

The Wilson Advance

CLAUDIUS F. WILSON, Editor.

The Advance favors to be an honest, faithful and impartial chronicler of the news, devoting special attention to the... it is in hostility to Democratic success...

Entered in the Post Office at Wilson, N. C. a second class mail matter.

WILSON, N. C., March 6th, 1891.

OUR POSITION.

The question has been asked us repeatedly of late: "Will the Advance oppose the Alliance?" We wish to answer emphatically No!

As said in our salutatory "We shall endeavor to treat all men fairly and justly." We certainly shall not criticize the Alliance for what any one man does. We shall offer no captious criticism. We shall treat all questions fairly and discuss them on as high a plane as possible.

This writer was born and raised on the farm, his people are all farmers, many of his best friends are farmers, and any measure benefitting them is dear to his heart.

It is our opinion that the Democratic party will give the relief demanded if it ever gets the chance. If it does not, we are in favor of going elsewhere for it, for it must come!

1892.

Speaking with one of the most learned and thoroughly observant of our townsmen Monday he gave it as his opinion that Gov. Russell, of Massachusetts, and Col. L. B. Polk, of North Carolina, would be the Democratic Presidential ticket in 1892.

BEN TERRELL

On the first page of this issue of the Advance will be found a synopsis of the excellent speech of Ben Terrell, Lecturer of the National Farmers' Alliance. We are glad Wilson county people had the pleasure and gratification of listening to his words of soberness and truth.

Those who had the pleasure of hearing him can see how a brief synopsis fails to do him justice, but we are glad to present so much of it as we do. Mr. Terrell is a man of fine parts. He ably and convincingly discusses the aims and object of the Alliance. He is sound on the silver question, the alien ownership of land, the sub-treasury and other measures proposed by the sons of the soil.

JUST THE MAN FOR THE PLACE.

Hon. Kemp P. Battle has resigned the presidency of the North Carolina University to accept the chair of History, which has lately been established at that institution.

Public sentiment seems to have crystallized upon Hon. Thomas J. Jarvis as his successor. We do not know whether he could be prevailed upon to accept the position, but if he will yield to the demand of the people of the State and become president of the University, there will be cause for universal rejoicing by the friends of the University.

Gov. Jarvis is a big-brained, big-hearted man, and North Carolina is proud of him. He is in touch with the people and has their full confidence. Should he consent to serve his fellow-citizens in the capacity of president of their educational institution, the centre of non-sectarian learning and culture, we predict that under his wise, liberal and progressive management the University will surpass its antebellum glory, and that his administration will prove equally as acceptable as did that of the lamented Governor Swain.

Aside from his peculiar fitness for the honorable and responsible position, the election of Governor Jarvis would be good policy, because he is known by all our people and the associating of his name with the work would bring it near to the hearts of the people, many of whom are now ignorant of the institution and take no interest in it.

If the Governor will accept, let him be elected to the position. No better man can be found for the place.—Webster's Weekly.

EXCUSE US, PLEASE.

We have received from Mr. John T. Patrick, General Manager of the Southern Immigration Bureau, an appeal, enclosing a circular asking the people of Wilson to subscribe to the fund to secure the establishment of the Bureau at Raleigh.

For many years an effort has been made by a State Immigration Agent to secure immigrants and settlers for North Carolina. We do not know what amount has been paid for this work, nor do we care. But we do know this: That Eastern North Carolina has never received one cent's worth of benefit from this work.

Unless we are mistaken in judging the signs the Democratic party, as a party, will take steps to bring about the relief demanded by the farmers. It has always been the friend of the tolling masses. Why should it not so continue?

BY ALL MEANS.

The Advance is pleased to see the name of Prof. Edward E. Britton mentioned as a good man to appoint as one of the Board of Directors of the Teachers' Training and Industrial School. He is a young man, pregnant with great ideas in the line of reforms and would be an excellent man to appoint.

It is now feared out that married people live longer than single ones. This ought to increase the matrimonial boom, but we are not to be entrapped that way. It's a scheme to wreck our happiness, boys, so beware!

The Progressive Farmer has donned a new dress and is now one of the neatest papers that comes to our office. Bro. Cady has added much to it in ability and conservatism. "May he live long and prosper," in the language of Rip Van Winkle.

ALLIANCE MAN AND LAWYER.

This is widely known as the "Alliance Legislature." Last night an Alliance man in advocating some measure for a reduction of expenses, in the matter of salaries of legislative employees, said: "We, as Farmers' Alliance men, will be blamed for the least extravagance. I beg the Alliance men to stand by me. We are all responsible to the Alliance for what we do."

A lawyer and this Alliance man then crossed swords, it being the first thing of that sort during the session. The lawyer remarking that the debates on these little matters were costly and that the cheap John policy was wrong, the Alliance man sprang up and said it was the lawyer's long-winded speeches which retarded public business. The lawyer, as quick as a flash, replied that the real cost of time and outlay of money would be in the undoing of hasty and ill-adviced Alliance legislation.—Raleigh Letter, 18th, to Wilmington Messenger.

THE E. R. COMMISSION.

The Democratic members of the General Assembly held a caucus last Tuesday night to select three Railroad Commissioners. On the second ballot Mr. E. C. Beddingfield, of Wake county, was elected. On the third Mr. T. W. Mason, of Northampton, and Maj. J. W. Wilson, of Burke, were elected.

Mr. Mason is a lawyer of ability and a brilliant advocate; Maj. Wilson is an experienced railroad engineer and is thoroughly conversant with railway matters; Mr. Beddingfield is a sound, conservative, capable farmer. We believe no better men could have been selected. Out of the chaotic mass of candidates the Assembly has evolved the very best men for the position. Now, let them go to work.

TRUE.

There will be at least four men in the Senate of the Fifty-second Congress to support the financial schemes of the Farmers' Alliance: Mr. Vance of North Carolina, Mr. Irby of South Carolina, Mr. Gordon of Georgia and Mr. Peffer of Kansas.—N. Y. Sun.

Very true, but Vance, Irby and Gordon will fight under Democratic colors and stand by their posts until the day breaks.—New Bern Journal.

IS IT!

This old world is just what our fathers and their fathers have made it.—Concord Standard.

We are quite sure our education is a little deficient, for we have been taught that "this world is what we make it."

Governor Hill is the man of metal that suits us. Morgan G. Bulkeley is holding the office of Governor of Connecticut as an usurper, and Hill refused to recognize a requisition from him for one Fardon, a fugitive from justice arrested in New York. He said: "If the people of Connecticut want the body of Fardon, they must ask it through Governor Morris. It is a piece of affront to the Legislature, and had I been in control, instead of making a speech, which he had no right to do, he would have been occupied in getting out. He holds possession of the Executive chamber to-day by force and by virtue of the Chandler and Tom Reed spirit of forcible usurpation."

Sensors Wilson, of Maryland and Hearst of California, died in Washington last week within a few days of each other. The present administration is suffering heavily. They were both Democrats. Wilson will be succeeded by a Democrat and Hearst by a Republican.

Senator H. W. Blair, ("Granny" Blair as he is affectionately called) has been appointed Minister to China by the President and confirmed by the Senate.

MORE FROM THE STORM.

Ed. ADVANCE.—This will inform you of a very severe wind and rain storm fell on us last Saturday at 8 o'clock P. M., tearing down nearly everything for 1/2 mile wide. My dwelling was moved a little—about one inch, one out of use 6 inches, and fully two thirds of my fence, breaking rails etc. Since the storm the neighbors have been helping me put up my fence which kindness is fully appreciated. I have seen dead birds and crippled cows since the storm. One of my cows has died. I think she was hurt by a falling tree as the tree beside the bed is down. The pigs are all alive. The storm seemed to rise after passing my house. O. W. KING.

MARRIED.

Wednesday of last week near Toisnot Mr. John D. Montague to Miss Emma Lester, W. L. Grimmer, J. P., officiating.

February 17th, T. T. Cherry, of Bethel, was married to Miss Carrie Whitehead, of Scotland Neck, at the residence of bride's father, W. T. Whitehead.

Wednesday evening 18th, inst. at the residence of J. T. Dupree, at Old Sparta, Samuel P. Jenkins was married to Miss Nora O. Pitt, Rev. E. G. Glenn officiating.

At the residence of the bride's mother in Springhill township on Thursday, February 25th, Mr. Warren Godwin, of Johnston county, to Miss Martha Watson of Wilson county.

At the residence of the bride's father in Old Fields township, this county on Wednesday Feb 25th, about 4 o'clock, P. M., Mr. James G. Raper, one of the most successful young farmers of Spring Hill township, to Miss Cora, the beautiful and accomplished daughter of Mr. L. B. Boyett, Eld. P. T. Lucas officiating. The war wishes for them a long life of future happiness. B.

At the residence of the bride's mother in Toisnot yesterday afternoon at four o'clock, Mr. W. H. Tyson, Miss Jessie Parker, Eld. E. C. Glenn officiating. The attendants entered the parlor as follows: Mr. O. F. Wilson and Miss Belle Grimmer, Mr. J. C. Newton and Miss Sallie Vaughan, Mr. W. C. Pridden and Miss Lucy Tyson, Mr. Thomas E. Hays and Miss Roxie Barner, and arranged themselves on either side of the minister. They were followed by the bride and groom who marched up in front of the minister and heard the words that bound them together for all time.

After receiving the congratulations of their many friends the bridal party came to Wilson to the home of the groom on Tarboro street where an elegant supper was served last night.

The groom is the handsome and popular young salesman of the clothing department of J. S. D. Oettinger and commands the respect and esteem of those who know him. The bride is one of Toisnot's fairest daughters, of a gentle, sweet, affectionate disposition and is loved by a large circle of friends in her native town.

In common with many friends the ADVANCE extends best wishes for a long and happy life.

A BRAVE DEED.

He Knew the Crowd He Had to Deal With. Madly flew the sleigh over the trackless prairie. It needed not the least that the frantic driver was using all his energy to urge the frightened horses to the top of their speed.

The blood curdling howls of the wolves that grew momentarily nearer and nearer lent wings to the panting animals, and they tore along over snowy wastes, every muscle strained to its utmost, every nerve quivering, their nostrils dilated, their eyes starting from their sockets, and long trails of filmy vapor from their steaming bodies following in their wake.

"Comrades," said one of the men in the sleigh, rising up, pale, but with iron resolution written in every line of his face, "the wolves are gaining upon us. In five minutes more, unless they are checked, we are all lost. If we had ten minutes we could reach that farm house yonder, but we cannot do it. There is only one hope. One of us must sacrifice himself for the others. Farewell!"

Before they could stop he had thrown himself out of the sleigh and disappeared.

On flew the horses. The sleigh, relieved of the weight of the brave man who had voluntarily offered himself a sacrifice to the bloodthirsty animals to save the lives of his friends, went perceptibly faster. A few minutes later and they dashed into the yard surrounding the little farm house. They were saved!

But how had it fared with that devoted, unselfish hero? The gaunt, hungry wolves, diverted from the pursuit of the sleigh, had no sooner surrounded him than they seemed to regard him as a friend. They smelt of him, fawned upon him with every demonstration of delight, and the howling of the bold and ferocious of the whole pack, evidently the leader, offered him his paw as if to shake hands with him, looked at the sleigh, now too far away to be overtaken, shook his head sorrowfully, turned about and trotted away, followed by all the rest. The fierce, bloodthirsty wolves had recognized in this man a kindred spirit.

Somehow It Did Not Work. "I don't know whether they do it intentionally or not," thoughtfully remarked young Jack Kanobiter at the club the other night, "but somehow they always pass around a awful lot of unreliable information."

"How's that, old chap?" inquired Freddie Choker, his running mate.

"Why, I saw in The Examiner last week that a poor young fellow in Chicago borrowed an umbrella of a bank president, and the next day returned it."

"Awful lie, that."

"Oh! but he did, really. He walked into the bank the very next day and returned it. The president was so much astonished that he called the young man back and made him his cashier at a thumping salary."

"Because he was so extra honest, eh?"

"Exactly. Well, you see, I thought it was a big scheme, and that I'd work the same racket before the other boys got on to it."

"Boss idea."

"So I rushed around to the Nevada bank and asked old Hellman to loan me an umbrella. I heard there was going to be a directors' meeting the next day, and I intended to return the umbrella right in the midst of it, so as to paralyze the entire outfit, see?"

"What did old Moneybags say?"

"Why, he said that it did not look a bit like rain. 'I know my loan,' said L. 'Just you produce your gingham.' So he told a clerk to let me have an old one and take $5 for security at regular bank interest."

"Great Scott!"

"But that wasn't the worst of it. When I looked at the umbrella I'll be hanged if it wasn't one that Hellman had borrowed from me himself down at Los Angeles during the boom."

"And they took his cash cigarette and mangled sadly over the utter unreliability of a sensational press.—San Francisco Examiner.

WHAT IS SCROFULA. It is that impurity in the blood, which accumulates in the glands of the neck, produces unsightly lumps or swellings; which causes painful running sores on the arms, legs, or feet; which develops ulcers in the eyes, ears, nose, often causes blindness or deafness; which is the origin of pimples, cancerous growths, or the many other manifestations usually ascribed to "humors," which, fastening upon the lungs, causes consumption and death. Being the most ancient, it is the most general of all diseases or affections, for very few persons are entirely free from it.

How CAN CURED. By taking Hood's Sarsaparilla, which, by the remarkable cures it has accomplished, often when other medicines have failed, has proven itself to be a potent and powerful medicine for this disease. Some of these cures are really wonderful. If you suffer from scrofula, be sure to try Hood's Sarsaparilla.

"My daughter May was afflicted with scrofula for three years. She was 22 months old she became six years of age. Lumps formed in her neck, and one of them after growing to the size of a pigeon's egg, became a running sore for three years. We gave her Hood's Sarsaparilla, when the lump and all indications of scrofula entirely disappeared, and now she seems to be a healthy child."—C. C. DANIEL, M. D.
