On June 1st there was frost in many places in this State.

There were fully six thousand people in town last Saturday.

The Baptist Sunday school had a picnic at Finch's mill yesterday.

Tell your neighbor that the Advance proposes to deal fairly with everybody.

Do not grumble at your lot in life. Ordinarily people get as much as they deserve.

Respectful attention was given to the speakers last Saturday by the Democrats who were present.

Court has about completed the criminal docket. The civil docket will probably be taken up this morning.

Our bright and sparkling contemporary, the Newbern Courier, has discontinued its daily issue, and will henceforth issue the weekly alone.

Last Friday the Methodist Sunday School had a picnic at Finch's Mill. The little ones and the big ones thus had a day of recreation and pleasure.

Reports from the country are to the effect that crops are looking moderately well notwithstanding the cold weather that has prevailed for some time.

Our friends from the country tell us that the ADVANCE is very popular with all parties, because it is fair in its utterances. Tell your neighbor about it.

Last Saturday the campaign in this county opened by the Populists. The rattle of musketry was then heard, but the roar of cannon will soon follow.

We return thanks to Prof. Dred Peacock for an invitation to attend the closing exercises of Greensboro Female College which came off June 6th and 7th.

Grape brandy, B. B. brandy, Scuppernon, Claret, Sherry, Mish, Port, and many other wines at the famous saloon for table or medicinal use.

WALLACE BATCHELOR, Prop.

We have received a nicely gotten up invitation to the commencement exercises of the North Carolina College of Agriculture and Mechanic Arts, which takes on June 17th-20th. We return thanks for same.

Underbury, undersell. That's the way it is done at the Cash Racket Stores. Lookout for the new ad. in the next issue about glass ware. Sparkling tumblers at 3c. each, and many brilliant beauties in new glass.

Last Thursday the Graded School closed its work for the year. The attendance has been quite large and the year has been a quite successful one. The teachers and pupils will now get the rest which many of them, no doubt, need.

Wallace Batchelor, proprietor of the Famous saloon, is headquarters for the famous old 4x Manhattan rye, eight years old, and the old Monogram rye, and Pamlico club and 1888 Cabinet rye, none purer or better for drink or family use. Try them.

Judge Bynum said, in his charge to the grand jury last Monday, that in 1892 there were one hundred and fifty-six cases of homicide before the courts of North Carolina. Of that number sixty-four were convicted and two were punished. What is the matter with justice in the old North State? Is it too blind?

At the meeting of the Justices last Monday, Mr. Jno. L. Bailey made a motion to abolish the office of County Treasurer, saying that either one of the banks here would keep the money for the county without charge. That motion was lost by a big majority.

Prof. Silas E. Warren, who has been sick for quite a long time, we regret to say is no better. There has been no material change in his condition for two or three days. His condition is very critical, but his friends still hope for a change for the better.

The Famous saloon on east side Goldsboro St., just back of the Briggs' Hotel, is the place to go, and is headquarters for the boys and traveling men. Everything new and neat. Electric lights and fans. No flies. WALLACE BATCHELOR, Proprietor.

Closed Out. The stock of goods assigned by J. T. McCraw to J. T. Wiggins some weeks ago has been about closed out to W. J. Harris and others, Mr. Harris buying the larger portion of them. Some merchants from the country, whose names we did not learn, bought a large portion.

Attention Teachers. Mr. W. P. Wooten, secretary of the board of trustees of the Wilson Public Schools, requests us to say that all persons who wish to make application for positions as teachers, in the Wilson Graded Schools, both white and black, must send their application to him some time this week. He desires all application to be in hand at the earliest practicable day.

Rescinded. We are requested to announce that the Tobacco Board of Trade of this place rescinded last Saturday the resolution expelling Mr. C. E. Ballou on the fifth of last March, Mr. Ballou having arranged his indebtedness with Messrs. Branch & Co. in a satisfactory manner and they having withdrawn all charges. Mr. Ballou was present before the Board and presented his petition himself.

A Portrait of our Late Bishop. There is an exhibition at Hargrave's drug store, a beautiful portrait of the late Rt. Rev. T. B. Lyman, Bishop of North Carolina. The portrait was painted from life, by Miss Mollie Nixon, of Raleigh. Miss Nixon is a niece of Mr. Geo. H. Wainwright, of this place. The picture was brought to Wilson by Mrs. Wainwright with a view to selling same to some of the church people of the town.

Meeting of Aldermen. Last Monday, in accordance with the law, the town commissioners that were elected in May met for the purpose of organizing and electing the town officers for the ensuing year. Col. J. F. Bruton was elected mayor, Jno. R. Moore was re-elected clerk, and J. R. Uzzell, city attorney. The salary of the mayor was reduced from five hundred dollars a year to three hundred, and those of the policemen were reduced five dollars per month.

Meeting of Magistrates. On Monday the Justices of the Peace met in annual session in the court house for the purpose of transacting the regular yearly business, namely, to elect a board of County Commissioners, Superintendent of Public Instruction, and to levy taxes. After organizing, the chairman of the county commissioners reported the amount of taxes collected last year, and recommended that the same levy be made for this year. The recommendation was adopted by vote.

The following board of county commissioners was elected for the ensuing year: Jno. D. Wells, W. W. Farmer, Jonathan Tomlinson, W. D. P. Sharp, and Perry Renfrow. All these are old members of the board except Mr. Sharp, who was elected to succeed Mr. Shade Felton.

Mr. Jas. W. Hays was elected Superintendent of Public Instruction over Mr. J. D. Bardin, the present incumbent, by a close vote, 25 to 26. The meeting then adjourned.

Superior Court. Superior court met in regular session here Monday morning, Judge John Gray Bynum presiding. The Judge's charge to the Grand Jury was clear and concise occupying about one hour in its delivery. No member of that Jury can go wrong if he follows closely the instructions laid down.

The criminal docket has been under consideration the most of the week, and many offenders have been made to feel that the way of the transgressor is hard.

Among the visiting lawyers we noticed Messrs. W. S. O. B. Robinson, and F. A. Daniels, of Goldsboro, Bruce Williams, of Burgaw, R. A. P. Cooley and Ben Taylor, of Nashville, J. A. Farmer, of Dunn, and Col. Tom Taylor and T. T. Thorn, of Rocky Mount. So far it is a successful session of court. Judge Bynum is particularly impartial in his rulings.

Reports of correspondents of the Weekly Weather Crop Bulletin are to the effect that unfavorable conditions have existed for the growth of crops for the week ending June 4th. Cool weather has prevailed, and frost appeared in some places on the 1st of June. Rain has been badly distributed, there being plenty of it in the eastern section, but but little or none in the west.

Go to the Famous saloon for any thing you want to eat or drink and you will be pleased. I have a nice restaurant connected with my saloon where you can get any thing you want to eat that the market affords, and prepared by one of the best cooks in the State, polite and accommodating servants. Come to see me at the famous saloon of the boys. Respectfully, WALLACE BATCHELOR, Prop.

FREMONT FLASHES.

The commencement exercises of Mrs. Speight's school, located at this place, came off the latter part of last week, with great eclat. The rendition of the pieces by the pupils was fine. Taken altogether, it is a school any town might well be proud of. The instruction is thorough, and all the teachers are finely educated, and Christian ladies; all pupils committed to their charge, receive a thorough training in all the arts and science of modern teaching. The crowd was the largest ever attended commencement exercises at this place and all went merry as marriage bells. The district ought to sustain and patronize this school.

On Friday morning Rev. T. N. Ivey, of Wilson, preached the sermon, which was well received and highly spoken of.

On the evening of the same day, Hon. C. B. Aycock, who was raised here, by honest, hard working parents, the pride of the family, what few are left, most of them having crossed over the river, and whom we all call our boy, delivered the address. Subject, "Work." Charles was in one of his happiest moods, and ever is when speaking to home people, because there is an innate feeling, animated and inspiring, and reveals amid high, lofty, and holy things. That speech added another laurel to his brow, and wreathed around his heart the immortalities of affection from a people who love to honor true manhood, and nobility of soul, principles implanted in man by Him who said "Let there be light, and there was light."

The people have had their eyes turned toward Washington as the means of their political salvation, to these many months watching, waiting, listening, reading, and yet no relief has come, not even a silver lining to the dark and lowering clouds, yet it is imperative that something should be done, if there can be by legislation, to relieve the people. Promises and pledges made should be redeemed and Democratic principles should be carried out, which would relieve the many from paying tribute to the few; that is not democracy and the people know it.

The mud sill principles of Democracy teach me that the people should rule, and that taxation should not be heavier on one class than another, that is, every man should pay according to what he is worth. The people object to a high tariff, they are not benefited by it, and that is what the government was instituted for, the benefit and protection of the people, and if it does not do that, then it is a failure, and the failure is palpable to all eyes. Protecting a few to the detriment of the many is down right robbery, or, as Bill Arp would call it, stealing. It is time to call a halt, and come back to an honest, economical, Democratic administration of public affairs. The people demand it and their demands must be obeyed.

The trial of the railroad negroes at this place did not amount to much, the one who bought the goods under false pretense, paid for them and cost, and was turned Scott free. Two others offered resistance to arrest were tried and bound over to court.

JEFF. M. JENKINS. Most of our ailments come from a disordered liver which Simmons Liver Regulator cures.

Governor Hogg's Quart Bottles. "Do you know that you rarely see a quart bottle? I mean by that a bottle that holds a quart," said B. B. Hart of Mineola, Tex., at the Lindell. "A few years ago, when Jim Hogg, who is now governor of the state of Texas, was prosecuting attorney of Wood county, he filed complaint against every liquor dealer in the county who had a quart license. He had been investigating the matter and found that the bottles they were selling for quarts would hold only a pint and a half. A little figuring showed that there was a saving to the dealer of 11 gallons of whiskey on every barrel he sold by the quart. Scores of cases were filed against each dealer, but on every dealer pleading guilty to one case and promising to sell full quarts in the future the court dismissed the other cases.

"Full quarts were ordered, but when these came they lacked a gill of holding the necessary amount of liquid. Jim Hogg was inexorable and showed the whiskey dealer that he was not complying with the statute, and that he would insist on the law being carried out to the letter. Another order was sent for quart bottles, and as there were none in the market they had to be specially made, and to this day these are known in Wood county as the Jim Hogg quarts. They hold a standard quart, and many an old druggist granger keeps one, and when he wants his liquor he takes his bottle with him to town." - St. Louis Post-Dispatch.

Greely and the Newspaper Assistants. The Tribune was not inspired by Greely. It really came from the gifted young man who were attracted to the Tribune because of its independence and high literary standard. Greely was generous to honest, well-meaning thought, whether he accepted it or not, and he was a purist as to form. So in time, beginning with the advent of Ripley, escaped from the ruins of his Brook farm - or as Carlyle, if I remember, called it, "potato gospel" - experiment, until the coming of Sydney Howard Gay, who had been Garrison's collaborator in anti-slavery. The Tribune, in spite of Greely - rather by reluctant, grumbling acquiescence than his judgment - was governed by men who had a fanatical aversion to slavery. They were resolute, brilliant, capable, irresponsible, intolerant - not above setting things on fire for the fun of seeing them burn.

They attracted Greely by their sincerity and charmed his keen literary sense with their gifts. They won The Tribune, and carried its editor with them. I fancy the attitude of Greely toward The Tribune in the early days was a blending of wondering admiration and despair - something of the feeling with which, as we read in children's story books, the affectionate mother hen sees that her chickens are, after all her brooding cares, ducks and will go quacking into the stream. I can conceive no wider divergence in intellectual opinion and to the means of attaining moral and political ends than between Mr. Greely, a leader and thinker and the wayward forces which surrounded him in the making of The Tribune. "I never," he once said to the writer, "opened The Tribune in those days without terror as to what they might make up their minds to do at night." - Lippincott's.

True Heroism. It should be an important part of the education of every child to form within him a true and worthy conception of heroism and to enable him to recognize it wherever it exists. Too often his only idea of it is found in the sensational romance or in the examples around him of men who for praise or glory or gain will do daring deeds and manifest a physical bravery, often at a fearful cost to their fellow men. Let us give them a true ideal and allow them a higher example. - Philadelphia Ledger.
