all may yet go well with the President.

The Result of the election on Thursday last has prob ably surprised none more than the antiprohibitionists themselves. They as confi dentiy anticipated a victory as the prohi bitionists a defeat; but neither party expected so large a vote to be polled, or so great a difference in the footing up of the

The result has demonstrated several im portant facts: It has shown that while the people are in favor of subjecting the traffic in spirituous liquors to rigid restrictions, and total exclusion from the vicinage of churches, schools, factories, &c., they are not prepared for the great change proposed by the prohibition law.

It has shown the strong adherence to incient usages of the State. Voters cannot perceive or will not admit that the institution established and perpetuated by their fathers for years is the dangerous evil it is declared to be. No doubt many who are given to drink were actuated less by considerations of this kind than by an unwillingness to embarras their free indulgence. It has shown that the colored voters are more nearly unanimous in opposition to prohibition than the white, for while the latter divided the former went together

Assuming that the traffic in and use spirituous liquors as a beverage is anti Christian, and a hindrance to the best interests of society, the result shows that its influence on the popular mind is stronger than all the churches of all denominations, than all the schools and colleges and other institutions designed for the promotion of intelligence and morality, combined.

It has shown that it is easier to incite men to resistance against restrictions than to induce them to self-denial for their own or for the public good.

It is not to be supposed that the defeat of prohibition is all disaster to the cause, for best they can; but the newspapers are only it is not. The discussions which were elicited during the canvass were as the scattering of good seeds which will yet Two lawyers in Philadelphia have been spring up and bear fruit. the aims of the party, talk of adopting no grand misconception as to the merits of the cause, but purely from conscientious convictions of duty. They believe that the use of and traffic in spirituous liquors as a beverage is detrimental to the political, secial, financial and moral welfare of the people, and that it should be prohibited; and could not, as good citizens, fail to say so at the ballot box when called on to speak. The anti-prohibitionists themselves admit the leading truths contended for as the ground of their action, but reach a different conclusion as to the remedy for the evil. They opposed prohibition, but demanded rigid restrictions on the traffic-a difference of opinion, as honestly entertained, no doubt, as that held by the more diction.

> We dismiss the subject with the conviction that good will come of the late canvass, but it may be in a way not now seen Infinite wisdom directs the affairs of men; and though shrouded in clouds and darkness for a time, the light comes at last to cheer and to bless all, the erring as well as those more nearly right.

Road Machine.

The highway committee has purchased for the use of the city, a road machine The machine is manufactured by S. Pennock & Sons, of Kennett Square Pa. It is in the shape of a heavy wagon. Obliquely between the hind wheels hangs steel scraper 8 feet in length and very strong and powerful. The scraper is raised and lowered at will by two levers, a roud in first-class shape. It weighs about 1,400 lbs., and four horses are required to work it. The machine has been pretty thoroughly tested in Rome, and all who have seen it work are very much pleased with it. Last Friday two teams and three men turnpiked about 60 rods of the muck road, just north of the Central Railroad track, in about two hours. The road was very hard and tough, and it was necessary to go over it with a plow several times before putting the machine It is estimated that the machine and three men did as much work in two hours tifully illustrative. as a dozen men could do in two weeks. The machine has also been tried on the cemetery road, and works well. It is claimed that it will work better in a gravelly soil than in muck. It is a great labor-saver and can no doubt be made very useful about the city. Syracuse has two of them, and Watertown one. They cost $150 each .- Rome (N. Y.) Sentinel.

We copy the above for the benefit of our town and town council. The machine described is similar to a common "road scraper," but exceeds it in cost. There is no doubt some labor-saving implement could be constructed to do the turnpike work usually performed here and elsewhere by men with picks and shovels. But the machine described above at $150 is cheap, if it will do more work in two hours than a dozen men could do in two weeks. A dozen men for two weeks, each at 60 cents a day, will cost $86.40. Picks, shovels and overseer, will run it up to $100. The machine and three hands to work it, together with two four-horse teams, could be operated a whole day at a cost of $15.00; and if they did in that time as much work as the dozen men in two weeks, there would be a clear saving of about $85. This is worth considering, if economy is entitled to enter into competition with the present system. We think it is: tax payers generally are apt to think so. A committee to investigate and thoroughly study the subject could do no harm, but might be the means of a large annual saving to the town.

Corn has now passed the time for much improvement. It will not do. herefore, to depend on August rains to bring it out. Stock feed may yet be raised before the advent of frosts, and Turnips is one of the crops that may be relied on for this purpose. Corn sowed in drills would make fodder. Millet grows quickly and would give at least one cutting before frost. Buckwheat is also a rapid grower and would probably mature even after the 15th of August. Whatever is attempted to relieve the situation must be done promptly after the first rain that puts the ground in good order for plowing; for there are now only eight weeks before wormay ex-

Small Pox in Mitchell County.

The Marion Lump Post says, considerable excitement prevai a in Mitchell county over the sudden and hitherto unknown appearance of small pox in their midst. Mr. Thomas Buchanan who with his brother went west last fall, came home week before last, after having waited on his brother, who had died from small pox in Carrington, Ohio, after an illness of four days. Tom Buchanan came home feeling perfectly well, but in a few days was taken with small pox and died on Thursday last. The commissioners of the county met promptly, and wisely took steps to prevent the spread of the disease. The patient was removed to himself and all communication cut off. Guards were placed on all the roads leading from Tennessee, and from which direction no one was allowed to come in to Bakersville. The patient is reported to have suffered greatly from thirst, no one being allowed to administer to his wants but the guard, who did not know whether to allow plenty of water or not. Since the death of Buchanan, the excitement has somewhat abated, as it is thought there will be no more new cases. All parties in that section of the county are under strict quar. autine and every precaution taken to prevent the possibility of new cases.
