

Carolina Watchman. LOCAL. JUNE 24.

The Salisbury Cornet Band is doing the musical part of the Davidson College Commencement.

Improvements.—The Odd Fellows of North State Lodge, are handsomely refitting their lodge-room.

The long litigated case of Jenkins heirs vs Davis and Roberts, Executors, has at last been satisfactorily settled.

Brick makers are invited to examine the advertisement in this paper, soliciting bids for molding brick for the Asylum at Morganton.

Salisbury is represented among the graduates at Davidson College this year by Mess. John Whitehead and Robt. Davis. Mr. Whitehead delivers the salutatory.

Mess. Thos. E. Brown and J. W. Wadsworth have purchased the old Mansion House stable lot, and will, we learn, shortly erect a handsome and commodious livery stable upon it.

The bridge across the branch between this place and McNeely's Mill, is down. Somebody had better look out, and especially those who have charge of such matters.

We regret that we were not in the office when Dr. Eugene Gressom and Capt. C. B. Denor, of the Western Asylum Building Commission, called last Tuesday.

Mr. Theo. F. Kluttz, Druggist, has made some decided changes for the better in his store. He now has the finest Drug Store between Richmond and Atlanta.

Pic-Nic.—Last Wednesday afternoon a select party of young ladies and gentlemen, in fashion array and on pleasure bent drove out to the residence of W. S. Negus, Esq., and picniced.

The lecture-room of the First Presbyterian Church, has just been furnished with the modern reversible back seats, and other conveniences, to adapt it specially to the wants of the increasing Sabbath-School.

Attention is invited to the advertisement of Wood Land Academy. This school is situated in a healthy section of country and among good people. Mr. Geo. R. McNeill is a thoroughly competent and efficient teacher.

We had the pleasure of a call from our young friend of the Oxford Torch Light, Mr. A. Davis. Esq. Mr. D. is one of the handsomest, as well as the youngest editors in the State. He is not married, though he has been to the mountains.

Arrangements have been made by the Jews for ex-Gov. Vance to deliver his celebrated lecture on the Scattered Nations, in the city of Philadelphia, some time in Sept. next.

Household Magazine.—The May No. of this Magazine is on our table. It is a little behind in point of time, but not in literary excellence. The present number contains many good things, and is illustrated by a handsome portrait of Col. Thos. Ruffin.

The Western N. C. Railroad was sold last Tuesday according to appointment. It was bid off by Senator Merrimon for creditors at $825,000. The State got it afterwards, however, at Merrimon's bid. We hope now to see it completed promptly.

Personal.—His Excellency Gov. C. H. Brogden, Hon. A. S. Merrimon, R. T. Armfield, Wm. A. Smith, Thos. Ruffin, Robt. Strange, Jas. T. Robinson, J. T. Henry, Robt. Simenton and G. P. Erwin, Esqs., Dr. W. W. Guither, and other gentlemen of note were in the city on Tuesday last.

It is said that the citizens of Boston treated very kindly the Southerners who visited that city recently on the event of the Centennial of Bunker Hill. But we don't know that that is much to be boasting about. Are not the Southerners fully the equals of the Bostonians?

We are gratified to learn that a high school for boys will be opened in the city about the first of September. The principal will be Prof. Ludwick, who has lately occupied the chair of Mathematics in N. C. College. He is a gentleman of undoubted scholarship and ability as a teacher, and having had an experience of six or seven years, will doubtless establish a school that will be an honor to the place.

Fine specimens of wheat are to be seen at Messrs. Sullivan & Co's. It was raised, we learn by Dr. M. L. Chunn, of this county, from varieties that he has grown for twenty five years. He has been very careful in saving his seed, however, and he has improved rather than exhausted the varieties. No better specimens can be found any where, and they show how much depends on being careful in preserving the seed. Any variety can be improved in this way, and made to compare with the seed of high sounding name, offered for sale in foreign markets.

Judge Anderson Mitchell, of the Statesville judicial district has resigned his judgeship on account of his advanced age, after having long and worthily worn the ermine. Quite a squabble is going on in the Radical camp as to who shall be his successor, as the appointing power is with the Governor. W. H. Bailey, F. J. Dula, of Wilkes, and David Farnes of Iredell are the aspirants. Mr. Farnes will probably be the successful man, and though he is not so brilliant a lawyer as Mr. Bailey, he possesses some good qualifications for the position.

The Masonic celebration which was to have taken place to-day has been postponed till the 2d of July. There will be a procession, an address, a banquet and a general good time. Members of neighboring Lodges will be here and a grand re-union of the members of the oldest and greatest Brotherhood in the world will take place.

Dr. B. Craven, of Trinity College, will deliver the address.

We learn from our excellent Probate Judge that he has sent to Raleigh within the last six months nearly six hundred dollars, collected by Magistrates and the Sheriff in criminal proceedings. This money as the law now stands is required to be set aside for school purpose; but while it does very little good in that way it is a great drain upon the county and ought not to be taken out of it. It should be left in the counties to defray the expense of prosecuting criminal cases, keeping up public roads, and the like; and we hope the law governing the matter will be repealed, so that these fines may be kept at home.

Hymenial.—In another column will be found the notice of the marriage of our young friend Daniel Miller, Esq., to one of Salisbury's most charming daughters, Miss Matie Dean. The marriage was at the residence of Capt. Thos. B. Beall, and was quite a recherche affair, gotten up in that elegant style, and characterized by that hospitable grace for which Capt. Beall and his accomplished lady are noted. The young couple took the night train for the Northern cities, and we trust that the pleasures of their bridal tour, may be but the foretaste of a pleasant and prosperous journey through life.

New Machinery.—Mr. E. H. Marsh has recently set up in his machine shop in the North Ward of the town, some of the finest and best machinery we have seen in the South. His new planer works like magic, completing the work of dressing and tonguing and grooving most perfectly. He has also a mould-cutting machine of the latest style, making moulding of any size and pattern desired. The beautiful finish of the work passing through these machines is the chief attraction. He has also a number of other machines in his shop and Brass Foundry, all driven by a sixteen horse power, steam engine, turning out work in wood, iron and brass in a very superior manner.

R. B. G. Anniversary.—Monday last being the first anniversary of the revival of the Roman Rifle Guards, that company celebrated it in handsome style. In full uniform, with drums beating and ensign waving, they marched through Main St., with a true soldier's tread and bearing, the observed of all observers. At the Boyden House they were joined by the Salisbury Silver Cornet Band, which headed the company, and to the inspiring strains of the "Rifle Guard Quickstep"—composed for the original company in days long since—they passed down Main St., to the field for target practice. The shooting was very creditable. The first prize was awarded to Mr. Matt. Weant, and the second to Wilbur Frayle Esq.—both silver cups. At night the company set down to a magnificent supper, spread by mine host Linton at the Boyden House, which ended the celebration. Everything passed off pleasantly, and we trust that each individual member of the company may live to enjoy many more such anniversary occasions.

Sort and Clean.—We learn from a corn dealer here that the Western farmers are in the habit of sorting and cleaning their corn they send to market—yellow, white, or "strawberry" corn are all kept separate, and thoroughly cleaned of cobs and trash. It is also graded, so that when you order bread corn, they will send you nothing but perfect grains, the small and scraggy grains at the end of each ear having been cut off to be classed with stock feed.

This classification and painstaking on the part of the Western farmers is having its effect on corn dealers in the South, to the prejudice and damage of the Southern farmers who generally pay no attention to such matters. One gentleman in South Carolina, a miller, who formerly bought heavy lots in this place, now draws his supplies (3,000 bushels at a purchase) from the West, where he can have his orders filled just as he desires.

We mention these facts for the benefit of farmers in this section, to most of whom it is probably news. And yet it must appear to those who bring corn to market that there is a good deal of slovenliness in the preparation of it. Bits of cobs, silks, and other trash, corn of various colors with all the rotten, scraggy, and chaffy grain at each end of the ear, allowed to go into such an extent as to render it impossible to make nice meal for table use. Bread Meal is sometimes brought here from Northern and Western mills, and the difference between it and that generally made by our millers is astonishing, and all the result of a little care on the one hand, and slovenness on the other. But the time is coming when millers will require the classification described to above, and our farmer will find their interest in a compliance.

LUNATIC ASYLUM.—Dr. M. Whitehead, Dr. Eugene Gressom, and Capt. C. B. Denor, who have been locating the branch Lunatic Asylum, have returned, having at last satisfactorily accomplished their difficult task. The site selected is on Ferrer's Hill, overlooking the beautiful Lake Louise, about three fourths of a mile from the depot at Morganton, and commanding a view of the beautiful mountain range. The position, which was selected by Dr. Whitehead, is a beautiful one, and possessed of all the natural advantages desirable. The plan selected for the buildings is an imposing one, and comprehends all the modern improvements and appliances. The frontage will be nine hundred feet, the central building four stories high, with a dome forty feet in height, and wings on either side two and three stories high. The accommodation will be for three hundred patients, besides the refractory ward, and rooms for the attendants. The buildings will be thoroughly ventilated, lighted with gas, and supplied in every part with pure fresh water, brought by pipes from the head waters of Hunting Creek four miles away, which will supply three hundred thousand gallons daily, with a pressure or head of one hundred feet. The estimated cost for the entire work of building, furnishing complete &c., is three hundred thousand dollars. This will be one of the grandest charities in the union.

Oh! enviable, early days, When dancing thoughtless pleasures mazz, To care, to guilt unknown! How I'll exchange for riper times.— Burns Despondency.

One evening not long since, a small party of friends enjoyed themselves very much talking over the good old times, when they were young, over their pleasures and amusements, and pining for those days of joy again. There were four of us in this party, all about the same age, and as it so happened all remembered the burial of the old red rooster, which occurred long years ago, when none of the party were over 6 or 7 years of age. I will tell you as nearly as possible about the funeral of the old chicken.

Of course we children had a little grave yard, it was in size about three feet by four, enclosed with shingles driven in the ground. As the old rooster was dead, mama proposed that we should bury him in our grave yard. This was the very thing we wanted, she could not have pleased us better, we immediately prepared a funeral paper and sent it to our little neighbors, it read thus:

DIED "Our Big Red Rooster died last night, we will bury him this evening at 4 o'clock, be sure and come. P. S. We will catch the other chickens and tie a black string round their legs, so they will be mourning by the time you get here, bring that old tin pan, and tell Jim to be sure and bring his big pop-gun, as we want to have a military funeral, slip your ma's black veil if you can, bring some bread and things in your pocket and we can have a little party after the funeral."

Accordingly at the appointed time, our visitors came and brought every thing they could get their hands on. They were quite amused to see all the chickens with their legs tied together sitting about the box on which the old rooster had been laid out, and began to laugh at it, but they stopped it when the dinner bell began to toll. The rooster was then placed on the little wagon and the procession headed by the biggest-boy, for the preacher, and a girl, who tolled the bell, moved slowly towards the far end of the garden where the burial grounds were located. When we arrived, the rooster was placed in the grave which left his head and tail out. The preacher then asked that a hymn should be sung after which he conducted the burial service. Then standing aside he motioned the others to do the military honors, then the pop-guns, tin pans and bones, came into full play. The bell was tolled, and we resumed our march to the house. This was all done in a most solemn manner, most of us crying. The girls leaned the boys their aprons, who wore them as masons, with big paper mouster hats for the military part.

We then spread the table for the little party on the box that we had just taken the rooster from.

Thus we spent the evening, as happy as we mortals ever are in this world of sorrow. Alas! some that joined in those scenes of mirth are gone, and ere long we who remain will follow. What is life, but a day.

CHURCH NOTES.

LAST SUNDAY'S SERMONS.

The Resurrection of the Dead.

PARENTAL DUTY.

CHRISTIAN CHARITY.

AT THE FIRST PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH, Rev. J. Doll, of Reidsville North Carolina, preached an able and effective sermon from John V. ch. 28, and 29, verses. "For the hour is coming in which all that are in the graves shall hear His voice, and shall come forth; they that have done good unto the resurrection of life, and they that have done evil unto the resurrection of damnation."

The words of the text contain a startling and important truth, one which lies at the very foundation of the Christian Religion. For if the dead rise not then is Christ not raised, and his death is vain, and all our preaching, and all our hopes of Heaven worse than vain. It is important then that we should have clear, well founded views upon this subject, and our intelligent faith in the resurrection of the dead can but have a salutary influence upon our lives. As we die, so shall we rise, and as we rise so shall we be judged, to life—or to damnation. The Day of Judgment will be a startling one to many. There the murderer shall be confronted by his victim, the seducer by her he has wronged, the oppressor shall hear the witness against him of those whom he has oppressed, and all misdoings shall then stand out against their perpetrators. Let us so live that in death and the judgment we shall have no fears but hope.

AT THE METHODIST EPISCOPAL CHURCH the Rev. Leo. W. Crawford, preached a practical but entertaining sermon, from the text. "Charity never faileth." I. Corinthians xiii. chap. part of 8 verse.

The literal meaning of the word charity is alms-giving, but the scriptures use it in no such restricted sense. It is essentially Love,—love to God and love to our fellow-men. And on these two, says our Savior, hang all the Law and the Prophets—our faith and our salvation. Charity is expressly declared to be the crowning virtue of virtues, the keystone of the triple arch, the chiefest of the three great pillars of christianity—Faith, Hope, and charity. Without it there is no salvation. St. Paul says, under the direct prompting of the Holy Spirit, "Though I have faith so that I could remove Mountains, and though I give my body to be burned, and all my goods to the poor, yet if I have not charity, I am as nothing—am become as a sounding brass &c." Mere alms-giving, mere outward service of God, will not avail. We must feel and exercise deep and abiding charity, in its broadest scriptural sense, or all our works will amount to nothing.

St. JOHN'S LUTHERAN CHURCH, was closed on account of the Pastor's absence.

At St. Luke's (EPISCOPAL) CHURCH, the Rev. F. J. Murdoch, Rector, preached from Eph. vi. 4.

"And ye fathers, provoke not your children to wrath: but bring them up in the nurture and admonition of the Lord."

The sermon was one of the very best we ever heard Mr. Murdoch deliver—and abounded in many passages of beauty and eloquence—we shall not attempt to do any thing more than briefly state his line of argument.

He contrasted the duty of a minister and a parent. Both will be held to a very grave accountability at the day of judgment.—And if either fails in his duty, the punishment will be terrible—but the punishment of the recreant parent will be even greater than that of such a minister—because more is required at his hands. The parent is required "to bring up his children in the nurture and admonition of the Lord."—And God never requires us to do what is impossible. A child should be trained as a christian from its very infancy. It should be brought to baptism shortly after its birth—and therein made "member of Christ, the child of God and inheritor of the Kingdom of Heaven." If a child is taught to realize, that it is God's own child by adoption and grace, it will prize exceedingly its privileges. The young son of the Prince of Wales would not part with his birth-right as his presumptive to the British Crown for all the wealth in the world. How much higher a Christian child values its title to the kingdom of Heaven: Parents ought to set their children holy examples—by leading pure and Godly lives. If they do their whole duty in this world, so that when they come to die they can feel the consciousness of a well spent life, their reward in the world to come will be life everlasting. And great will be that reward. "Eye hath not seen, nor ear heard, neither have entered into the heart of man, the things which God hath prepared for them that love Him.

FRANKLIN TOWNSHIP.

June 19th 1875.

A portion of public notice previously given, agreeably to the vote of said Township met at Franklin Academy at 1 o'clock P. M., and the meeting organized by appointing S. S. Trott Chairman and W. R. Frayle Secretary.

By request of the chairman, H. C. Bost explained the object of the meeting.

On motion a ballot was then had to obtain an expression of the choice of this Township of two candidates to represent Rowan county in the State Convention, which resulted in the selection of Hon. Barton Craig and John S. Henderson, Esq.

On motion, it was agreed that all voters present at this meeting, at the time of the adoption of this motion, be, and are hereby appointed delegates to represent this Township in the county Convention which meets in Salisbury on the first Saturday of July, and that they be instructed to cast the vote of this Township for the candidates above named, and to stand by them as long as there is a probability of their nomination. The delegates appointed are the following, viz, H. C. Bost, H. G. Miller, T. F. Lord, A. Shuford, W. A. Thompson, M. F. Hunt, W. G. McNeely, Jno. Fisher, W. M. Kincaid, W. A. Lantz, Wilson Trotte, John Eagle and S. S. Trott.

On motion the meeting adjourned.

W. R. Frayle, Secretary. S. S. Trott, Chairman.

Mr. Granger No 1.—In reply to "Ruinious" published in last week's issue of the Watchman—You make one great point for yourself and Ruinious to wit:—What is the amount made by direct orders for goods and who gets it? From your figures I get the following result—100 is the lowest per cent. 300 the highest you set down as saved to farmers who order, at the same time you admit that a few articles may cost them the same they would have to pay for them here—or perhaps a little more. Then according to your statement, we will put the profits a little lower than an average, so we will say for you that the profits are 175 per cent; which answers the first part of question—who gets it?—The answer is plain the farmer who orders, saves that amount. In other words, I makes that amount of percentage, on his money. What does all this imply? It makes the Granger order all their goods direct from Northern merchants—thereby doing away with home merchants and middle men! very good! virtuous making war on our Home people, "the merchants" and constituting each farmer his own merchant. As a Granger of one year in good standing and a farmer all my life, I am able to say you have placed the order in a false position before the public. As I understand our Granger Constitution there is not a single article in it that will sustain you—on the other hand it is written in as plain English as possible that the intent and purpose of the order is to wage war upon none or any branch of business, rather to build them up. Further if 175 per cent. is saved to the farmer by direct orders, then our Merchants have been making their per cent. off of us—which I know is not the case, and I am substantiate the fact—and if you, Mr. Granger No. 1, will offer the Merchants at large in this State 15 per cent. cler for their profits on money invested in goods per year, they will take it in every case and feel well paid for their work. As I understand Mr. Ruinious, he does not object to Grangers or any other organization ordering goods or such things as they may need in quantities—but he is striking at this mania the people at large have for sending the money to a foreign market instead of letting their own home people handle it and reap the profits—Can't Mr. Granger No. 1 tell us a little about the money our people have been borrowing from Northern Merchants through their agents South at 12 and 18 per cent. Let's hear from you on that point.
