

The Wilson Advance

Entered in the Post Office at Wilson, N. C., as second-class mail matter.

THURSDAY, JANUARY 11, 1894.

We have it from a reliable source, that the Third party people will soon start a paper in Wilson.

Kope Elias steps down and out and Melvin Carter, of Asheville, wears his shoes.

The judiciary committee have reported adversely on the nomination of Mr. Hornblower as a Justice of the Supreme Court.

Now is the winter of our discontent, made more miserable by the constant murmurings of those Democrats who worked hard, and thus far have not received their reward.

Verily the gratitude of the politician is only to be measured by his appreciation of services, YET TO BE RECEIVED.

We are in receipt of a copy of the premium list of the East Carolina Fish and Oyster fair, to be held at New Bern February 19th to 24th, inclusive.

The New Bern fair has long been the leading one of the State. This year there will be unusual interest manifested, by reason of the part taken by them in the Chicago exhibition.

What would people think, if it were necessary to issue a warrant for the arrest of a physician when his services were required at the bedside of a patient? And yet, recently it became necessary to arrest a number of our Congressmen and, by force of legal procedure, compel them to occupy their seats in Congress, notwithstanding the fact that the country is in a state of suspended animation, which calls for active measures on the part of our Congressional physicians.

THE TARIFF BILL UP AT L.A.T.

A quorum showed up on Monday and Prof. Wilson was at last allowed an opportunity of delivering his long delayed speech.

WHY DELAY FURTHER?

Will some one, on the inside, tell us why it is that no change has been made in our Post Office. We are daily approached by citizens of this and adjoining towns, and asked to explain why it is that a Democratic Congressman allows a Republican post-master to hold office a year after he could have been removed.

Up to the present time we have been able to place the blame upon the broad shoulders of the administration, by saying that it was the policy of Mr. Cleveland not to remove men until their terms expired, but what excuse can we give now. The people want to know, and expect us, as the mouth-piece of the Democracy of the country, to tell them. We in our turn, acknowledge our ignorance, not only on the point in question, but also as the proper source from which information is to be sought. We therefore make this public appeal, trusting that the proper party may see the article and answer the query.

WHY ARE CONGRESSMEN ELECTED?

On its face the above query may sound foolish. Any child would answer, without hesitation, to make laws and watch over the interests of their constituents. This answered, like many other stereotyped phrases, comes as naturally to the lips as a greeting to the friend we meet upon the street, and yet all our exchanges for Sunday last have articles commenting upon the fact that, although these men have been elected for a specific object, it is impossible to get enough of them to constitute a quorum, in the halls of Congress.

What is the matter? If our Congressmen are so averse to doing their duty, why do they except the charge? If their business obligations at home are such as to require their personal attention, then in the name of justice let them stay at home and allow some man go to Washington that will be content with the liberal salary paid him and who is willing to remain at his post so long as his presence is required.

VIRGINIA HONORS A SON OF CAROLINA.

At the recent election of Judges of the Supreme Court of Virginia, Hon. R. H. Cardwell was elected as one of the Judges. Hon. R. H. Cardwell was born in Madison county, N. C., August 1st, 1846. He enlisted in the Junior Reserves of North Carolina at the age of 16, but in 1864 was, at his own request, transferred to the Army of Northern Virginia.

Good Scheme for Good Roads.

In his annual message to the Maryland Legislature Gov. Brown suggests a plan for the construction and improvement of roads in the State, which, to the extent that labor is available from the sources mentioned, could doubtless be made practicable and a help to the public welfare in many ways.

It is needless to remark that he does not ask the paternal aid of the general government in this behalf. His idea is to utilize the vagrants and tramps.

We clip the above from an exchange. It seems that some one besides the ADVANCE has conceived the idea of utilizing the energy of the tourists. It will be remembered that some time ago we advised our town authorities to put all the tramps who enter the town to work.

One of two results would surely follow, either a quantity of work at small expense or a cessation of the visits from these gentry.

LET MR. CRISP PROCEED.

Mr. Crisp is making no mistake when he exerts his authority to compel the attendance of recalcitrant members. The spectacle of a party occupying the situation absolutely and having unassailable control of both the executive and the legislative branches of the government—this spectacle carries with it the suggestion that the party thus favored rests under serious obligations of duty and responsibility. Mr. Crisp, therefore, is quite right in resenting the dilinquency of Democrats, and he is behind him the best sentiment of the country in his effort to hold them to their obligations.

The quorum should be reinstated. Not only that, but it should be maintained. Let the issues be made squarely and honestly, and let Democrats be forced to put themselves on record. If the party means anything it is time the country should know it. If it means nothing and is trying merely to escape the consequences while enjoying the perquisites of domination, then all the more reason why we should be informed as to the facts and furnished with guidance for the future.

Mr. Crisp is right. Let him go ahead with vigor.

Daniel's Motto, "Excelior."

A report is current here that Mr. Joseph Daniels, of Raleigh, at present chief clerk of the Department of the Interior, is in a fair way to be appointed Public Printer. It is said he is pressed by Secretary Smith, who has an exalted opinion of the abilities of Mr. Daniels, but friends of other gentlemen who aspire to the position talk as if they thought there was nothing in the rumor. They say that the President, while thinking a great deal of Mr. Daniels, has another friend in view, and if he will accept he will receive the appointment.

It is understood that Mr. Cleveland wants a New York friend for Public Printer. Still, it is stated in some quarters that Mr. Daniels has strength, though he has not personally sought the promotion, but he is very solid with Secretary Hoke Smith.—Post.

Democratic Responsibility.

The week has gone by in Congress without a single step toward the consideration of the tariff to any other public business. The minority has persistently abstained from voting and the majority has not been able to command a quorum. Discreditable as this obstruction is to both sides, the real responsibility is upon the Democrats, who have been intrusted with the duty of legislation and cannot command the organization or leadership necessary to accomplish their task. That the tariff bill will be passed does not admit of doubt but it ought to be passed promptly. Every day's delay prolongs the business depression and exhausts the patience of the country.

Going for the Absentees.

The Democratic party in the House was again rendered impotent and ridiculous yesterday by the absence or refusal to vote of several faithful representatives elected as Democrats. If neither public obligations nor party fealty will induce these recalcitrants to perform their duty, the people of their districts ought to adopt some means to bring them to a realizing sense of their conduct. Every Democratic Congressman who is absent from his post to-morrow without a good reason is as much a deserter as a soldier who skulks away on the eve of battle.—N. Y. World, 7th.

Marion Butler Gets his Hair Pinned.

GOLDSBORO, N. C., Jan. 8.—There was a lively scrimmage in the dining room of the Hotel Kennon Sunday morning between Mr. Paul Humphry and Mr. Marion Butler, the Populist, in which the latter came out second best.

VOORHEES ON THE INCOME TAX.

Senator Voorhees is a firm believer in the wisdom of an income tax, and twenty years ago in the House voted against its repeal. When some one asked him the other day if he did not think that the necessary revenues could be as well raised by an increase of the tax on beer, tobacco, and cigarettes, he emphatically declared that he would never lend his influence to increase the tax on beer and tobacco, for the reason that these are the only luxuries of the working men. He would favor, he said, a heavy tax on cigarettes, less for the purpose of raising revenue than from sanitary considerations, but believed that an income tax would meet the requirements of the government, and he would advocate its adoption.

Killing Time is Costly.

The scheme of the Secretary of the State of Kansas for making two hours a legal working day is all right as far as work goes, but think of the amount of time that would be made to pass pleasantly by spending money. It is doubtful whether the whole world could earn enough in two hours' work to pay for its amusements in the other twenty-two. Killing time is expensive business.—Chicago Times.

Thirty-nine Congressmen have had warrants served on them for being absent from the House without leave. Both Bunn and Woodard from North Carolina are included in the list.—Newbern Journal.

Mr. Springer, of Illinois, knows something tangible about the income tax. More than twenty years ago, when it was in active operation, he made a test of its constitutionality in the Illinois courts by refusing to pay it on the ground that it was a direct tax and could only be levied by the State. The case was appealed, and the Supreme Court sustained the constitutionality of the act at Mr. Springer's expense.

Representative Jerry Simpson says there is much gratuitous talk about the reorganization of the People's party.

"The People's party," he said, "is still in process of organization. Conventions held from year to year are for the purpose of disclosing how the party has advanced in organization for a purpose. It is my belief now that the People's party under various names has been for years forming, and out of that will come the party that will take up the banner the Republicans fall. It is my belief also, that in their next convention they will condense their declaration of principles into a smaller compass that will consist of planks on lands, transportation, taxation, and finance. I cannot believe however, the permanent success would come out of an attempt to form a party on the lines of free silver alone. There is no great central truth behind it. There are other great national abuses than the demoralization of silver that are pressing for solution, and I do not believe that the earnest men and women that make up the sum total of the People's party will consent to trim their principles to fit the prejudices of those who oppose us or submit to the policy of those whose principles may be subordinated to success. If that policy should prevail, then surely the day will come for the formation of a new party. The People's party is a growth, the result of twenty years of hard labor in the cause of reform. Men and women have been abused, vilified, and prosecuted because of their opinions and labors in this cause. Many have grown gray in the work and not a few have joined the silent majority in the world beyond, yet the survivors continue steadily in the onward march."—Ex.

Peculiar use of a Bible.

"The most peculiar use I ever saw made of a Bible," said Will T. Fry, "was in Cincinnati. A gambling house there was conducted by a man named De Bardeleben. One night an agent who sold Bibles for a living sat down at the table and lost steadily until he was broke. The only thing pawable in his possession was his sample Bible, and the dealer let him have $1 on it. The agent's luck changed at once; he played all night and all next day, and by 3 o'clock in the afternoon the Bible and the furniture constituted the sole assets of that gambling room."—St. Louis Globe-Democrat.

List of the Louisiana Lottery.

Saturday, December 30th, marked the close of what was in many ways the most remarkable institution the country has ever seen. We refer to the Louisiana Lottery. The company's charter expired on the 31st day of December, 1893, after a quarter of a century of such prosperity as would strain the imagination of Croesus himself. Its offices were promptly closed, its signs taken down, and the same vision of the night, illuminated by the daybreak of the new year.—Washington Post.

Death of Elizabeth Peabody.

BOSTON, Jan. 4.—The venerable Elizabeth Peabody died yesterday at her home, in Jamaica Plain, in her ninety-fourth year. She was one of the advanced educators of the century, was directly concerned in the introduction of the kindergarten system in this country, and had been foremost in all educational reforms. At the age of sixty she learned the Polish language, because of her interest in the struggle of Poland for liberty. Her literary productions included "Aesthetic Papers," "Crimes of the House of Austria," "The Polish-American System of Chronology," "Reminiscences of Dr. Channing," &c. Elizabeth's sister, Sophia, married Nathaniel Hawthorne, the novelist, and another sister, Mary, became the wife of Horace Mann, who founded the school for deaf and dumb.

Popular Everywhere.

Beginning with a small local sale in a retail drug store, the business of Hood's Sarsaparilla has steadily increased until there is scarcely a village or hamlet in the United States where it is unknown. To-day Hood's Sarsaparilla stands at the head in the medicine world, admired in prosperity and envied in merit by thousands of would-be competitors. It has a larger sale than all other sarsaparillas and blood purifiers combined.

Such success proves merit.

Blind Tom's Guardian.

Before Judge Trux, in the Supreme Court chambers here to-day, an application was made to compel Mrs. Elsie Bethune, the legal guardian of "Blind Tom," the pianist and musical prodigy, to show cause why she should not be punished for contempt of court. "Blind Tom" is well known all over the country. At the time of the emancipation of the slaves he was owned by John G. Bethune, of Virginia. The family, aware of the negro's genius, decided to retain him, notwithstanding the fifteenth amendment. The Superior Court of Virginia, on account of "Blind Tom's" infirmity, decided that he was to remain the property of the Bethunes forever. This decision caused widespread gossip and not a little harsh criticism.

Colonel Daniel P. Holland, a Washington lawyer, endeavored to get the negro out of the hands of the Bethunes, but before that could be accomplished, Mrs. Elsie Bethune succeeded in being appointed "Blind Tom's" guardian. Colonel Holland, died, and his bill for legal services in behalf of the musical genius was not paid. Mrs. Irene Ackerman, of Washington, brought suit against Mrs. Bethune for the fee, amounting to $3,340.

Mrs. Ackerman won her suit, and the court ordered the money to be paid out of the money earned by "Blind Tom." In that action Mrs. Bethune swore she had no money resulting from her ward's earnings. Mrs. Ackerman claims that Mrs. Bethune has $35,000 and real estate resulting from "Blind Tom's" musical productions; hence the contempt proceedings. Judge Trux reserved his decision.—Ex.

Catarrh, Heart Failure, Paralysis of the Throat

"I Thank God and Hood's Sarsaparilla for Perfect Health."

"Gentlemen: For the benefit of suffering humanity I wish to state a few facts: For several years I have suffered from catarrh and heart failure, getting so bad I could not work and could scarcely walk.

I had a very bad spell of paralysis of the throat some time ago. My throat seemed closed and I could not swallow. The doctors said it was caused by heart failure, and gave medicine which I took according to directions, but it did not seem to do me any good. My wife urged me to try Hood's Sarsaparilla, calling me Mr. Joseph C. Smith, who had been cured.

AYER'S Cathartic Pills

A friend speaks through the Boothbay (Me.) Register, of the beneficial results he has received from a regular use of AYER'S PILLS. He says: "I was feeling sick and tired and my stomach seemed all out of order. I tried a number of remedies, but none seemed to give me any relief until I was induced to try the old reliable AYER'S PILLS. I have taken only one box, but I feel like a new man. I think they are the most pleasant and easy to take of anything I ever used, being so finely sugar-coated that even a child will take them. I urge upon all who are in need of a laxative to try AYER'S PILLS. They will do good."
