Whither are we drifting.

Within the last month three murders have been committed in this State by boys under the age of 15. Our opinion is that parents will have to answer to a great extent for the untimely death of their children and also for the act of the murderer. We are sorry that such is the case, but it is the truth nevertheless that boys of 12 and 15 are allowed their own way, their own boss, and allowed to roam on the streets of towns at hours of night when grown men should be at home with their parents and families. It is a serious question and if parents are not more careful with their children we may expect more murders of that age in the future than in the past. We copy the following that parents who allow their children on the streets in all kind of company may read and digest:

Sanford Express, 2d: A murder was committed here to-night about 9 o'clock and the town is in a state of excitement. The parties to the bloody tragedy were Edgar, 13-year-old son of Archie Hart, and Theodore, 12-year-old son of William McIver, colored. While engaged in a fight just in front of Watson's store, the white boy was stabbed to death by the negro. The knife used in doing the bloody work was handed the negro by another small negro boy. When the Express reporter arrived on the scene of the tragedy he found the young murderer in Watson's store asleep in charge of a squad of armed men and his victim lying on the piazza cold in death. Upon examining the murdered boy he found that he had been stabbed in three different places. First, just above the left eye, on the left arm and about two inches above the heart. After being stabbed the boy made a few steps, fell and expired almost instantly. A physician was hastily summoned, but to no avail. It seems that the wounds were made by a small bladed knife and in making the one just above the heart the blade was sent straight in. The blood flowed profusely and saturated the victim's clothes. Some blood was found on the murderer. He is remarkably clever in handling the knife, and has the appearance of a vicious, bad negro. He and his accomplice will be given a preliminary hearing to-morrow (Friday.) It is certainly an unfortunate and deplorable affair, and much sympathy is expressed for the mother of the murdered boy, who is lying on a bed of sickness.

From all the utterances of Senator Jarvis of late self interest crops out too plain and will do his candidacy harm. We have been kindly disposed towards Senator Jarvis but when he or any other man comes to the conclusion that the Democratic party is dependent on him and that the main issue in the state is whether "I" or the other fellow must be elected to save the party we for one are in favor of dropping him. If Senator Jarvis will take the advice of one who wants to be his friend he will place himself "in the hands of his friends" and write no more letters, but watch the States interests at Washington.

With all due respect to any one who may be an aspirant for legislative honors we think Walter Murphy to be a suitable man for the place. He is a good speaker, well posted and is such a man as the Democrat party will need on the stump in county canvass this fall and if given the Democratic nomination he will make a record in the legislature that old Rowan may have reason to be proud of.

The remarks of the senator from South Carolina to the governor of South Carolina as the oft-referred-to remarks of the governor of North Carolina to the governor of South Carolina. Neither are they so polite.

Raleigh Press. Bob Harris, colored who lives just south of the Raleigh cotton mill, has a mile 34 years old. The male was born on the plantation of Mr. Henry Medsker, before the war. After the war he was such a runt the Yankees refused to have him and "Bob" bought him. The male is doing good work yet.

Judge Connor Declines.
Hon. Henry G. Connor writes from Wilson under date of the 2d to the Raleigh News as follows:
"I ask here to say to the public, through your columns, that the action of the convention of the Populists, on yesterday, in presenting my name for justice of the Supreme Court, was without my consent. Those who know me well would not need this assurance. Being, and always having been, a Democrat, I cannot give my consent to the use of my name in opposition to a nominee of my party."
"While, of course, I appreciate the confidence and good will implied in the action of those who have thus honored me, I am not a candidate for office, even at the hands of my party, having, for personal reasons, but recently laid down an office which was in many respects congenial to my taste."
"H. G. CONNOR.

Mr. Henderson Re-Nominated.
Charlotte Observer.
The people of the State will receive with satisfaction the news of the re-nomination of Hon. John S. Henderson for Congress from the seventh district by the Democratic convention at Salisbury last week. At the end of the term for which he has just been nominated, Mr. Henderson will have served twelve successive years in the House. He has made his people a splendid representative and they show their sense by holding on to him. A learned lawyer and a man of sterling ability, he is, moreover, a tireless worker and there was never a more single-hearted or conscientious servant of the people. He is, as he deserves to be, a man of influence in Washington, and his standing in the House is evidenced by the fact that at the beginning of his fourth term he was placed at the head of one of the most important committees of the body—that on the postoffice and post roads—a chairmanship which he still holds and the duties of which he has discharged with ability and acceptability. Not only the seventh district but the State is fortunate in him. It is not every people which is represented in Congress by a man of such peculiar qualifications for his duties, and not every Congressman who has constituents as appreciative as his of labors in their behalf. We congratulate not him so much as the convention which met at Salisbury last week and the district for which it acted. It did a good day's work and one which will be handsomely ratified in November.

Never Spoke but Married.
Charlotte News.
It not often that young folks fall in love with each other and never tell about it. It is not often either that getting married is robbed of the sublime pleasures of courtship, and should never be. But Providence township furnishes a case out of the usual order.

Mr. Duncan Gordon, a young white man, lived in that township, and did all he could to prosper and be happy. The only social drawback he had was an extreme bashfulness which he seemed powerless to overcome. But in going about in the neighborhood, he saw Miss Bettie Cooper, an attractive but bashful young lady. Duncan fell in love. He fell in deep, too. He told his heartaches to an old negro woman who communicated them to Bettie, and reported her answer to Duncan. Thus the thing went along. Finally the old colored woman planned a runaway for the couple. They met in the night and skipped to South Carolina by the light of the moon. A squire at Culp's postoffice married them, and they returned home. They were both so scared that they did not speak on their way to or from Culp, but after their return home they made up. They are getting along nicely now. They can both talk, and always could, but owing to their bashfulness never spoke to each other prior to their marriage ceremony.

The Why and Wherefore
There is nothing marvelous in the fact that Hood's Sarsaparilla should cure so many diseases. When you remember that a majority of the disorders "flesh is held to" are due to impure or poisonous condition of the blood, and that Hood's Sarsaparilla is an effective radical blood purifier, the whole thing is explained.
Besides its blood purifying qualities, Hood's Sarsaparilla, also contains the best known vegetable stomach tonics, diuretics, kidney remedies, and liver invigorants and is thus an excellent specific for all disorders of these organs, as well as for low condition of the system or That Tired Feeling.

THE "NEW SOUTH."
Baltimore Sun.

HEARTFORD, Conn.—A feature of the commencement exercises at Trinity College today was the graduating address of Shirley Carter, a son of Mr. Bernard Carter, of Baltimore. Carter had prepared his address and submitted it to the faculty for their approval. There was nothing in the address to offend any one, although it was some what bold to deliver it before a New England audience. The committee which was to pass upon it was in some doubt of its propriety, for, as one of them expressed it, he had no notion of having secession made to appear constitutional. However, the decision was favorable and the address was delivered today. To the surprise of some Southerners who were present it was received with manifest favor by the New England audience and the applause was enthusiastic. Among those present was Mr. Henry Onderdonk, head master of the College of St. James, Washington county, Md., where young Carter went to school for a number of years before going to Trinity. Mr. Onderdonk was evidently much gratified at the success of a young man in whom he had taken a deep interest.

The subject of Mr. Carter's address was "The New South." He claimed the privilege of setting forth in their true light facts relating to the South, which facts for the last quarter of a century have been obscured by misrepresentation of sectional antagonism. At the same time he did not like the sound of the phrase "New South" unless understood in the same way in which we speak of the new moon, meaning thereby that it has passed through a period of darkness and gloom, and in coming out not a new in the sense of changed, but the same old South that gave Washington to immortality and Jefferson to humanity. That in those troublous times preceding and during the revolution it was that those "Dead but sceptered sovereigns, who still rule our actions from their tombs," arose in the South, viz: Randolph, Henry, Lee, Madison, Gadsden and Rutledge. The young speaker then went on to recount the deeds of the statesmen and soldiers of the Southern States.

To the constitution, he contended the South has ever been loyal. The South felt that liberty and independence depended for perpetuity upon constitutional limitations. It is the nature of power to grow with what it feeds upon. Power unregulated overthrows constitutional law, and when that perishes political corruption is supreme and peace and prosperity vanishes.

By the cession of the northwest territory and the compromise measures from 1820 to 1850, by her submission to a protective tariff for the benefit of a part and not for the welfare of all, the South placed the balance of power in the hands of her political opponents. Her voice once so powerful in the councils of the republic, had become less audible than a whisper; peace and the Union as it was made and for which she had made the sacrifices that showed themselves on every battlefield from Boston to New Orleans, were to be overthrown by the policy of those who held the power—then, and not till then, did she strive to withdraw from a union no longer one of the heart.

After picturing the ruin worked by the war, Mr. Carter said: "In thirty years, with untold labor, in her poverty she has borne her share of the debt contracted to subdue her. Receiving no pensions, with no share in government contracts, with no profits from the tariff, without a murmur she has re-established civil order, rebuilt her towns, re-stocked her farms, turned her stables into school houses, her barns into churches, has educated her children, white and colored, and her railroads are carrying the products of her soil to all markets."

Wilmington Messenger: We regret to announce the death of Professor Edward Graham Daves, of Baltimore, who died at Boston on Wednesday after a brief illness. Professor Daves was in the 62d year of his age and was the second son and third child of the late Hon. John Pugh Daves, of Newbern. He is well remembered in Wilmington, and lectured here some months ago in the interest of the memorial fund for the purchase of Roanoke Island with a view to the preservation of old Fort Raleigh.

"Canst thou minister to a mind diseased?" asks Macbeth. Certainly my lord; if the condition of the mind depends largely, if not solely, on the condition of the stomach, liver, and bowels, for it of which complaints Ayer's Pills are "the sovereigns" of the body.

There will probably be a large attendance of Southern business men and others interested in Southern industrial department, at the meeting which has been called to convene in Washington on Thursday and Friday, the last two days of the present month. The Star says: The call for this meeting came from "all sections of the South, and the general sentiment was that the gathering should take place in Washington as, besides other reasons, several matters of importance to Washington and the District will be brought up for consideration. Over a thousand invitations have been sent to leading business men, boards of trade and other commercial bodies, and there is very good reason to expect that a full representative gathering will be in attendance.
Among the subjects which will be brought up for discussion will be a government building in Washington for the permanent exhibit of the resources of the United States as proposed in the bill introduced by Senator Walsh. The relations of railroad transportation to the development of the South will be considered by prominent officials. Leading scientists and experts will outline their views on the present status of the mineral resources of this section. Various other topics of an equally interesting character will be talked about, and the objects aimed at being to secure short, condensed and carefully prepared papers on these subjects from a business standpoint, which may serve as a basis of discussion by the convention. Short speeches will be insisted upon, and no political discussion will be allowed. Arrangements have been made with the railroad companies by which tickets on all railroads will be sold at one half of the round trip from August 23 to 28, good to return from Washington until September 6.

A Weekly Weather Crop Bulletin
The reports of "Weekly Weather Crop Bulletin," issued by the North Carolina State Weather Service, for the week ending Monday August 6, 1894, are favorable with some exceptions. There has been altogether too much rain in the southern portions of the Eastern and Central Districts, especially in parts of Johnston, Ason, Richmond, Wake, Montgomery and Cumberland counties. In consequence, lowlands are flooded and crops damaged. Cotton is growing to weed. The same conditions prevail to a much less extent in a few of the western counties. Over all the rest of the State the weather conditions have been very favorable. The temperature has been above normal until Sunday, and enough rain has fallen everywhere. Except at the few places above mentioned the outlook continues very bright.

WESTERN DISTRICT.—Reports from this district also continue to be very favorable. The rains of Saturday evening and Sunday were general and there are no longer any places suffering for lack of rain. Five correspondents report too much rain, namely in Macon, Watauga, McDowell and Madison counties. Some of the lowest bottom land crops reported damaged by overflowing streams in parts of Mecklenburg and Cabarrus counties. All crops continue to make splendid progress. Not much land has been turned for wheat yet. Sowing turkeys going on. Rains reported do not include rain of Saturday evening and Sunday: Bryson City, 0.47 inch; Maiden, 1.25; Concord, 0.80; Charlotte, 0.35; Soapstone Mount, 0.53; Rutherford College, 0.75; Mocksville, 0.02; Salisbury, 0.70; Saluda, 0.25; Catawba, 1.12; China Grove, 1.00; Dellwood, 0.60.

Democratic County Convention.
There will be held in the court house in Salisbury, N. C., on Saturday September 1st, 1894, at 12 o'clock, M., a convention of the Democrats of Rowan county, for the purpose of nominating two candidates for the House of Representatives a Clerk of the Superior Court, Sheriff, Register of Deeds, County Treasurer, Surveyor, Coroner and Cotton Weigher, and for the transaction of such other business as may come before it.
The Democrats of the various townships will hold primaries at their usual place of meeting, on Saturday, August 25th, 1894, at 2 o'clock, p. m. to select delegates to the county convention, to nominate a candidate for township constable and to select a township executive committee consisting of five active Democrats.

Georgia for Silver.
Georgia is for silver. The State Convention met on 2nd at Atlanta. The Committee on platform was composed of the extreme men on both sides. A dispatch to the Washington Post says:
"They certainly had a fight. The Administration people contended for straight out indorsement of the President financial policy, while the anti-contended that such an act would lose the State to the Populists, and on their side contended strongly for a free silver plank."
The result was the adoption of a silver plank that demanded the immediate passage of such legislation as will restore silver to its constitutional position as a money metal and will secure at once the free and unlimited coinage of gold and silver on a parity and give to every dollar in circulation, whether coin or paper, the same debt-paying and purchasing power. The President was eulogized in a resolution for his "courage, wisdom, honesty and patriotism," but a strong effort was made to indorse him unqualifiedly. It came too late. The compromise work had been completed.
We hope the Democrats who will meet at Raleigh on 8th inst., will go there in a true Democratic spirit. The Georgia Democrats re-affirmed the Chicago platform. The North Carolina Democrats cannot afford to do less. They cannot afford to indorse anything that antagonizes that law of the party.—Wilmington Messenger.

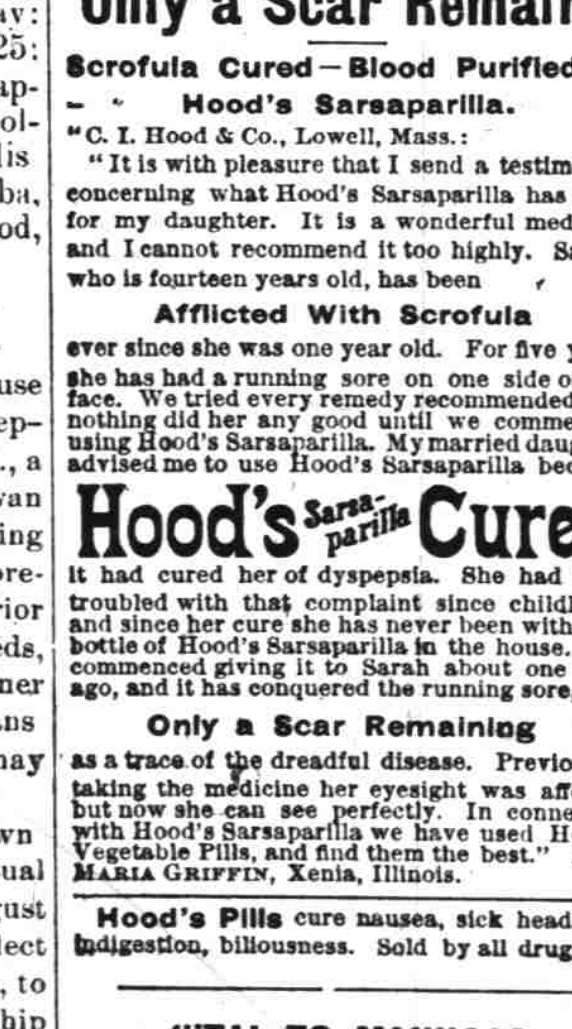

Charlotte News: Attorney General Frank L. Osborne is making fine progress in his race for the United States Senate. It may be put down as a fact that he will be solidly endorsed by this, the Eleventh Judicial district, and that will be a very solid foundation to build upon. The district is composed of Union, Mecklenburg, Gaston, Lincoln, Cleveland, Rutherford, Polk, Stanly and Henderson counties.
With but little care and no trouble, the beard and mustache can be kept a uniform brown or black color by using Buckingham's Dye for the Whiskers.
Railway Commission has assessed the North Carolina railway at $1,802,867, this being the same as last year. This is on the capital stock and its property. The roadbed is exempt from taxation as yet. The commission has placed in the hands of the State Treasurer and Auditor its assessment of all the railway, steamboat and telegraph property in the State, the total being $24,565,611.58.
Nervous debility is a common complaint, especially among women. The best medical treatment for this disorder is a persistent course of Ayer's Sarsaparilla to cleanse and invigorate the blood. This being accomplished, nature will do the rest.
A telegram received Monday by Solicitor Eug. D. Carter announced the death at Syracuse, N. Y., of Thos. D. Carter, father of Solicitor Carter and Justice Frank Carter of this city. His death occurred last night. Mr. Carter was in his 61st year.—A-Heville Citizen.

FOR COTTON WEIGHER.
I hereby announce myself as a candidate for Cotton Weigher subject to the Democratic nominating convention.

Scrofula Cured—Blood Purified by Hood's Sarsaparilla.
"C. I. Hood & Co., Lowell, Mass.: "It is with pleasure that I send a testimonial concerning what Hood's Sarsaparilla has done for my daughter. It is a wonderful medicine and I cannot recommend it too highly. Sarah, who is fourteen years old, has been afflicted with Scrofula ever since she was one year old. For five years she has had a running sore on one side of her face. We tried every remedy recommended, but nothing did her any good until we commenced using Hood's Sarsaparilla. My married daughter advised me to use Hood's Sarsaparilla because it had cured her of dyspepsia. She had been troubled with that complaint since childhood, and since her cure she has never been without a bottle of Hood's Sarsaparilla in the house. We commenced giving it to Sarah about one year ago, and it has conquered the running sore, as a trace of the dreadful disease. Previous to taking the medicine her eyesight was affected by the disease, but now she sees perfectly. In connection with Hood's Sarsaparilla we have used Hood's Vegetable Pills and find them the best." Mrs. MARIA GRIFFIN, Xenia, Illinois.

Cotton Seed Meal and Hulls!

WHAT IS IT?
IT IS THE CHEAPEST AND BEST FEED KNOWN FOR CATTLE AND SHEEP.
Cotton Seed Meal is a highly concentrated feed, one pound of which has more feeding value than three pounds of corn meal, and it will be found more economical to use than any of the various grain feeds.
COTTON SEED HULLS take the place of hay or any other kind of long or rough feed, and has been proven by analysis, and the practical tests of thousands of feeders, to be worth as much (pound for pound) as any of the forage feeds in general use, and as the cost of HULLS is less than hay, and can be fed without waste, it is far more economical to use than any feed now in use and feed in connection with Cotton Seed Meal this feed cannot be equalled when costs and benefits are considered.
