Democratic Plans at Washington.

[Special to Baltimore Gazette, 10th.] WASHINGTON, Feb. 9.-The Democracy has at last taken a firm and decided stand in favor of the repeal of the obnoxious statutes prescribing test oaths for jurors, and they are determined to force it through Congress. At the caucus held on Saturday night, when about one hundred from both Houses were present, the following were adopted unanimously as the sense of the party: First. To reduce the per diem of jurors of the United States Courts from

$3 to $2. Second. To bring it within the rules and to repeal the test outh for jurors, had any understanding or agreement Revised Statutes.

One song was called the Echo, and the echo part was done to perfection; where it came from I don't know, unless it came from under the floor, or Johny Mac is a rentrilo-quist, and did it. Some of the names of those taking part were the Mastens, McCuistians, Lomax, Huffs, Linvills, $6,608,680.26 $346,743,031.00

McKaughans, Powells, Kinnamons and others that I cannot now remember. A good string band, consisting of Knaus, Chadwick and Collins, furnished the music, and they play well.

After the scholars were through, by the request of the teacher, I said a few words and then Mr. McCnistian and Mr. Kennamon, two of the District Committee, expressed their satisfaction and that of the District, for the efforts made on the part of the teacher to benefit the children, which was responded to by Mr. Hege; and it was evident the $382,450,695.00 best feeling prevailed all around, and the only regret with all parties was that the school could not be prolonged, as the money had given out. Formerly this District has had as long as eight months. $2,055,896,130.43 2,028,648,111.09 now it was only two months and a half. I staid over night at Mr. McCuistian's and had for my bed-fellow Mr. Messer, the principal teacher of the Winston District School; and in the morning he $9,890,711.39 told me that was the first time he had ever slept with a preacher, and I gave him the anecdote of the Irishman and the Judge: The Judge came to a town $5,989,288,87 where the only hotel was crowded, but finally it was found that one bed had 6,608,080.26 but one occupant, and he an Irishman. who finally agreed to let the Judge come King's store, and that a petition to that effect had been gotten up on the sly, and forwarded to Washington City. Now I have asked a number of citizens here in town, and have not found one that says he saw or signed that petition. If the Post Office is to be moved it should be moved in this direction of the town, as this is the longest end. Uncle John Kerner has been connected, off and on, with the Post Office here, since 1816, and I don't think there ever has been a word of complaint against his administration: and now it is a specialty with him, as he tends to that and that alone; and besides, there is not a more convenient place for the office than where it is, and it is as near in the centre of the town as it can be got. ## A Correction.

MESSIS. EDITORS: - Sirs: I ask small space in your excellent paper to correct a misstatement by your correspondent, "C, L. R.," in your issue of the 30th of January.

I do not accuse "C. I. R." of intentionally misrepresenting, but certainly he did not take much pains to get the real facts.
