JUDICIOUS ADVERTISING.

Creates many a new business. Enlarges many an old business. Revives many a dull business. Rescues many a lost business. Saves many a failing business. Preserves many a large business. Secures success in any business.

Keeping at it Constantly Brings Success

Transient advertisements to be published one month and under, must be paid for in advance. All advertising for a shorter time than three months is considered transient advertising.

LOCAL.

See our notes from Camp Bogart on first page.

Mr. J. A. Farmer was housing obacco Monday.

Bicycle riders had better read the new town ordinance in reference to bicycles.

Many of our planters now claim that they will have the best tobacco they have had for years.

Remember the new town ordinances go into effect August 1st. Dogs must be bagged or they will be bagged.

Water was pumped into the street mains for the first time Saturday last. It will not be long now ere we will have the system completed.

We have all felt the depression in the money market, but we hope we are nearing the end. We look forward to a prosperous fall business.

Miss Bettie Lee is offering special bargains in Millinery goods. If you need anything in the way of ribbons, laces &c be sure and see her before purchasing.

Our new depot bids fair to be one of the prettiest in the State. The Coast Line people are neither sparing labor or money to make it complete in every detail.

The Centre Brick Warehouse is rapidly approaching completion. Capt. Pace tells us it will be ready in about three weeks. Then you can look out for "hustling."

Ed. S. Tony, Esq. has 25 acres, and it's all that could be desired. He commenced cutting Thursday. Ed will get there if close application to business is worth anything.

See the announcement in another column, of the school "Institute." If you want to be a teacher, be a good one. The best way to become a good teacher is to attend these institutes and follow out the instructions there given.

Mr. Ed Batts is remodeling his furnaces, clearing out his barns ready to commence curing his fine crop of tobacco. He is too modest to admit that he has a better crop than he had in '90. Says it must show for itself.

The lady, whose hair came out with every combing, was induced to give Ayer's Hair Vigor a faithful trial. She did so, and not only was the loss of hair checked, but a new and vigorous growth soon succeeded that which had gone.

The water works managers are doing all they can, to induce the people generally to use water from their mains. The water runs are extremely low and should, we think, be within the reach of most house keepers. Now is the time to give your order before the rush comes.

The soldier boys have returned after a few days rest they were all right. The majority of the company came home overcome with a desire to sleep. The captain could give them all they wanted to eat, but they seem to be "hungry" for a quiet nap.

If you want a crayon portrait or photograph enlarged, don't give your work to an irresponsible agent of some unknown Northern house, when you have a first class artist in your own town. Mr. Robinson, at Winstead's Gallery, is prepared to do work equal to any turned out by the best artists of New York or Baltimore.

Mr. Berry Moore, on Reden Wells' place has the finest crop we have seen. It shows thorough cultivation. Topped right and ripening up uniformly. Mr. Moore knows his business. The buyers may expect to see fine wrappers when he gets ready to sell. Our word for it, you might keep an eye on the Professor, for he will have something to brag on.

No one but the astronomers realize the imminent danger of being smashed into smithereens which we have just escaped. A wandering comet has been hanging near the earth for some nights past and we have barely escaped a collision with it. In fact, it was less than a day's journey for some celestial visitant, say a matter of $3,000,000 miles. When it got this close it hovered over our jail for a brief moment and held its hand over its nose and turned tail and skedaddled.

The fire alarm sounded yesterday morning and everybody rushed off toward the standpipe, as it was reported that the iron pipe was burning down. So great was the excitement that the fire engine was forgotten until a few cool heads had succeeded in subduing the flames had occupied by the roof of the building on the corner of Barnes and Tarboro streets. After all danger was passed the fire district in an appearance and the pipes were attached to the hydrant on the corner, much to the delight of the crowd of small boys collected there.

Mr. Richardson, of Spring Hope, was in town Monday. Mr. Richardson has charge of the business of Branch, Upchurch & Co., of Spring Hope.

Mr. David Oettinger has returned from his extended tour north. Mr. Oettinger visited most of the popular seaside resorts while away and can give all the new points on both suits.

Mr. Harvey McNaught, who was for some time employed as a drug clerk here was in town this week. Mr. McNaught is now representing a wholesale drug firm having headquarters at Greensboro, N. C.

Mr. Jonas Oettinger and family left Tuesday for their Summer vacation. We will try and persuade Mr. Oettinger to send us a letter from Chicago if he can find time to write while in the "windy city."

Kidney affections of years standing, cured by Simmons' Liver Regulator. J. W. Poynter.

On Thursday night last, at the residence of the bride's brother, Mr. George Hackney, Miss Ella Hackney to Mr. Robert Barnes, Rev. Mr. Harper, of Smithfield, officiating.

Money Saved is Money Made.

This old saw was evidently in the mind of Mr. Durley's son, Cary, last week when he put his little brother, Elma, into the water bucket and lowered him into the well, to recover a hat that had accidentally fallen in. The spirit of economy is commendable but we rather think the risk was too great to be compensated by the saving of a hat.

Festival at Black Creek.

There will be a grand festival and social gathering at Black Creek tomorrow, Friday, evening. Refreshments will be served by the ladies. Mr. P. L. Woodard has kindly consented to favor the assemblage with one of his well timed and appropriate talks. Everybody is invited to attend. The proceeds of the evening's entertainment are to be used in improving the M. E. Church.

County Commissioners.

In our last issue we suggested the importance of putting in a system of sewerage in the jail. On every hand we have been commended for the suggestion. Anything would be better than the present state of affairs. Our citizens all condemn it and call for its removal. The and that it stands on would readily bring enough if it was placed on the market to purchase another site and pay all expenses that might be incurred in its removal. Considerate commissioners, give this your immediate and careful attention and receive the everlasting praise of your suffering fellow citizens.

A Suggestion.

Now that our excellent system of water works is about complete, we would like to suggest to our worthy city council the importance of laying off the town in fire districts, and of furnishing each district with sufficient hose for use in case of fire.

Our young men who are ever ready to lead a helping hand, we are sure, would form a fire company. The proper plan would be to keep each reel in its respective district. Let the districts be numbered, and at the alarm of fire let the number of the district be sounded and our "fire ladders" would know in what direction to go.

The wire connecting the standpipe and power house was put up yesterday.

We are glad to see the News-Observer-Chronicle out with a new head line. The old one was entirely too heavy for beauty.

Misses Annie Harris and Lizzie Anderson have returned. Morehead was not a pleasure resort to them after our boys came home.

The Centre Brick Warehouse is nearing completion. The brick work is about finished and a large force of carpenters are framing the roof, which will be raised the last of the week.

Mr. W. M. Carter, our enterprising tobacco friend is building a large prize house near the Planters' Warehouse. Mr. Carter was burned out less than a year ago, his entire stock and building, valued at $20,000, being a total loss. The house he is now building will have five floors and be one of the largest prize houses in the State.

Last Sunday an election of officers was held in the Presbyterian church which resulted in the choice of Messrs. George Green and E. M. Nadal for ruling Elders and Messrs. Purvis and Brownly for deacons. Rev. Eugene Daniel, D. D. of the First Presbyterian church of Raleigh was present by special invitation of the session, presided in the election, and preached morning and night. Dr. Daniel, for eighteen years pastor of the church in Memphis, has within the last year transferred his labors to our own State and has already received several expressions of an appreciation which he undoubtedly merits. His sermons before us last Sunday were characterized by warmth, purity and finish. In the arrangement of his discourse as in its delivery he is singularly clear and forceful and his manner indicates that quality so essential to a ministers' success—thorough earnestness wrought of moral conviction and fortified by the experience of a christian life.

PLAIN TOM AGAIN.

EDITOR ADVANCE.—As it has been some time since your readers have heard anything from these parts, I will try to pencil you a few items from old Nash.

Farmers are about through with the crops, which, owing to the unfavorable weather in June, and accompanied by the cotton louse that greatly impeded the progress of the plant, crops are by no means flattering, especially tobacco, although good crops for the past weeks are being made. But the best of all, our farmers have planted, and if no disaster overtakes them will make enough corn for the home demand, in spite of what an extra "session" may or may not do to relieve business.

The boys are in the saddle and much has been pledged, while all are looking with some hope, and after the business has been revived and the commercial boys at-and-to. Then will come the time for the industrial classes perhaps.

We made a brief visit to Rocky Mount on Thursday, and after seeing the many improvements in the way of buildings and otherwise, can congratulate the wide awake and progressive people of that town for pluck, energy, and the development of its many varied increases.

Mr. S. J. Bartholomew has nearly completed a very stylish and commodious dwelling upon the old academy lot, and is quite an ornament to our little village.

Mr. and Mrs. C. R. Pender, of Baltimore, are on a visit to their sister, Mrs. Dr. D. N. Sills.

Miss Maggie Guppton, a popular and captivating brunette of Rocky Mount, is visiting relations here.

Miss Mamie Harper, of Stanhope, a winsome little blonde, is spending some time with Miss Jennie Matthews.

Mr. Henry Harper, of Charlotte, a popular druggist, is here to see his father.

Mr. Sam Harper's protracted meeting will soon be the order of the day, beginning at Red Bud and from church to church for weeks, where much spiritual preaching and abundance of lamb and chicken will greatly abound.

Behind the Scenes.

On the stage the tinsel, the glitter the powder and the paint, show forth the most, but step behind the scenes, and you will behold all "fancy paints bloom" but rather what they paint themselves; just so with many of the flaming advertisements of so-called "catarrh cures." Get back of the scenes, and they are not cures, The real one, and the only remedy that is a cure, is Dr. Sage's Catarrh Remedy. Lift the curtain, and you will find the naked truth to be, that this Remedy is the one that cures the worst cases of Catarrh in the Head, and no mistake. It is also a remedy in all catarrhal conditions, such as Catarrhal Headache, Catarrh of the Throat, etc.

A Battle for Blood.

Is what Hood's Sarsaparilla vigorously fights, and it is always victorious in expelling all the foul taints and giving the vital fluid the quality and quantity of perfect health. It cures scrofula, salt rheum, boil and all other troubles caused by impure blood.

NO OTHER Sarsaparilla has the merit to secure the confidence of entire communities and hold it year after year, like HOOD'S Sarsaparilla.

5,350 pensioners have been dropped from the list by this administration.

FOR YOUR BACKACHE, DO YOU WANT A REMEDY THAT DOES NOT HURT, IS GENERAL RELIEF, TRY HOOD'S Sarsaparilla. It will cure you, cleanse your liver, and give you a good appetite.

History in Words.

The most popular idea in regard to the origin of that bond which binds the human race together is: that God taught our forefathers such language as was necessary and suitable, leaving it to grow with the growth of the people, to expand and branch and bear fruit with the expansion of the nations.

This being the case we can easily see how in the history and derivation of our words we can trace the story of past ages as truly as the geologist, who by reading what is written in the rocks, can tell us of the inhabitants and the condition of the earth ages before the existence of man and language. It is out of our province to go back to the plateau of Iran, the cradle of our races, and draw inferences in regard to life there from certain words that are common to all Aryan nations. This work should be done by the student, with whom we will leave it, feeling sure that by means of Grimm's Law he will find much that is new and interesting. Our work is humbler but we hope quite as interesting; it is to ask you to look at a few of our commonest words and see what they tell us of life in the past.

We say to-day is Friday; yesterday Thursday, the day before Wednesday. Is anything more suggested to you than the very names of the days of the week? Do these names bring back to you the time when our forefathers were Berserkers and Vikings and worshippers of Odin, Freya, and Thor? Can you not see them filled with the name of Life, joying in strength and courage, and rushing into battle singing the death song, and exulting in the prospect of immediate entrance into Valhalla, the home of heroes?

"Jovial," "Mercurial," and "saturnine" look back to an earlier religion than that of the Vikings and Berserkers, and again to an earlier time still when this religion had become a thing of the past; but had left the story of it in the names of its gods, which had been given to the planets. Men had long lost all faith in "Jupiter," "Saturn," and "Mercury"; but they believed firmly in astrology, and thought that the star under which a man was born, influenced his temperament and disposition. One born under Saturn could not be other than grave or "Saturnine," the other born under Jupiter must be jolly or "jovial," while Mercury's child was certainly light hearted and fickle or "mercurial." The same faith in the influence of stars has given us "disastrous" and "ill-starred," and the blustering month, so named in honor of the blustering war-god, "Mars," and the popular representation of James as two faced suggested "January," the month with two faces, the one looking back into the past year which has given us so much both of joy and sorrow; the other into the future so filled with hopes and plans for the New Year. We get "panic" from the name of another one of the old gods of Rome, "Pan," the god of shepherds' half man, half beast, who was so hideous that when he appeared suddenly to travelers they were terrified or "panic stricken."

The words "pagan," "ambition" and "candid" all bring up pictures of the past and are bits of this vast piece of history in "mosaic," which we have in our words. We apply "pagan" to those who adhere to false gods and old superstitions, but the word was used originally for villagers or country people as distinguished from the city or town people. It tells us that Christianity was first planted in cities, the centers of learning and wit, and that the villagers "pagan" or country people held to the old religion and traditions long after they were cast aside by the people of the towns. In the same way we get "heathen" from the German "heath" meaning the country, because the people who dwelt on the "heaths" opposed the truth longer than any other class. What was ambition originally but the going around of the Roman candidates seeking votes, hence aspiration for office and finally aspiration in general. This definition suggests the origin of "candidate," a word which we hear often enough, but which does not to all of us call to mind the Roman custom, that those who offered themselves for the high offices of State should present themselves clothed in the white toga as emblematic of purity of character and life.

The word "sign" gives us a bit of history concerning our Anglo Saxon fore-fathers, who, though they were doubtless superior to us in many things, were not equal to us in others as this word proves, for did not even kings and barons have to "sign" or make a cross on the weightiest documents. I speak of the lumber room and it calls to mind the "Lombard's" room, or room where the pawn broker stores his pledges, and tells me of the self-destruction of feudalism during the wars of Roses, and that the Lombards became not only the first bankers, but the pawn-brokers of that period.

These are only a few of many words that I should like to present to you; but I feel that I have already trespassed too long upon your time and attention. If any of these thoughts induce any of you to look more closely into this fossil history of ours, my aim will be accomplished. Many words are only waiting to be questioned to unfold to you the mystery of past ages; others are more coy and will evade and puzzle you again and again. But if you form the habit of never permitting words to pass you by without inquiry into their history you will in the end be amply rewarded. But I will bring my paper to a close lest you should be tempted to say with the poet, "Words, words, words."
