THURSDAY, JUNE 19, 1879.

WASHINGTON MATTERS.—Hayes, it is said, is reticent in regard to the veto business, and will now sign the appropriation bills Congress is fixing up.—It is not known when Congress will adjourn. The two parties are very jealous of each other, and seem to be more intent on making political capital for the next campaign than in the performance of their sworn duties.—A new term has come into use recently: "boom" is the word—the "exodus boom"—the "Hayes boom"—"veto boom," &c., &c.—The signs indicate that Hayes is losing ground with all shades of his own party, the more ultra holding him in contempt for the use they have made of him, since all their efforts to put the Democrats in a false position seem likely to fail.

There is a case of seduction and murder just now exciting the people and engaging the courts in Atlanta, Georgia. A young woman, well raised, married, and after marriage was seduced, or went of her own will with another man to places of disrepute. Her husband found her, and to him she told a story of seduction, and he, finding the accused seducer, shot and killed him. The case in court has brought out witnesses who testify that the lady, before marriage had often been seen out of nights alone with young men under circumstances of a suspicious nature; and when these young men were questioned they admitted much, and refused to answer questions implicating themselves. And so, from present appearances, the case is likely to turn out against the character of the lady, which is not worth the life of the man slain, and she should herself have died with him. Young ladies who keep company with young men under circumstances admitting of doubt, are subjecting themselves to suspicion, and are disarming their friends should trouble come.

EXPLOSION.—There was a dangerous and destructive explosion occurred Saturday last at the head of the Western Railroad. A negro hand who came out of the tunnel with his light, entered the powder house, taking with him his light, rather than leave it outside, fearing some one, while he was in, might come along and carry it off. While in the house, fire dropped from his light on to some kerosene, which flashed up, of course, and in an instant the contents of the house was in a blaze. The torch bearer escaped, but another man in the shanty was not so fortunate. His clothes took fire before he could get out, and he was probably fatally burned. The room contained a quantity of nitro glycerine, four kegs of powder, and a quantity of kerosene. An explosion took place in a little while, which tore the house into fragments, but no damage to life ensued.

Since the above was written we learn that the poor fellow set on fire has died. He was drawing oil, and the man holding the light by careless handling set fire to it, and escaped. Two cars of small value were nearly destroyed, but as they were necessary to the convenient operation of the road, will have to be rebuilt soon.

The State then abandoned the case and Judge Fowle asked for the discharge of the prisoner, and characterized the attempt to criminate Mrs. Pierce as the most atrocious thing that had ever come under his notice. He also requested that Chaney Utley, Grace Burke and Anthony Burke be bound over for perjury.

The Court acceded to the requests, taxed the informer with costs of the proceedings, and fixed the bonds of the accused at $500 each.

The decision was received with applause.—Raleigh News.

This was the termination of a case brought before Justice Barbee, of Wake, wherein a Mrs. Pierce was accused by three negro servants of having given birth to twins and killed and buried them. It was shown before the Court by the family physician and others, that Mrs. Pierce had had a premature birth of twin children of four months, whose remains were exhibited to confute the slanderers.

BOAT RACING is almost unknown to people living in the interior of the country; but in the coast towns of this and other countries, it is a popular sport, and large sums of money are often staked on a race of this kind. The boats are propelled by oars. A race was recently made in England between Hanlon, a Canadian, and Elliott, a brawny Englishman, who was the recognized champion rower of the realm. But Hanlon beat him with ease, winning the stakes which amounted to a large sum, and gaining the loud applause of many thousands of people who came to witness the contest. The usual speed in such races is a mile in from 6 1/2 to 8 minutes.

The N. Y. Times condenses reports on French drinking from which we learn there has been a large increase in the quantity of wines, beer and brandy consumed in the last year as compared with former years. And the effect of it has been to show a close connection between alcohol and health, and vice, accidents, violent deaths and crime. The health of the people most given to drink has been impaired by it, vice and crime were abounding, accidents and violent deaths more frequent.

The Oxford Torchlight has told the premium stink story for this season, at least. There is nothing left for other editors in this line but to go to Beanfort on the 2nd July, discover the sea serpent and see a full rigged ship of the line with colors flying, sail down its throat.

RAPE, MURDER, AND LYNCH LAW.

Mary Woodward, a young woman of respectability but poor, was going to visit an uncle in Spartanburg Co., S. C., about two weeks ago, and stopped at the house of one J. J. Moore, to inquire the road. Mr. Moore offered to show her a near way, and persisted in going with her. That was the last ever seen of poor Mary alive. Her dead body was found in the woods several days afterwards. Her throat was cut and there was a pistol wound in the breast. The dreadful crimes of rape and murder had evidently been perpetrated. Moore was suspected of it. He was well known to be a bad man. Moore's wife told of the girl being at her house, of giving her dinner, of her husband going to show her the road, and of his return without his vest and shoes. Link by link the evidence against Moore was picked up, until finally the chain was complete. Then the pent up indignation of the community broke out, and the people collected in a great mob and went in a body to the jail to demand the prisoner. The Sheriff had heard of their coming and put the prisoner into the hands of a guard to take him out of reach. But the guard were intercepted and the prisoner taken to town and given public notice of his execution, and there he was taken and hung until he was dead.

All the parties in this dreadful affair were white people.

The Burke Blade misapprehends us if it supposes we are anxious about the candidature for Governor. We are "constitutionally" conservative and opposed to changes, and agitations for changes, when the incumbent is the choice of the people, an honest man, discharges his duty faithfully and well, whether he be a Governor, Congressman, Sheriff or Clerk. We are satisfied thus far with Gov. Jarvis; and the only consideration that would induce us to prefer another as a candidate for the next election would turn on the question of ability to sustain the supremacy of the Democratic party in the State, and this we are quite willing to submit to the decision of a duly constituted State convention.

The reference we have made to Maj. Robbins was general. We regard him as one of the most available men in the State when the work to be done is weighty and the risk great. This opinion is not limited to this Congressional District, but we believe is generally admitted throughout the State. The Blade will allow us to say this much without understanding us as nominating a candidate for Governor. We make no nomination.

Take a Good, Sober Look at It.

Just about this time, when the power and patronage of the administration is being exerted to secure the nomination of John Sherman as the Radical candidate for President, it would be well for Hayes and Sherman to hunt up that civil service order of His Fraudulency, and take a good, sober look at it. The order reads: "EXECUTIVE MANSION, WASHINGTON, June 22.—Sir: I desire to call your attention to the following paragraph in a letter addressed me by the Secretary of the Treasury on the conduct to be observed by officers of General Government in relation to the elections: 'No officer shall be required or permitted to take part in the management of political organizations, caucuses or election campaigns. Their right to vote and to express their views on public questions, either orally or through the press, is not denied, provided it does not interfere with the discharge of their official duties. No assessment for political purposes on officers or subordinates shall be allowed.' This rule is applicable to every department of the civil service. It should be understood by every officer of the General Government that he is expected to conform his conduct to its requirements."

Very respectfully,
"R. B. HAYES."

Poster's statement to the Ohio stalwarts that he had been convinced of the failure Hayes' Southern policy to accomplish its object, and that he and Hayes had practically repudiated it, is practically a confession that because it had failed to Republicanize the South, it had been abandoned. Some people had supposed that a higher and purer motive prompted Hayes' Southern policy.

The Virginia State Senate has refused to enact the bill making it felony to commit an assault with a cowhide. The bill fixed the penalty at not less than five nor more than ten years in the State Prison, together with a fine not exceeding $50. Only one Senator spoke in opposition to the measure, which was nevertheless tabled by a vote of 12 to 10.

ANOTHER INVENTION.—Mr. Ellison Walker, of Steel Creek township, this county, received by yesterday morning's mail letters patent for an improvement which he has recently made in steam engines. Mr. Walker is the inventor of the Walker leather brush for cotton gins, which he has been so generally introduced and which has acquired such widespread popularity. The exact nature of Mr. Walker's latest invention cannot be fully explained here. It is enough, at present, that he claims that his engine, which can be used for all purposes to which any other stationary engine can be applied, can be built at from 15 to 20 per cent. less cost than any other engine capable of the same work and will furnish 15 per cent. more power than any other engine using the same amount of fuel.

Mr. Walker is an ingenious and a thoroughly practical man and those who are best acquainted with his previous inventions have no doubt of the thorough utility of this.—Char. Observer.

STRANGE MURDER IN NEW YORK.

An Old Lady Found Dead in Her Bed, Bound Hand and Foot, and Her Trunk Robbed.

NEW YORK, June 11.—Mrs. Jane L. D. F. Hull, aged 58, wife of Dr. A. Grandison Hull, was found dead in her bed at 140 West Forty-second street, this morning. Her hands and feet were tied. She was blindfolded, a gag was in her mouth, and her trunk at the side of her bed was open and rifled of its contents. Mrs. Hull retired at the usual hour last evening, and no disturbance was heard during the night. This morning one of the servants went to Mrs. Hull's door to call her, but receiving no response entered and discovered her lying dead on her back in the bed in a semi-rigid condition, one foot bound to either rail of the bed, her hands bound across her breast and tied at the elbows. A piece of sheeting was strapped around her neck and across her mouth, and it was evident that her death resulted from strangulation. On the body were found several contusion and slight wounds received in the scuffle with the assassins. The murderers cut two rings from her fingers, one containing a large diamond and the other a costly emerald. No clue to the perpetrators of the murder could be obtained.

New York, June 12.—No arrests have yet been made in the Forty-second street murder case, there being no evidence against any one. Full and concise statements from every member of the household will be taken as to knowledge of the existing feeling between themselves and Mrs. Hull. It is thought the murder and robbery was an "inside job."

Wants a Southern Orator.

What a Clergyman thinks of Our Proposition.

Springfield (Mass.) Republican.

I have liked your recent utterances on Southern matters. I feel just as certain that the great body of the Southern people are loyal to our government, and have no thought of rebellion, as I do that I am acquainted with my neighbors. I believe, too, that they are disposed to treat the colored people fairly. When the blacks are abused I am glad there is an exodus till the whites, who need them, learn to protect them. I believe General Armstrong's recent letter is the exact truth, and I am glad he has written it. I believe revival of sectional hate which the politicians seem to have instigated is a madness, pestilent and wicked.

I like your suggestions of a Southern man for orator for the 4th of July. I should like to hear Gov. Vance. I once heard him give a lecture on the Mountains of North Carolina, among which he was born, and I have ever remembered it as one of the pleasantest hours of my life. I have heard him on other themes. He is a very brilliant man. I believe as Governor of North Carolina he has sought the good of all the people. He is the idol of his native State, and the invitation to him or some such man to come to Springfield would, I believe, in the present state of affairs, do good.

HENRY B. BLAKE.
West Springfield, June 6, 1879.

A correspondent of the Raleigh News, writing of the late U. S. Court which met in Charlotte, says:

BILLS OF INFORMATION, NO INDICTMENTS.

In conversing with quite a prominent lawyer from the central section of the State we were amazed to learn what a star chamber existed in our midst, and to what extent the liberty of its citizens were subjected to by the caprice or malice of one of these district attorneys, or investigated by others. Under the present law it seems that any one can be arrested upon a written complaint, or bill of information, as it is styled, tried before a judge without jury and sentenced to Albany prison with no redress save habeas corpus, when two to one, the new Jeffries to whom you apply will hold the same opinion as the sentencing judge.

CONGRESSMAN ARMFIELD

has, we learn, introduced a bill in the House to repeal this iniquitous statute, and in the name of liberty every freeman should wish for its early passage. Among the incidents of the court was one of these information bills (rather infernal) binding a poor farmer, from Union county, over in a $500 bond for selling one plug of tobacco. He was a witness against a counterfeiter who informed the State that he was arrested. The first time I ever saw him was after the battle of Chickamauga, when I was ordered by telegraph to report in person to him. I went up and called upon him, and James M. Ashley, who is living, heard the conversation.

Mr. Lincoln took me by the hand, greeting me very warmly, and told me he was glad to see me. Still holding me by the hand he said to Mr. Ashley: "Brother Ashley, what would have become of me in this war had it not been for the fighting Democrats from the North and West?" [Prolonged applause.]

With a shrug of the shoulders, Mr. Ashley said:

"Mr. Lincoln, I don't know."

Mr. Lincoln replied: "I believe our rebel friends would have their flag floating at the Capital, sir." [Applause.]

He said: "The truth is, Brother Ashley, that our party is made up, to some extent, of the religious and sympathetic, and they don't make first-class soldiers." [Laughter and applause.]

Davidson College is to be commended for its refusal, at the recent commencement, to distribute around the customary degrees. This has become a stench in the nostrils of the people. Not that it is not well enough of itself, but its abuse has brought it into contempt.—Charlotte Observer.

The Cincinnati Enquirer says the Ohio Democratic platform was written by Mr. Thurman himself, and adopted by the convention without changing a word of it.

A CHILD GORED BY AN OX AND SUBSEQUENTLY RUN OVER AND KILLED.

Information was received here to-day of a horrible occurrence a few days ago, in Henrico county, resulting in the death of a little boy five years old, grandson of Rev. B. L. Spiller, of the Methodist Church. The child's father was engaged in hauling manure from the barn yard to the field with an ox team, and while he was in the rear of the wagon loading, the child went in front of the beast, having in his hand a large red handkerchief. The ox, seeing this became excited and maddened, and dashed at the little fellow and gored him. The father ran around to the front to rescue his child from the infuriated animal, but before he reached him the ox broke and ran, trampling the child under its feet, and turning suddenly in another direction, brought the child directly under the track of the cart wheels, which passed over him and crushed him to death.—Richmond State.
