AMERICANS FIGHTING HARDY HUNS RETREAT

Germany Beaten, is Speeding Emissaries to Foch to Learn Terms of Armistice.

London, Nov. 7.—The Daily News says it learns that the German delegation has reached the western front and been permitted to cross into the allied lines. The newspaper adds that the delegation will be received by Marshal Foch this morning at daylight.

London, Nov. 6.—(11:30 p. m.)—The German armistice delegation has reached the allied lines. This information reached the lobby of the house of commons late tonight.

Deserted by all her former allies; her great military machine in the process of destruction by the onslaughts of the entente allied armies; her dream of world domination rudely dissipated, Germany begs for a cessation of hostilities, not withstanding the hard terms she knows she must pay.

Scarcely had the decision of the supreme war council at Versailles with regard to a cessation of hostilities with Germany been made public than Germany was speeding emissaries to Foch to learn what the commander-in-chief's terms are to be.

Meantime in France and Flanders enemy forces are being given no rest. Along the whole battle line in France, the British French and American troops have made further material gains and reclaimed numerous towns and villages. Thousands more of Germans have been taken prisoners on all the sectors under attack. Generally the enemy forces are in slow retreat, out nevertheless at some points they are suffering sharp resistance, particularly against the Americans in the Meuse river region and the French in the old Argonne sector.

The latest gains of the British on the western side of the front have been productive of the capture of several towns of great importance, the gaining of more territory east of the Scheldt canal, where the Canadians are on the attack, and in the taking of several railroad junctions of high strategic value.

Along the Meuse, the Americans continue to push forward and at last accounts were almost at the gates of Sedan, a dominating point on the German line of communication to the east. Both east and west of the river the Germans have materially stiffened their resistance against the men from overseas, using large numbers of machine guns and gas in great quantities in an endeavor to impede their progress.

To the west of the American sector the Germans near Rethel are holding a bridgehead to protect their retiring armies east and west. In doing so, however they are forming a dangerous salient in which capture is likely should the French break through. Numerous additional crossings of the Aisne have been made by the French. Altogether, the situation of the German army is a critical one.

Boy Killed at East Spencer.

Thomas, the nine-year-old son of Conductor and Mrs. Grover C Lineback of East Spencer, was accidentally killed almost directly in front of their home about 7 o'clock Tuesday afternoon. It is said the child attempted to swing on to a motor truck driven by Dan Little, a negro when he was thrown violently to the ground, breaking his neck. The remains were taken to High Point where the funeral and burial took place. The coroner investigated the case, the driver being held to await the verdict of the jury. The jury decided the death was not the fault of the driver.

50,000 MAJORITY FOR STATE.

Party Returns Usual Strength To State General Assembly; Amendments Carried.

The two constitutional amendments voted on yesterday were carried by good majorities and only a few counties were reported against them. In many counties the vote was light and in very few could the official vote be secured last night. It is safe to say, however, on the basis of the returns received, that North Carolina school children will be assured of a minimum of six months school term; and that the man who desires his own vine and fig tree will have the benefit of the provision exempting from taxation notes and mortgages given in purchase price of a home.

North Carolina's answer to President Wilson's appeal for a pro-administration Congress was given at the polls in a hundred counties Tuesday and by reason of it, ten Democratic members of the House and one Democratic Senator are assured of seats in the next Congress.

The response of the people of the State, in terms of majority of fully 52 000 votes, was a stinging rebuke to the National and State leaders of the Republican party and no less a tribute to the common sense and patriotism of the masses of the people.

By virtue of the sweeping Democratic victory, the entire State ticket of two Corporation Commissioners, a Chief Justice of the Supreme Court and two Associate Justices of the Supreme Court, and ten judges of the Superior Court were elected together with 16 Democratic Solicitors out of 20 to be chosen, with results in three districts uncertain but tending toward the Democrat.

In addition, the party maintains if it does not better its position in the General Assembly of North Carolina. In the view of incomplete returns, the Democrats will possibly have 101 members out of 120 in the House and 43 members out of 50 in the Senate.

Taking into consideration the absent soldier vote, the recent migration of man power to other States, and the influenza situation still critical in many portions of North Carolina, the Democratic majority was the hand-somest since 1900. Fully 30,000 Democratic voters, it is estimated, re in the military service. In a vote of full notice of the privilege of absentee voting only a small percentage of these availed themselves of the opportunity of casting a vote. But while many of these were fighting, the people back home were voting and both were giving fullest support to the nation's commander-in-chief.

The allies reserve to themselves however, complete freedom of
