appointment of a Lieutenant-General, and the President, with the entire a stat of both Houses, has selected Ulysses S. Grant for the most responsible position. We had nothing to say, pro or con, while this matter was in progress; we neither urged the creation ol a Lieutenant-Generalship, nor recommended Gen. Grant for the position. Eut now that the work is done, we What H. G. Knows about Seecsnust respectfully suggest that the conduct of the war, under the President, be committed absolutely to the Lieutenant-General, and that we all-Congress, Cabinet, and the Press, Republicans, Democrats, Conservatives, and Radicals | that such is their settled wish, I SHALL - take hold and strengthen his hands for the immense responsibility devolved upon him. Let him not be impeded or | SEEK. Thus far, I have had evidence embarrassed in his work either by of nothing but a purpose to bully and speeches or articles, advice or criticism, until we shall have given him a fair trial. Let him not be condemned for ond miscarriage, if there shall be one, but generally trusted and sustained Union, but only to secure what they until he shall have decisively shown term their rights-in the Union. Now, that he can or cannot put down the as nearly all the people of the Slave Rebellion. Then let us act as the good of the Nation shall dictate; but, until then, let in his behalf Stonewall Jacks m's message to his superior: 'Send me more men and fewer orders."-Tribune, March 5, 1864. will demand the immediate retirement of the present Cabinet from the high and nothing more."-Tribune, January places of power, which for one reason 21, 1861. or another, they have shown themselves incompotent to fill. unmeasured. The Army of the Pctomac hardly knew him a month ago; it knows him now and ever more. Had he shared the current estimate of its capacities, his misconception would have been natural; but he knew its worth instinctively and trusted implicitly to its valor and devotion. The result proves that he was right, and that that Army has at last found its true leader. Let us harbor no shadow of doubt that under his guidance that Army will promptly and thoroughly complete the work to which it has been called, and to which it has now proved itself so nobly adapted."-Tribune, May 14, 1864.

The world will be moved to mirth if it reads the manifests of the National Bemocratic Executive Committee disowning the Democratic paternity of the pamphlet. 'Concession or how the Lost Cause may be Regained, and the Independence of the South Secured.' Nobody supposed that the National Democratic Committee had authorized the issue of the pamphlet; but it is Democratic in tone and temper, for all that, and it speaks the honest sentiments, no doubt, of thousands of Southern Democrats, who will, in defiance of repeated winks and nods of disapproval from the Managers, persists in talking about the possibilities of the Lost Cause at the most unseemly times. But the snggestion that the Radicals have concocted this precious farrago of nonsense and treason for electioneering purposes is quite as ludicrous as the vaunt that the Democracy is the only party that can bring about return to honesty and constitutional laws. This last phrase is exquisite tooling."-Tribune, September

"To 'Love rum and hate niggers' ha so long been the essence of the Demooratic faith that the cooler, wiser heads of the party vainly spend their strength in efforts to lift it out of the rut in which they plainly see that it can only run to perdition. While slavery endured, negro hate was an element of positive strength in our political contests, so that the Constitutional Conventions of this and other free States were usually carried by the Democrats on the strength of appeals to the coarser

"The Democratic party of to-day 18 simply the Rebellion seeking to achieve its essential purposes within and does not enable it to put its feet on the necks of the black race seems to the bulk of its adherents not worth having. Its heart is just where it was when it regarded Slavery and the Constitution as two names for one thing. It hates the Generals who led the Union Armies to Victory, and rarely misses a chance to disparage them. It clings to that ex-aggerated notion of State Rights which makes them the shield of all manner of wrongs and abuses. It takes counsels of its hates even more than of its aspirations and will be satisfied with no triumph that does not result in the expulsion of all active, earnest Republicans from the South .- Tribune, March 23, 1871.
