FACTS AND COMMENTS.

An ingenious swindle has lately been exposed in London. It consists in artistically coloring fish, mest and game so that they appear to be of the finest quality, and hawking them about the streets at tempting prices. A fish thus prepared, which had passed the inspection of a wary housekeeper and an expert cook, was dropped into the pot as a salmon of particularly aristocratic extortionate charge. Thirty dollars were not long since paid by a second hue and came out a codfish of the most plebeian type.

A young woman at a picnic near Madison, Indiana, was warned by the young man with whom she was walking against tumbling down the cliffs near them. But she thoughtlessly went ahead and plunged over a precipice of rugged rocks seventy feet high. She was so lucky as to miss them allo landing in the mud face foremost, whence she was pulled out with no broken bones and only a slight bruise. She will learn to listen more attentively to what young men say to her.

The laboring classes in Spain have been for some time past suffering greatly because of the long continued drought. Such extremities have been reached that the government was forced to furnish large amounts of money to the authorities of Andalusia to be expended in giving employment to the people. The wisdom of this plan in aiding those actually in want can readily be seen. The government does not propose to aid its citizens as to encourage laziness, but only will assist those who are desirous of employment and cannot on account of the drought procure it. This is an example of public aid such as can be followed by all nations without danger.

Immured within the triple walls of Gatschina, and guarded by a host of sentries, the Czar Alexander III. still suffers constantly a nervous terror that threatens to dethrone his reason. Having overcome his fears sufficiently to visit his father's grave on the anniversary of his death, he resolved on returning to test the efficiency of his guards. To his unspeakable horror he was successful in eluding their vigilance, and regained his apartments unseen. It is generally believed in St. Petersburg that he never will summon. up courage enough to endure the ordeal of a public coronation, although some of the ambassadors have rented palaces in Moscow for the event.

PLUCKING EMIGRANTS.

Nefarious Tricks Practiced by Emigrant Runners --- Outrages Around Castle Garden, New York.

Three dollars and fifty cents were recently charged an emigrant in a grocery at the Battery, New York, for a loaf of bread and a pound of sausage. A runner who took the innocent customer to the place shared with the swindling shopkeeper the profits of the emigrant, freshly over, in a grocery near the former one, for a few small parcels of crackers, cheese and other articles of food. While the emigrant counted out the money, which was nearly all he had, the runner who had inveigled him into the place stole two bills from his pocketbook.

"You can have no idea," remarked a reputable business man, whose office is at the Battery, "how these poor and honest emigrants are swindled by the runners, grocers and hotel keepers. To my personal knowledge three of the emigrant runners are professional swindlers. They not only prey upon these guileless people in New York, but frequently take the same train with them and follow them out into the country. cows. Often they return with large sums of money. How it has been obtained you may vaguely surmise. One of them has been convicted of frauds, for which he ought to have got fifteen years in the penitentiary at least. All are regularly licensed, dress well, and look respectable. Occasionally one is 'broken,' but you may soon see him at his nefarious work of swindling again, restored through corrupt political influence.

"A common trick with the ranners is to get a lot of excited and hurried emi grants, on the point of taking a train for the West, into an emigrant grocery, tell them that there is not a single station between New York and Chicago, a distance of a thousand miles, and adjure them to buy enough food for a week's journey. They do so. The shopkeeper gives them short weights, goods for the most part worthless, and charges them unheard of prices. Lard cheese they sell to them for eighteen and twenty cents a pound. Sausage made out of refuse meat unwholesome and unfit to eat, they often charge them a dollar a pound for. Loaves of stale bread bought by the barrel at bakeries for four cents a piece they sell to them at twenty-five cents apiece, and sometimes more. Much of this stuff the emigrants are obliged to throw out of the car windows, as uneatable. They use the hard, dry bread only. "The hotel keepers inveigle emigrant families who have no money into their taverns, and on one pretext and another keep them, giving them almost nothing to eat, until their bill amounts to a sum

A BOY'S TERRIBLE CRIME.

Murdering Two Men-The Youthful Murderer Lynched. The murder of two men in Minnesota

by John Tribbetts, a boy only fifteen years old, revealed a terrible case of youthful depravity. The boy was caplured and taken to jail after making a full confession. About 1 o'clock in the morning about twenty resolute men broke through the surrounding crowd and began to batter in the outside door of the jail. It offered little resistance, and they were soon inside. About this time a wagon drove up, and the impression spread that the boy would be taken into the woods around the town and hung. The lynchers found hard work in breaking open the door of Tribbetts' cell; the sounds of the blows upon it could be heard at a great distance. The crowd kept coming closer and loser, but were warned back in menacng tones by the lynchers. As the door yielded to the blows and the victim was at their mercy they took hold of him roughly, when he exclaimed, " Don't oys, this is too rough !" "You will think it is rough," was the answer.

He was 'taken out and the crowd erected to see him put in the wagon, but the latter was only a blind, and drove off without him. The lynchers carried him to the railroad track a few tods away and began preparations to finish their terrible work. A ladder had been provided and was braced up against a telegraph pole, a rope was then thrown over one of the rounds, placed around the neck of the murderer, and in a few minutes all was over. No one but the lynchers was allowed to come near the scene of the hanging. All others were warned to keep away and the warning was enforced by the showing of revolvers. The history of the life and crime of John Tribbetts reveals the result of vicious training. He had been per-mitted to read trashy literature and culivated a naturally depraved disposition. He had often boasted that he would make a strike to join the cowboys on the plains, and, as the sequel shows, the Black Hills was his objective point. His favorite literature was the life of the James boys, the Younger brothers, the fine art. Their helpless prey know only of truth and of honesty, having in the old country seen nothing else, and are easily imposed upon by their misstatements and their various artfully-disguised methods of robbery."

Our Canadian neighbors are entitled to tally one on the score of making s noise in the world, a New York firm having abetted, by furnishing to an enterprising lumber concern of that section what is, so far as we are aware, the largest steam whistle on any industrial establishment in the world. This whistle, which stands four feet nine inches high, has a bell twenty inches in diameter, and is attached to the boiler by a four-inch connection. It is made entirely of composition (bronze), and is highly finished all over. It will require a liberal battery of boilers to supply the steam for an extended "toot," and the music will undoubtedly sound charming-from a distance. We heartily sympathize with the hapless people who live in the particular section in which this whistle is to be located.

A New York Prsss reporter, disguised as a runner, by the aid of a Bowery necktie and a paste diamond pin, entered one of the stores alluded to above with a friend, who, in turn, was disguised by a German cap and an old suit of clothes. The seeming runner winked at the shopkeeper and drew him to one side.

"I'll take him to another store, then. That's the regular profit." "We pay the old men that. But if we make a good thing out of him I'll do it."

Then followed a series of attempts at intimidation and virtual robbery on the part of the "runner" and the shopkeeper, of which the alleged emigrant was to be the victim. He was cajoled, threatened and lied to, but all to no purpose. He remained so strangely stupid that nothing could be done with him.

"I will try to 'fix' him," said the "runner," as he at length left with the 'emigrant.'
