ALICE CARY'S SWEETEST POEM.

Among the beautiful pictures That hang on memory's wall. Is one of a dim old forest. That seemsth best of sil: Not for its goaried oaks olden, Da. ; with the mistletce. Not for the violets golden That sprinkle the vale below ; Not for the milk-white filles That lean from the fragrant hedge, Coquetting all day with the sunbeams, And stealing their golden edge ; Not for the vines on the upland Where the bright red berries rest, Nor pinks. nor the pale cowslip, It seemed to me the best.

I once had a little brother. With eyes that were dark and deep In the lap old dim forest He heth in peace asleep : Light as the down of the thistle, Free as the wind that blow. We roved there the beautiful summers The summers of long ago; But his feet on the hills grew weary,-And, one of the antumn eves, I made for my little brother A bed of yellow leaves.

Sweetly his pale arms folded My neck in a sweet embrace. As the light of immortal beauty Silently covered his face : And when the arrows of sunset Lodged in the tree-tops bright, He fell in his saintly beauty. Asleep by the gales of light, Therefore of all the pictures That hang on memory's wall. That one of the dim old forest Seemeth the best of all.

From "Fat Contributor's" Saturday Night. WHY SOME PEOPLE ARE POOR.

An article is going the rounds of the press telling why some people are poor. We add a few suggestions : "Cream is allowed to mold and spoil." Buy strawberries to eat your cream with, even if they are a dollar a quart. Or invest in been brought into this court on a charge an ice-cream freezer, or leave it where the which so seriously affects your good name cat can't get it.

"Silver spoons are used to scrub kettles." Get the pot to call kettle black. There will be a fight, like as not, and the pot may "clean out" the kettle. Then leave your own spoons in care of the Batler.

A JUDGE WHO TRIED AND SEN- Jas T Morchead, Jr., W J Murray, Con-TENCED HIMSELF.

From the Utica (N, Y.) Observer. Otsego county, N. Y., boasts of a Jus-tice of the Peace who flashes out in the annals of local fame as arraiguing himself for delinquency. The Justice of the Peace referred to (no matter about his name or where he belongs) possessed the excellent attributes of integrity, ability and worth, but on one occasion he forgot his magesterial integrity. He let down in a weak moment the judicial bars which should hedge him in, and roamed into the field of Bacehus. In short, on a recent occasion he imbibed too much strong drink, and in consequence awoke with a realizing sense of that fact the next morning. Now here was a pretty go. A Justice of the Peace had been on a bender, or part of one. A man who was appointed to swing the flail of justice over the heads of poor unfortunate fellows, wandering over into the wrong pasture himself. But there it was. He felt reminders of it in the occasional throbs of headache. But what was to be done? The more he viewed it the more he became disgusted with himself. He made up his mind. He would attend to his case. He would vindicate the outraged law. So at the usual hour, he entered his office. He formerly opened court, and then he called his own name as a defendant in a snit in which "the people" charged him with an offense against the law, went over the circumstances in detail so far as he could remember them. read "the statute in such case made and provided," and then asked "the prisoner what he had to say," in the role of prisoner he pleaded guilty to the offence, said it was a shame for a man of his years and position, but hoped "the court would not be too severe on him, as he was determined to reform." "The prisoner will stand up," said the stern old justice. "I am very sorry that you have and standing in society; you have set a bad example, and if you go on at this rate you will bring sorrow and disgrace on yourself and family. I sentence you to pay a fine of $10 and cost, or to thirty/ days' imprisonment in the county jail." The "prisoner" said he would prefer to pay the fine-and then the court closed. He paid the $10.
