Progressive Cities Have Wells

A Native of Salisbury Passes Up Some Valuable Information on Water Supply.

In making a reply to an attempt to dismiss a very important subject by a wave of the hand, a native and tax-payer of Salisbury, makes the following reply:

Salisbury, N. C.,
July 30, 1915.

In reply to the article in your paper of July 29th, headed "Wells out of consideration," you say wells have been abandoned in other cities and towns in this State, and don't say where or why. You say we must base our action on the experience of others, and on the findings of trained scientists and the opinion of the wise men, and the experience of other cities and towns. That is exactly what the writer is doing, but has our scientific and wise men given the voters of Salisbury any data on wells, creeks, rivers and so on to enable them to vote intelligently for his choice of water or how it should be had, or are we expected to vote for the present plans just because through some scientific scum, it is said to be the very thing?

It is not true that people in Salisbury who are able are sinking wells? And doesn't at least one of our doctors have a well on his property? And, if the sanatorium is supplied by well water isn't that proof from a scientific standpoint that well water is better than our present creek system? And can they show that the proposed plan will furnish any better quality of water than the present stream, or that its quality will improve or get worse?

The city of Monroe, N. C., may not possess any wise or scientific men trained especially in the water art, but it has the best drinking water in the State, from artesian wells sunk through the most difficult form of rock with sloping seams. It seems strange that they didn't get their water from Richardson's creek which flows through an undisturbed section and is only two miles away.

The writer is not a scientific expert on water, and is not seeking anything out of this but good water, but I do claim to be some wise in some things. I am in favor of schools, but if the votes for water and schools are not taken separately I shall vote against both. If well water can't be had what about a gravity system, a plain water main from the reservoir at pumping station up to or near the head of the creek, with supply pipe running from main to springs, I claim by so doing the supply will be increased to a very large extent owing to the fact that it would prevent seepage into the ground, and also evaporation by the heat in July and August and give us nearly as much water as we get through the winter months and in my opinion better water than can be obtained from the river at a far less cost. Are there no wise scientific men in the city of Hamlet, N. C., who are especially trained in water art? They have a gravity system installed on a creek rising near Hoffman and flows directly through the town, why did they go up the creek which flows through the town and capture the water and let it flow into their reservoir which is in the city by gravity instead of installing a pumping plant at the same creek right in town?

What is wrong with the people of the city of Rockingham, N. C.? They have a big creek flowing right through the city with touring boats in it for rent, run some of the great factories by water power, and purchase their water from Hamlet, N. C., which flows from the Hamlet reservoir to the Rockingham reservoir by gravity, and Hamlet would no doubt be glad to furnish water to other points in Eastern North Carolina as far down as Wilmington, and some points in South Carolina in the same manner.

In the city of Asheville, N. C., they have the beautiful French Broad River touching the city, they have the gravity system leading from the mountains, and they allow no trespassing on the water shed, there is plenty of water in the French Broad and it seems strange that they would run a pipe line away out to the side of the mountain to get water, it is presumed though it was done to get a great pressure with a small expense, rather than the quality of the water.

Are there no scientific men in New York city who are especially trained in the water art? Why did they tunnel under the river and go to the Appalachian Range of mountains for their water, and capture it at the head of the streams? That is a gravity system, and why is trespassing on that water shed prohibited? It is one of the best and most expensive plants in the world. Are there no scientific men who are wise and especially trained in the water art in San Francisco? They have a gravity system, costing millions and they tunneled through mountains of the Rocky mountain range a great distance from the city, built trestles across valleys to carry the water from one mountain to the other in order to capture the water at the head of the streams and deliver it to the city by gravity. Why did they fool all that money away? And why is the water shed guarded and no trespassing allowed? It is because those who are skilled in the art have found that any kind of river water will not do, and if it was possible to filter bad water and make it pure, the money which was spent in these great cities for gravity systems would have been spent for filtering plants. Now as you say, we must base our action on the experience of others, and on the findings of trained scientists, and the opinion of the wise men, and the experience of other cities on water, and if the brains and actions of the above named cities cannot be relied on, then I say rely on our home grown brains and vote for river water. ## Junior Order to Meet in Charlotte

Congressman Burnett on the Program for an Address.

Much interest centers in the meeting of the State Council, Junior Order, United American Mechanics, that is to be held in Charlotte August 17, 18 and 19. The Selwyn will be headquarters and the business meetings will be in the Selwyn Assembly Hall. It is expected that there will be at least 500 delegates present from the various lodges throughout the state and that accompanying these delegates will be an equal number of visitors, making 1,000 in all.

Paul Jones of Tarboro is State Councilor and will have charge of the meeting. There are more than 85,000 Juniors in the State with 400 in Charlotte. There are three local councils, namely Dilworth, No. 12; Park No. 90, and Empire, No. 425. In addition, there are several in the county, including those at Mint Hill, Paw Creek and Cornelius. It is expected that all of these councils will have adequate representation at the Charlotte meeting.

It is stated that Charlotte has fewer Juniors than any other point in the State, considering the size of the city. High Point and a number of cities much smaller in population have larger Junior Order representation. A strong effort will be put forth in the future to increase the representation here. This is one of the objects of the coming of the State Council to Charlotte, to stimulate interest locally.

An attractive program has been arranged for this meeting. The local committee in charge of the arrangements consists of Messrs. Charles F. Alexander, chairman; W. T. Harris, treasurer, and Messrs. C. I. Webb, L. J. Haater, J. C. Newell, N. M. Jones, J. L. Wilkerson, J. Lawrence Jones and representatives from the several county Junior Order councils.

Of interest in this connection also is the fact that C. F. Alexander is a candidate for the office of State vice councilor, the second highest office in the State.

A tentative program has been arranged as follows:
TUESDAY, AUGUST 17.
State Council will assemble. Parade will be formed for a march through the streets in the afternoon after which the council and invited friends will gather at the auditorium where the several addresses of welcome and the responses will be delivered.
Address of welcome on behalf of the city by Mayor T. L. Kirkpatrick.
Response by National Councilor C. B. Webb of Statesville.
Address of welcome on behalf of the local Junior Order Councils, by J. F. Newell.
Response by Rev. W. B. Dutera of Salisbury.
Adjournment.
WEDNESDAY, AUGUST 18.
9 a. m. Business session at Selwyn Assembly Hall for the transaction of routine work.
5 p. m. Street car ride to Lakewood Park where a watermelon feast will be in waiting for the visitors. Following the feast, there will be an address at the Lakewood pavilion by Congressman Burnett of Alabama, author of the Burnett immigration bill which is said to be very near to the hearts of Juniors generally. This is an open meeting to which the public is cordially invited.
An invitation has been extended to Governor Craig to be present at this time and deliver an address.
THURSDAY, AUGUST 19.
9 a. m. Selwyn assembly hall. Routine business both morning and afternoon with election of officers, appointment of committees, hearing of reports not previously submitted, etc.
Adjournment.
Mayor Kirkpatrick has appointed the following committee in raising funds with which to entertain the convention: Messrs. C. O. Kneaster, chairman; W. S. Dorr, W. O. Davis, R. E. Scoggin, E. M. Forbis, W. H. Hall and J. E. Honeycutt.

Henry Shoe Dead, Men in Jail

Arch Helms and two Sons Charged With The Crime.

Albemarle, July 30.—Henry Shoe, who was shot from ambush early Wednesday morning near Big Lick died last night as a result of his wounds. Arch Helms, who lives near the scene of the trouble, and two other sons, Ohio and Luther, were arrested yesterday as suspected offenders and brought to Albemarle jail. It has been learned that the statement of Shoe, just before his death was one tending to implicate the Helms boys. He stated that they were the first to reach him after he was shot, and that both of them had pistols. It is stated that Arch Helms, their father, was the next to reach the wounded man. Dan Hinson, who was plowing nearby, says that when he got to Shoe immediately after the shooting the two Helms boys and their father were there. Search was made around the scene of the tragedy and two shells both empty, were found on the place where the man had crouched by an old stump, from which he shot. ## Papal Hatred and American Liberty

Liberty is a Religion—Read Provided We Keep it Free of Obstructions.

Some persons have said that the greatest thing in the world is life. It is also true that life without liberty may become an intolerable burden.

The Pilgrim Fathers landed on the Atlantic coast in search of liberty: blood was shed, hardships endured and lives given to secure liberty. Men and women have written, spoken and labored in defense of liberty.

More persons have been martyred in the cause of freedom than in any other cause, and it is a notorious fact that the Roman Catholic church has taken by far the heaviest toll. She has written the record of her hatred of liberty in the blood of men, women and children for centuries; and that hatred still exists.

Rome is just as arrogant in her assaults upon human liberty as she was in the days of the Inquisition, but not so frequently active in the use of physic torture, though her strong arm occasionally strikes down with deadly violence and adds a new name to the list of martyrs.

The murder of Wm. Black can be recognized as nothing but the spirit of the inquisition in action. Rome has not changed. She may be subdued, but the fire of her fury burns in latent patience, waiting for new opportunities and new victims.

But murderous attacks upon human beings are not all of Rome's campaign against liberty. Her minions, her hirelings, her dupes, are patrolling every path of human endeavor with the avowed determination to make American Catholics make life worth while.

Can we doubt that Rome uses the boycott with all the ingenuity and concerted effort that the command when but recently the Catholic press felt called upon to apologize for having "discriminated" against certain large business concerns merely because they were "suspected of being unfriendly?"

The Roman Catholic boycott is in effective operation all the time, somewhere and in some manner. It may not always be visible; it may not always be active in any one locality, but it is recognized and used whenever occasion arises and conditions demand that an obstacle be removed from the papal path to power.

Liberty must be destroyed if Rome is to rule, for there is no freedom in the blind obedience which the pope demands from children of the "one true church."

Papal domination in any country, or in any community, has never resulted in the promotion of peace nor the establishment or perpetuation of freedom, the kind of freedom that is supposed to exist under the stars and stripes, the kind of freedom that men will love, honor and fight to preserve.

acting in obedience to Rome when they made use of public position to betray the principles they were pledged to support.

We cannot believe that a man can represent American people and American principles in congress or state legislature as they should be represented and remain true to the Catholic church, and be obedient as the pope demands obedience. Allegiance and loyalty to the church is not in harmony with allegiance and loyalty to the flag and country and no amount of protestation can make a "good" Catholic a loyal and patriotic American.

Jesuit intrigue has known no bounds and Catholic cruelty has shown no mercy in hounding and harassing the defenders of freedom. Romish ruffians have strewn our streets with wreck and carnage to destroy the things that should make America a heaven of refuge for the hunted and defenseless fugitives from the wrath of Rome.

Those who have escaped from papal prisons, girls who have been freed from slavery to cruel masters, vesting a sacrosanct mask before the public, all righteous souls concerning the persecutions and inhuman practices of the "holy" fathers and "sanctity" sisters.

Only Rome knows how many have suffered and died without hope behind locked gates and barred doors which are guarded by Rome against inspection.

Only Rome knows how many are still toiling in Catholic sweatshops, scathed from paths of freedom by the relentless and tyrannical long arm of the "one true church."

Should such a foe to liberty and justice be recognized as having any rights? Can such a system, organized band of moral perverts and promoters of political perfidy be tolerated by patriotic, liberty loving Americans? The ballot must be used swiftly and certainly against every candidate and possible candidate for public office if our blood-bought and time honored American institutions and ideals are to be preserved for generations to come.

Rome never sleeps. Americans must be more than equally alert if death and destruction are to be averted.—The Menace.

Without Flinch Becker Met Death.

Sing Sing Prison, Ossining, N. Y., July 30.—Charles Becker paid the death penalty by electrocution here early today for having instigated the murder of Herman Rosenthal, gambler, three years ago. With wonderful composure and maintaining his innocence to the last former New York police lieutenant led the way to the execution chamber. A photograph of his wife was pinned on his shirt over his heart. Three shocks were given before the prison physician pronounced life extinct at 5:55 o'clock. The condemned man walked steadily to the death chair. He had sat up all night on the edge of his cot, talking to Deputy Warden, Charles H. Johnson.

"I have got to face it and I am going to meet it quietly and without trouble to any one."

D. L. Capps, head of a large plumbing establishment of Wilmington, was shot and mortally wounded in front of his place Saturday afternoon by Melvin Horne, a relative by marriage, as a result of bad feeling that has existed for a number of years, arising from business transactions in which Horne claimed that Capps ruined him. Capps died at 6 o'clock at a hospital. Horne was captured a few minutes after the shooting by chief of Police Williams and two officers. He had gone nearly a mile before he was overhauled. Capps was seated in his automobile in front of his place when Horne pumped into him five bullets from a .38 caliber automatic Colt's revolver. He was leaning against a telephone pole only a few feet away. The man had been in conversation for a few minutes before the shooting, though there appeared to have been no argument of any kind. Capps was rushed to the hospital in his own automobile, but he was too badly hurt for any medical attention to be of any aid. Horne was at one time in very good circumstances. He was tried for selling whiskey soon after the prohibition law went into effect and although pronounced not guilty by the court this was the beginning of his downfall. His business soon passed into other hands and Horne has always accused Capps of having been responsible for the loss of his property.

A movement has been launched to wipe out adult illiteracy in Davidson county. A county committee has been appointed as follows: H. B. Yarnes, chairman; E. L. Peacor, secretary; Fred O. Sink, J. B. Steele, Ray McGarry, J. F. Spruill, Zeb W. Waiser, Dave Conrad, Adam Berrier, Sam Finch, F. O. Robbins, Mrs. T. E. McCrary and Mrs. W. H. Mendenhall. This committee will plan the county campaign against adult illiteracy and appoint local committees. The district committee will be appointed and notified at an early date and every man and woman appointed on this committee is earnestly urged to serve and do everything in his or her power to eliminate adult illiteracy in that district. A call has been issued for every man and woman in the county who is interested in this great work to volunteer their services to help push the campaign.

O. Olemus, a West Indian Portuguese in the employ of the Electric Light & Power Co., of Elizabeth City, was instantly killed Friday afternoon while sitting on his perch on the crossbar of an electric wire pole. His hand came in contact with a wire carrying a 2,000 volt current. The terrific shock paralyzed the victim, his hold loosened and he dropped to the pavement below where his skull was fractured in striking the street curb.

Falling from the back porch of her home, where she had gone to get a drink of water, Beatie Peed, 11 years old, of Belhaven, Saturday afternoon suffered instant death, her neck being broken by the fall. The deceased was the daughter of Mrs. Mary Peed, of Belhaven, Beaufort County.

In an altercation between Jim Byrd and Jerry Inman, both colored, three miles from Fairmont, Robeson County, Friday night Byrd shot Inman through the heart, killing him instantly. The trouble originated about a bicycle, Coroner's jury held Byrd for court and he is in jail.
