One of the Rarest Works of Art at the World's Fair. Among the most remarkable exhibits at the World's Columbian exposition is the silver statue of Columbus, which depicts the hero in his most important role. The figure is designed and modeled by Bartholdi, the contemporary French sculptor, who is so well and favorably known by the American peo-ple from the statue of "Liberty En-lightening the World."

As a work of art, this statue has been masterpiece. Life and vigor are implied in every line and feature, and the general effect is one of great beauty. Combined with this fact is the significance as being probably the largest figure ever cast in silver and the success attendant upon its conception and production. The statue is somewhat more than life size, being slightly over six feet in height and standing on a silver pedestal about a foot high. Thirty thousand ounces of sterling men of the chaser's art. It has run with perfect smoothness and control for three watched it think the practical application of electricity to elevated roads has been proven. There are eighteen trains each consisting of a motor and three trailers. The electric current is picked up from a third rail. The largest pos sible load and the shortest curves seem to have no effect. The trains move right along at a speed which the motorman regulates by the turn of a erank. The first turn starts the ear with the motors working in series and a speed of five miles is attained. The next turn puts the motors into multiple series, that is, two in series and two in parallel. A speed of ten miles an hour results. The third and last turn by the motorman puts the four motors in parallel operation, and gives a speed of twenty miles an hour. The engine and dynamo cost $100,000. Will Open on Sp-cified Nights. The director general announces that hereafter the several exposition buildings will only be open to the public in the evening in accordance with the following programme:

Long and Terrible Illness from Blood Poisoning

Completely Cured by Hood's Sarsaparilla. Mrs. Mary E. AYER'S PILLS

"For years," writes CARRIE E. STOCKWELL, of Chesterfield, N. H., "I was afflicted with an extremely severe pain in the lower part of the chest. The feeling was as if a ton weight was laid on a spot the size of my hand. During the attacks, the perspiration would stand in drops on

per. They came suddealy, at gay hour of the day or night, lasting from thirty minutes to half a day, leaving as suddenly; but, for several days after, I was quite prostrated and sore. Sometimes the attacks were almost daily, then less frequent. After about four years of this suffering, I was taken down with bilious typhoid fever, and when I began to recover, I had the worst attack of my old trouble I ever experienced. At the first of the fever, my mother gave me AYER'S Pills, my doctor recommending them as being better than anything he could prepare. I continued taking these Fills, and so great was the benefit derived that during nearly thirty years I have had but one attack of my former trouble which yielded readily to the same remedy."
