HOME AND FARM.

The Profits of Farming.

"He that by the plow would thrive.

Himself must either hold or drive.

Mr. W. D. Philbrick, a well-known writer and practical gardner, gives some views as to the general profits of farming in New England, which are applicable to other sections of the Atan all-wise Providence has placed in countries lantic coss board, especially these fortunately situated as regards markets. It will cure all Diseases caused by De- He says: As a rule the profits of farming in New England are very small, and railroads have brought articles ter or bad taste in the mouth: Pain in the Back. cheaply raised at the West into com-Sides or Joints, often mistaken for Rheumatism: petition. New Englanders must therefore raise those articles which will not bear long conveyance, such as fresh milk and eggs, fresh vegetables and perishable fruits, or those of a bulky character. The profits of gardening, properly conducted, are much larger than those of farming, on account of the larger capital required and the greater skill needed. He states that the best vegetable gardens near Boston are worth $1,000 or more per acre. The energetic and skillful men who work them use a floating capital of $500 or more per acre, invested in tools, teams, hot-beds, manure, etc. The laboring force is about one man to every acre in summer, and "We have tasted its virtue, personally, and know that for Dyspepsia, Billiousness, and Throbbing the manure thirty cords per acre ev-We have triad forty other medicines before Sim-mons Liver Regulator, but none of them gave us stances the sales amount to over a thousand dollars per acre. In one rare instance a skillful manager had for six years an annual profit of $400 per acre from his whole garden of 20 acres, or $8,000 a year. This was before the competition from the South somewhat reduced it. Less capital is required for small fruits than for yegetables, and $200 or $300 per acre are regarded as very satisfactory. Currants, at the best, will give fifty cents from each bush, or nearly $1,000 per acre. Much depends on locality and markets, and constant vigilance.

Home-Made Perfume.

"Madge" writes: "I am very tond of perfumery, but it is so expensive I would like to make it myself and save the enormous profits made by the perfumer. Can you give a good recipe for cologne?" Here is one which we find in the Scientific American. Alcohol, 95 per cent. one quart; oil of cedrat, nine drachms; oil of thyme, two drachms; oil of bergamot and lemon, six drachms; oil of Portugal, four musk, twenty-four drops. Mix, and after standing twenty-four hours filter till clear.

A Remarkable Sow.

Mr. Walter Long, who lives about 5 miles from Louisburg owns a very reinarkable as well as profitable sow .-She is three years old, and on the 24th of December 1880 she gave birth to 10 pigs; again in May 1881, she gave middle of December just past, she gave birth to 11 fine pigs, making in all 36 pigs inside of twelve months. Only three out of the 36 died .- Louisburg

A very good device for arranging flowers so as to preserve them fresh, is thus described in Vick's Monthly: "It consists of a piece of cork of about a quarter of an inch thick, circular in form, and perforated with holes like the nose of a watering-pot. The diameter is to correspond to the size of the saucer or shallow dish with which it is to be used. The cork floating on the top of the water supports the flowers, whose stems are inserted through the holes. For the display of small flowmethod is well adapted.

Mr. Barnard Slocum, an actor, tells he Richmond State, of the following sure cure for smallpox: "Take five cents worth of cream of tartar and put it into a pint of water, stir it up and give the patient a tablespoonful of the mixture every four hours. The same dose twice a day will act as a preventive to persons in attendance upon the sick." With the above, Mr. Slocum says he has worked scores of cases in England.

Edgecombe raises a bale and a third of cotton to every man, woman and child in the county, which is worth about 45 dollars. Suppose that we raised enough provisions to support all of our inhabitants, would we not make money? It does not cost on an average more than twenty dollars to clothe a person, so that we should have a net profit to the county of 25 times 26,000, that is $650,000 or one- leading first-class seventh of the total assessed valuation sewing machineof the real and personal property in at BOTTOM PRI the county.—Tarboro Southerner, CES.
