POLITICAL SPECULATIONS.

POLITICAL speculations seem to be he order of the day. The wonderful activity in political circles for ometime, past, has kept the press husy in giving publicity to many matters which we modestly submit ad better been confined to the little circle in which they originated and were discussed. A great many hasty and unwarranted announcements of political movements have been made, ports of the three leading articles of the the great detriment of the party, as flour, wheat and corn, since the close well as injustice to individuals. And all considerations in every species of commercial gamf prudence and Justice often appear bling. be subordinated to the gratification of this morbid desire to excite attenion by some startling information.

We have only to trace tak the political history of the State for a few mears, to be confronted with numerhus instances, in which the party, has received serious injury, and some of ts prominent members injustice, by the overzealous caterers to this morbid appetite on the part of the public for something new and startling. Within the past few months we have been frightened with. "Hobgoblins and chimeras dive." We have had Mahones from the mountains to the seaboard shaking their gory looks at us. Prominent democrats whose political record has been without a blot, have been charged with designing to play the role of Mahone upon the most flimsy and insufficient evidence, and scarcely was the indignant denial of one forgotten, before the political gossips had found another. And yet after all we are, still without a reliable Mahone from will convene the Council of State today to ascertain whether in their judgment an extra session of the Legislature ought to be called for the purpose of re-districting the State and perhaps other matters. There appear to be no provision for holding the election of the additional member of Congress to which the State is entitled and the recent apportionment of representatives. NEWBERNE, N. C., December 17, 1881. I made an experiment with POCOMOKE, applying it to Cotton on old land. In one row not fertilized I made ten pounds of seed cotton, on the other row of the same length, and under similar cultivation, but mahured with Peco-MOKE at the rate of 200 pounds per acre, I made 35 pounds of seed Cotton. On similar rows manured with POCOMOKE at the rate of 400 pounds per acre, I made 46 pounds of seed cotton. I let Mr. Geo. Lewis have a tew bags, and he made 12 pounds seed cotton to the row, against 31 pcu. ds on the ground net manured.

625 pounds Lint Cotton per Acre.
WILSON, N. C., November 14, 1881. I sold your POCOMOKE to about seventy-five planters, and it has given universal satisfaction; the best evidence of which is that they all want it again. I can report 625 pounds of lint cotton to an acre, manured with Pocomogn. Pocomoke opens and matures all the Bowls.

NEWBERNE, N. C., November 1st, 1881. Used POCOMOKE on swamp land, and am satisfied that its application doubled the yield of cotton. I give POCOMOKE preference over any fertilizer I have ever used. It opens and matures all the bowls on the stalk, THOMAS I. TOLSON.

BEAUFORT COUNTY, N. C., November 1st, 1881. The ton of POCOMOKE purchased of you was used on about nine acres of land in cotton, and am satisfied it paid well. The cotton matured earlier and bowled better than where other fertilizers were used. I got from 10 rows, where POCOMOKE was applied, 500 pounds seed cotton at first picking; and from 15 rows alongside of it unmanured, I got only 490 pounds.
