

The Wilson Advance,

By The Advance Publishing Company.

PUBLISHED EVERY FRIDAY.

Entered in the Post Office at Wilson, N. C., as second class mail matter.

For the cause that lacks assistance, For the wrong that needs resistance, For the future in the distance, And the good that we can do."

SUBSCRIPTION PRICE:

ONE YEAR..... $1.00

SIX MONTHS..... .50

Remit by draft, post-office order or registered letter at our risk. Always give post-office address in full.

Advertising Rates furnished on application.

No communication will be printed without the name of the writer being known to the Editor. Address all correspondence to

THE ADVANCE, Wilson, N. C.

FRIDAY, July 5, 1894.

PRENDERGAST, the man who killed Carter Harrison last year, has been sentenced to be hanged on July 13th.

ON WEDNESDAY the trustees of Trinity College elected Dr. Collins Denny, of Vanderbilt University, Nashville, Tenn., as President.

ON SATURDAY the Teachers' Assembly adjourned. Capt. C. B. Denison, of Raleigh, was elected President, and E. G. Harrell, of Raleigh, was elected Secretary. About one hundred teachers attended the meetings.

WE HAVE been informed that Northampton county decided last week to hold primaries for all county offices as well as to express preference for United States Senator. We have not seen any record of this.

LAST Tuesday the tariff bill passed the Senate by a majority of five. Senator Hill was the only Democrat who voted against it. Allen and Kyle, Populists, voted with the Democrats. Peffer voted with the Republicans.

M. PERIER has been elected President of France. He was elected on the first ballot in the chamber of deputies over all opposition by over fifty majority. The election was conducted very bitterly, however, and there were several knock downs. France as a republic does not seem to be much better than France as a monarchy.

Last Wednesday the Republican convention of the Second Congressional district met in Weldon, and after wrangling for a day and night, adjourned, after declaring H. P. Cheatham was nominated, which was denied by one-half the delegates. White's friends declare that he was, or should have been, nominated, and Cheatham's friends are just as demonstrative for him. Two Republican candidates, one populist, and one Democrat will afflict the voters of this district this year.

MONDAY a motion was made in the Senate to strike out the one-eighth cent tax on refined sugar, and it looked one moment like it was going to be carried. The vote was a tie, when Senator Quay rushed into the hall and voted with the Democrats to retain the tax. Quay saved the sugar trust from defeat. He was the only Republican that voted in the interest of the sugar trust. No wonder, he had had sugar in his tea before this.

Of all strikes that have taken place in recent years the great Pullman man strike now in progress in Chicago and the west is, perhaps, the most formidable. More than one hundred thousand employes have thrown down their tools and blocked travel on the great western roads.

In Chicago, and elsewhere in Illinois, the trains have been stopped and passengers cannot get food or water. The strikers ordered all hotels and restaurants to refuse to supply food to the passengers on those trains, and the water supply was cut off, thus leaving the passengers, who were women and children as well as men, without the necessities of life.

WAKE FOREST COLLEGE.

We call the attention of our readers to the advertisement of this well known institution, which begins its 60th session on the 5th of September next. It is what it claims to be, a distinctly Christian college. It seeks to give the highest culture under the spirit and influence of the best type of Christianity. Its sons are found filling high and honored positions in almost every state in the Union. Three of the six honorary scholarships given North Carolina by Johns Hopkins University this year, have been awarded to Wake Forest men. Its faculty represents the culture and scholarship of Johns Hopkins, Washington and Lee, and the University of Virginia. Pres. Harper of the great Chicago University recently said: "Wake Forest college is the best college in the South."

The college claims to offer thorough scholarship in a religious atmosphere at a minimum cost.

DEMOCRATIC PRIMARIES.

Below we print a short selection from the letter of Senator Jarvis in regard to the propriety of holding primaries to decide the question of the Senatorship. Immediately following it we give a few sentences from one of our State exchanges:

"I am aware of the fact that there has been a suggestion that such a course as I propose will tend to disorganize the party. I do not take any stock in that objection. I do not believe there is anything in it. It does not seem to me that a party can be disorganized by letting the voters themselves say who shall be the candidates of the party."

Senator JARVIS. "We will let the Senator's letter speak for itself. As to the plan he proposes, we are absolutely opposed to it. We have in several editorials given expression to views in the matter, and should the occasion arise we shall do so again. We regard this proposition as destructive of Democratic success, and we insist that this departure from precedent and custom is uncalled for and dangerous.—State Ex.

We give these two readings not for the purpose of attacking anybody, for we love not controversy. We give them simply to show how fuddled certain politicians become when the proposition is made to let the people speak.

As Senator Jarvis says we see no reason why it should disorganize the party for the people to decide the matter. On the other hand we do see how the party is in great danger of disorganization if the politicians decide it.

Unlike our contemporary we cannot see that the proposition to leave the matter to the people would be dangerous. We are not of that kind that dread the verdict of the people. We are too Democratic to consent to the proposition to ignore the people in this matter. Democracy means people ruling, and our contemporary seems to dread that. We don't dread a Democracy, but we do dread an oligarchy.

Some of our Western exchanges seem to think that the course advocated by Mr. Jarvis would result in electing both Ransom and Jarvis to the Senate, thus shutting out the West entirely. We think that is an erroneous conception of the plan. The cast does not want both Senators. The object for the primaries is for the State to decide between Ransom and Jarvis. With that matter settled, the primary idea will not be further necessary.

Senator Jarvis has said that he does not wish to usurp the rights of the West, and shall only stand for election to succeed Senator Ransom. If he is defeated in that, then, if we understand his position, he will retire from the race.

REPUBLICAN CAPERS.

Senator Cameron's recent letter to the convention of Republican clubs at Denver has caused a smile to go round the country. In that letter he advocates the free coinage of silver. If the convention had been held in any other place than Denver a great guffaw from the delegates would have no doubt careered toward the ceiling. But being in Denver, the capital of the silver country, the convention looked upon it as a little complimentary talk to the Colorado Republicans.

Ex-speaker Reed, of late, has been speaking across the continent to the Pacific country about silver also. He is a funny man, and he can't help doing funny things. Reed is not broken if he has been sat down upon. He is distinctly not a broken reed.

Really these capers by Messrs. Reed and Cameron are laughable. Do they really mean what they say, or are they trifling with the silver advocates? Is it possible that the Republican party is about to sit down on the stool of repentance? Is the penitential tear really about to start from their dry sockets?

What do Reed, Cameron, and the Republicans mean when they talk about the free coinage of silver anyway? Surely they have not seen the error of twenty years, and desire to rectify the great wrong of 1873? We can hardly believe it. The country can rest assured that their consciences have not become so tender all at once. It is a mere ruse. It is a trick. It is a stratagem. Timeo Danaos et dona ferentes.

Senator Cameron wants the presidency. So does Mr. Reed. They wish to hoodwink the western Republicans, and the dissatisfied Democrats and Populists throughout the country, and gather them into the Republican fold. It is a real old Trojan story. It is as ingeniously a constructed trick as that of Epus himself. But no one will believe their fair speeches, and hence the strategy will fail.

But this flank movement on the part of the enemy will have its effect. It will open the eyes of Democrats to the importance of doing something to right the wrong that was done in 1873. It will produce a congestion of silver sentiment, which will prove beneficial to the country.

Johnson's chill and fever tonic a guaranteed cure. For sale by B. W. Hargrave.

WHO'S RIGHT.

The Teachers' Assembly at Morehead this year was a flash in the pan so far as the attendance of teachers was concerned. Only about sixty were there. There was a considerable gathering of the unprofessionals—mere "lookers on in Vienna."—Wilmington Messenger.

The official records show that the total number of persons who have attended the session of the Teachers' Assembly is 1,674. * * * The attendance was more than half actual teachers and school officers, including a very large number of young men and women who are just beginning to teach.—Cor. News and Observer.

What's the matter with Truth? Have the plague printers played the deuce with the type?

Commented.

To the Democrats of Wilson county:—An examination of the vote on this county two years ago shows that, in a delegated Convention based upon one delegate (or one vote) for each 500 democratic votes cast at that election, Wilson township will have more votes than the balance of the county combined. We want in this year of so much importance to us, when so much is at stake, when it is so much desired that we keep a democratic judiciary, a democratic legislature, and democratic county officers, a full expression from every Democrat in the County. While it is a rule that the precinct giving the largest democratic vote at the preceding election is entitled to the largest vote in our conventions, yet in a time like this, when we need all the strength and all the unanimity possible, it is only fair that every democrat should be given an opportunity to indicate his preference for candidates for whom he must vote and express his opinion in regard to men and measures generally. The primary affords the only opportunity to do this. If we insist upon a few delegates assembling in the Court House and setting up candidates for the County offices and the legislature a large number of the democrats of the county, whose votes are necessary to elect these candidates, will be deprived of the privilege of expressing any preference whatever. There are a number of Democrats who stand ready to vote the regular democratic ticket whether such candidates as they desire are nominated or not; but there are a number of good men in this county who will vote into these primaries and will vote the ticket gotten out thereby who will not vote for candidates set up by the delegates of Wilson township. The time has passed when men are to be driven and whipped into ranks by the color line. We want fair play, and a full expression of the preference of the people who are to vote for candidates, and our executive committee respectfully asked to call primaries in ample time.

Literary Notes.

The Review of Reviews offers its Fourth-of-July greeting to American citizenship in the form of a thoughtful discussion of vital, political, and social questions, and particularly of the so-called "new sectionalism" that is apparently arraying the West against the East. Several pages of the July number are given to letters from Western men describing Western economic conditions and movements. This publicity to Western views is given at this time with a view to promoting better understanding and mutual respect between the sections.

In the June number of the North American Review are many articles of great value to those who wish to keep up with the run of the times. Among other things we noticed the last words on the South Carolina Liquor Law by Gov. Tillman and the Mayor of Darlington. There are other thoughtful pieces by distinguished writers.

MOREHEAD CITY, N. C., June 27. The Association of County Superintendents met here yesterday, and was called to order by the President, Supt. Wilkinson of Edgecombe county.

The first business was the election of officers for the ensuing year. Supt. Wilkinson was elected President, and Supt. E. P. Ellington of Rockingham county, Vice President. Supt. James W. Hays of Wilson county, was elected Sec'y.

Superintendent W. J. Young of the school of the Blind in Raleigh, was introduced to the Association by State Superintendent Scarborough and invited to a seat among us by the President.

The Association was then addressed by the State Supt. of Public Instruction, J. C. Scarborough. He gave, in an exceedingly interesting manner, briefly a history of the institution of County Supt. of Public Instruction, its object and its environments. He spoke earnestly of the necessity of the office, and the duty of magnifying its importance, and forcibly pointed out the means by which this could be done—urging upon all to become leaders in their respective counties in educational thought and progress. The remarks were timely, and furnished additional evidence that Mr. Scarborough is the right man in the right place, and that the educational interest of North Carolina, in respect to Public schools, is safe in his hands.

It was suggested that the Superintendents of the various counties of the State be called together in the city of Raleigh some time previous to or during the session of the Legislature to consult together with the State Superintendent in reference to the needs of the public schools. This matter was interesting and enthusiastically discussed by the following county superintendents: E. M. Koonce of Onslow, R. G. Kizer of Rowan, M. L. Shipman of Transylvania, L. M. Conyers of Nash, S. Wilkinson of Edgecombe, E. P. Ellington of Rockingham, and W. H. Ragsdale of Pitt.

On motion of Supt. Ragsdale of Pitt county, the entire matter, both as to the necessity and time of the meeting, was left to the discretion of State Superintendent.

The necessity of putting new life into the Association was vigorously urged by the most of the superintendents present and for the furtherance of this end, on motion of the Sec'y., superintendents W. H. Ragsdale, of Pitt, E. M. Koonce of Onslow, and R. G. Kizer, of Rowan were appointed a committee to draft a Constitution and By-Laws for the government of the Association, and submit the same at the next meeting of the body. The secretary was also instructed to issue a circular letter to all the superintendents of the State, soliciting their hearty co-operation in the work. Dr. McIver of the State Normal and Industrial school being present responded to an invitation in some interesting remarks upon the subject of public education.

The meeting was interesting, enthusiastic and instructive, and will doubtless result in infusing new life into the organization.

After having been in session about four hours, the Association adjourned subject to the call of the State Superintendent.

F. S. WILKINSON, President. J. W. HAYS, Sec'y.

Got Away With Them.

We hear it whispered that a Durham man was in New York a few days ago and by some means fell in with some "green goods" men. It was the usual case—they were to give the Durham man so much money for a small sum of the genuine coin. He had them to count it out, which they did, and our Durham man wanted to leave right away, but he was told it would be unsafe to leave with so much money in a loose state and they would seal it up. They proceeded to do so. A package was fixed up and every thing appeared to be all right. The Durham man took his package, shook it, and said it seemed to be there but before he paid over his cash he preferred to look at it again. After some parrying the seals were broken, the package opened, and running his thumb over the edge of the pile, he found a stack of green paper, with a good bill on top. The "green goods" men were very much surprised and acknowledged that they had been caught at their own game. They offered to take the Durham man all over the city and show him every courtesy, but he declined and walked out saying he did his own traveling and paid his own expenses. Not every one who fools with "green goods" men are so fortunate as this man.—Durham Sun.

July Hangings.

July, 1894, will be a memorable month in North Carolina for carrying into execution of death sentences. On the 2nd and 3rd hangings will take place in Montgomery county, on the 13th four more will hang in the same county, also on the same day there will be two hangings in Franklin county, and on the 30th two more in Montgomery county, ten in these two counties all for murder.—Salisbury Herald.

Sold throughout the world. POTTER DARTO AND CURRY, CORP., Sole Proprietors. "All about the Blood, Skin, Scalp, and Hair," mailed free.

Baby Blemishes, falling hair, and red, rough hands prevented and cured by Cuticura Soap.

WOMEN FULL OF PAIN. Find in Cuticura Anti-Pain Plaster, instant and grateful relief. It is the first and only pain-killing, strengthening plaster.

FOR TWO CENTS (a stamp) any reader of the ADVANCE can have a sample copy of THE SOUTHERN MAGAZINE by dropping a line to its publishers at Columbia Building, Louisville, Ky., and can obtain a club rate on the magazine and this paper by addressing the publishers of THE ADVANCE.

if you feel weak and all worn out take BROWN'S IRON BITTERS

See the great bargains we are offering in our different lines of goods.

E. R. GAY, Privett & Churchwell, Tarboro St., Wilson, N. C.

The Old Friend

And the best friend, that never fails you, is Simmons' Liver Regulator, (the Red Z)—that's what you hear at the mention of this excellent Liver medicine, and people should not be persuaded that anything else will do. It is the King of Liver Medicines; is better than pills, and takes the place of Quinine and Calomel. It acts directly on the Liver, Kidneys and Bowels and gives new life to the whole system. This is the medicine you want. Sold by all Druggists in Liquid, or in Powder to be taken dry or made into a tea.

EVERY PACKAGE has the Z Stamp in red on wrapper. J. H. ZELLER & CO., Philadelphia, Pa.

Resolutions of the Board of Trustees.

At a special meeting of the Board of Trustees of the Wilson Graded Schools, called for the purpose of giving expression to the sense of bereavement sustained by the school and community in the death of one of its most faithful and efficient teachers, it was

RESOLVED, That by the death of Miss Sallie Moore, on Friday, the 29th day of June, 1894, the Wilson Graded Schools have been deprived of a teacher of rare accomplishments and power for good.

RESOLVED, That we found in her a harmonious blending of womanly virtues and graces. Her strength of purpose, persistence in all good works, as they were in all that is tender and winning in womanhood, made her a remarkable character. To her the call to duty was as a command from God.

She was kind, generous, frank, free from all guile, a sister of self-sacrificing affection, a friend of unflinching loyalty, a teacher of special fitness, intelligent, well informed, fond of study and apt to teach—a woman filled with true womanliness, and a Christian of unquestioning faith, zealous in all good works, full of "sweet charity." We cherish her memory as one sent to us to teach and illustrate the beauty of Christian womanhood.

RESOLVED, That as a testimonial of our esteem the Secretary be directed to spread these resolutions on the records of the Board of Trustees. That a copy be furnished the town papers for publication and a copy be furnished the parents of the deceased.

Resolutions of the Town Commissioners.

WHEREAS, by the death of Miss Sallie Moore, announced this afternoon, the clerk of this Board, Mr. Jno. R. Moore, her father, has suffered an irreparable loss, therefore be it RESOLVED, 1st, That the Board of Commissioners of the town of Wilson in meeting assembled, declare its deep sympathy for the deceased's devoted father and other relatives.

2nd, That in the death of Miss Moore the community loses a young lady who has endeared herself to the children of the town by her efficient and faithful services as teacher in our Graded Schools.

3rd, That out of respect to the bereaved this board do now adjourn.

W. F. WOODARD, VICE-PRESIDENT STEVENSON attended and took part in the fourth of July exercises at Greensboro yesterday.

When my little girl was one month old, she had a scab form on her face. It kept spreading until she was completely covered from head to foot. Then she had boils. She had forty on her head at one time, and more on her body. When six months old she did not weigh seven pounds, a pound and a half less than at birth. Then her skin started to dry up and get so hard she could not shut her eyes to sleep, but lay with them half open. About this time, I started using the CUTICURA. Remedies, and in one month she was completely cured. The doctor and drug bills were over one hundred dollars. The CUTICURA bill was not more than five dollars. My child is now strong, healthy, and large as any child of her age (see photo), and it is all owing to CUTICURA. Yours with a Mother's Blessing, Mrs. (Mrs.) H. TUCKER, Jr., 632 Walker St., Milwaukee, Wis.

Old Virginia Sherouts, Honey Dew Cigarettes, Cross Cut Cigarettes, Old Dominion Cigarettes. Snuff of all kinds at BOYKIN & CO'S.

Star Lye, Mendelson's Lye, Thompson's Lye, River Side Soap, Starch, Gold Dust at BOYKIN & CO'S.

Horford's, Good Luck, and Rex Baking Powders at BOYKIN & CO'S.

All kinds of country produce bought and sold at BOYKIN & CO'S.

All kinds of Base Ball fixtures at BOYKIN & CO'S.

Rocky Mount Butter 30 cts. per Pound at BOYKIN & CO'S.

NEW TIME IT IS ABSOLUTELY THE BEST SEWING MACHINE MADE

WE OR OUR DEALERS can sell you machines cheaper than you can get elsewhere. THE NEW TIME Sewing Machine is made of the best material and other High Art and Durable Sewing Machine for $20.00. Call on our agent or write to us. We want your trade, and for this reason we are making a special offer. We will give you a $5.00 discount on any machine you buy from us, or our agents.

THE NEW HOME SEWING MACHINE CO. CHICAGO, ILL. BOSTON, MASS. ST. LOUIS, MO. PHOENIX, ARIZ. SAN FRANCISCO, CALIF. PORTLAND, ORE. SEATTLE, WASH. SPOKANE, IDAHO. DENVER, COLO. SALT LAKE CITY, UTAH. LOS ANGELES, CALIF. SAN ANTONIO, TEX. HOUSTON, TEX. MEMPHIS, TENN. JACKSONVILLE, FLA. MIAMI, FLA. FOR SALE BY

Privett & Churchwell, Tarboro St., Wilson, N. C.

if you feel weak and all worn out take BROWN'S IRON BITTERS

See the great bargains we are offering in our different lines of goods.

E. R. GAY, Privett & Churchwell, Tarboro St., Wilson, N. C.

Kirby Stone—I hate to mention it, dear, but I must tell you that business has been awfully poor lately. If you could economize a little in dresses—wear something plainer. Mrs. Stone—Certainly, dear; I shall order some plainer dresses to-morrow.—Tid Bits.

Beneficial Need Not Read This. Neighbor—I hear your father intends to put up a new house. Who is his builder? Boy—What's that? Why, the—er—one that bosses the job? "Oh! Why, ma, of course."—Good News.

To Ask His Part Naturally. Judge—How did you come to get drunk and raise such a disturbance? Prisoner—Devotion to my profession, your Honor. I am cast for the star part in "Ten Nights in a Barroom," and I want to learn to act my part naturally.—Texas Sittings.

Fishing Dogs. At a certain point all the men and dogs came to a halt. Half the dogs and men then moved further along and the water's edge about two hundred yards. At a concerted signal the dogs were started from their respective points, and swam straight out seaward in single file in two columns. At a wild, sharp cry from all the Alnus the right column wheeled left and the left column wheeled right, until the head of each column met. Then at another signal all of them swam in line toward the shore, advancing more and more in crescentic formation. As they neared the shore, increasing numbers of fish appeared in the shallow water, frightened forward by the splashing of the advancing column of dogs, which, as soon as their feet touched bottom, pounced upon the fishes as quick as a flash. The dogs promptly brought the fish which they had seized to their masters, who cut off the heads and gave each dog the head which belonged to him as his share of the catch. The dog which caught nothing got nothing. I believe this dog drill of the Alnus is entirely unique.—Life with Trans-Siberian Savages.

At a certain point all the men and dogs came to a halt. Half the dogs and men then moved further along and the water's edge about two hundred yards. At a concerted signal the dogs were started from their respective points, and swam straight out seaward in single file in two columns. At a wild, sharp cry from all the Alnus the right column wheeled left and the left column wheeled right, until the head of each column met. Then at another signal all of them swam in line toward the shore, advancing more and more in crescentic formation. As they neared the shore, increasing numbers of fish appeared in the shallow water, frightened forward by the splashing of the advancing column of dogs, which, as soon as their feet touched bottom, pounced upon the fishes as quick as a flash. The dogs promptly brought the fish which they had seized to their masters, who cut off the heads and gave each dog the head which belonged to him as his share of the catch. The dog which caught nothing got nothing. I believe this dog drill of the Alnus is entirely unique.—Life with Trans-Siberian Savages.

At a certain point all the men and dogs came to a halt. Half the dogs and men then moved further along and the water's edge about two hundred yards. At a concerted signal the dogs were started from their respective points, and swam straight out seaward in single file in two columns. At a wild, sharp cry from all the Alnus the right column wheeled left and the left column wheeled right, until the head of each column met. Then at another signal all of them swam in line toward the shore, advancing more and more in crescentic formation. As they neared the shore, increasing numbers of fish appeared in the shallow water, frightened forward by the splashing of the advancing column of dogs, which, as soon as their feet touched bottom, pounced upon the fishes as quick as a flash. The dogs promptly brought the fish which they had seized to their masters, who cut off the heads and gave each dog the head which belonged to him as his share of the catch. The dog which caught nothing got nothing. I believe this dog drill of the Alnus is entirely unique.—Life with Trans-Siberian Savages.

At a certain point all the men and dogs came to a halt. Half the dogs and men then moved further along and the water's edge about two hundred yards. At a concerted signal the dogs were started from their respective points, and swam straight out seaward in single file in two columns. At a wild, sharp cry from all the Alnus the right column wheeled left and the left column wheeled right, until the head of each column met. Then at another signal all of them swam in line toward the shore, advancing more and more in crescentic formation. As they neared the shore, increasing numbers of fish appeared in the shallow water, frightened forward by the splashing of the advancing column of dogs, which, as soon as their feet touched bottom, pounced upon the fishes as quick as a flash. The dogs promptly brought the fish which they had seized to their masters, who cut off the heads and gave each dog the head which belonged to him as his share of the catch. The dog which caught nothing got nothing. I believe this dog drill of the Alnus is entirely unique.—Life with Trans-Siberian Savages.

At a certain point all the men and dogs came to a halt. Half the dogs and men then moved further along and the water's edge about two hundred yards. At a concerted signal the dogs were started from their respective points, and swam straight out seaward in single file in two columns. At a wild, sharp cry from all the Alnus the right column wheeled left and the left column wheeled right, until the head of each column met. Then at another signal all of them swam in line toward the shore, advancing more and more in crescentic formation. As they neared the shore, increasing numbers of fish appeared in the shallow water, frightened forward by the splashing of the advancing column of dogs, which, as soon as their feet touched bottom, pounced upon the fishes as quick as a flash. The dogs promptly brought the fish which they had seized to their masters, who cut off the heads and gave each dog the head which belonged to him as his share of the catch. The dog which caught nothing got nothing. I believe this dog drill of the Alnus is entirely unique.—Life with Trans-Siberian Savages.

At a certain point all the men and dogs came to a halt. Half the dogs and men then moved further along and the water's edge about two hundred yards. At a concerted signal the dogs were started from their respective points, and swam straight out seaward in single file in two columns. At a wild, sharp cry from all the Alnus the right column wheeled left and the left column wheeled right, until the head of each column met. Then at another signal all of them swam in line toward the shore, advancing more and more in crescentic formation. As they neared the shore, increasing numbers of fish appeared in the shallow water, frightened forward by the splashing of the advancing column of dogs, which, as soon as their feet touched bottom, pounced upon the fishes as quick as a flash. The dogs promptly brought the fish which they had seized to their masters, who cut off the heads and gave each dog the head which belonged to him as his share of the catch. The dog which caught nothing got nothing. I believe this dog drill of the Alnus is entirely unique.—Life with Trans-Siberian Savages.

At a certain point all the men and dogs came to a halt. Half the dogs and men then moved further along and the water's edge about two hundred yards. At a concerted signal the dogs were started from their respective points, and swam straight out seaward in single file in two columns. At a wild, sharp cry from all the Alnus the right column wheeled left and the left column wheeled right, until the head of each column met. Then at another signal all of them swam in line toward the shore, advancing more and more in crescentic formation. As they neared the shore, increasing numbers of fish appeared in the shallow water, frightened forward by the splashing of the advancing column of dogs, which, as soon as their feet touched bottom, pounced upon the fishes as quick as a flash. The dogs promptly brought the fish which they had seized to their masters, who cut off the heads and gave each dog the head which belonged to him as his share of the catch. The dog which caught nothing got nothing. I believe this dog drill of the Alnus is entirely unique.—Life with Trans-Siberian Savages.

At a certain point all the men and dogs came to a halt. Half the dogs and men then moved further along and the water's edge about two hundred yards. At a concerted signal the dogs were started from their respective points, and swam straight out seaward in single file in two columns. At a wild, sharp cry from all the Alnus the right column wheeled left and the left column wheeled right, until the head of each column met. Then at another signal all of them swam in line toward the shore, advancing more and more in crescentic formation. As they neared the shore, increasing numbers of fish appeared in the shallow water, frightened forward by the splashing of the advancing column of dogs, which, as soon as their feet touched bottom, pounced upon the fishes as quick as a flash. The dogs promptly brought the fish which they had seized to their masters, who cut off the heads and gave each dog the head which belonged to him as his share of the catch. The dog which caught nothing got nothing. I believe this dog drill of the Alnus is entirely unique.—Life with Trans-Siberian Savages.

At a certain point all the men and dogs came to a halt. Half the dogs and men then moved further along and the water's edge about two hundred yards. At a concerted signal the dogs were started from their respective points, and swam straight out seaward in single file in two columns. At a wild, sharp cry from all the Alnus the right column wheeled left and the left column wheeled right, until the head of each column met. Then at another signal all of them swam in line toward the shore, advancing more and more in crescentic formation. As they neared the shore, increasing numbers of fish appeared in the shallow water, frightened forward by the splashing of the advancing column of dogs, which, as soon as their feet touched bottom, pounced upon the fishes as quick as a flash. The dogs promptly brought the fish which they had seized to their masters, who cut off the heads and gave each dog the head which belonged to him as his share of the catch. The dog which caught nothing got nothing. I believe this dog drill of the Alnus is entirely unique.—Life with Trans-Siberian Savages.

At a certain point all the men and dogs came to a halt. Half the dogs and men then moved further along and the water's edge about two hundred yards. At a concerted signal the dogs were started from their respective points, and swam straight out seaward in single file in two columns. At a wild, sharp cry from all the Alnus the right column wheeled left and the left column wheeled right, until the head of each column met. Then at another signal all of them swam in line toward the shore, advancing more and more in crescentic formation. As they neared the shore, increasing numbers of fish appeared in the shallow water, frightened forward by the splashing of the advancing column of dogs, which, as soon as their feet touched bottom, pounced upon the fishes as quick as a flash. The dogs promptly brought the fish which they had seized to their masters, who cut off the heads and gave each dog the head which belonged to him as his share of the catch. The dog which caught nothing got nothing. I believe this dog drill of the Alnus is entirely unique.—Life with Trans-Siberian Savages.

At a certain point all the men and dogs came to a halt. Half the dogs and men then moved further along and the water's edge about two hundred yards. At a concerted signal the dogs were started from their respective points, and swam straight out seaward in single file in two columns. At a wild, sharp cry from all the Alnus the right column wheeled left and the left column wheeled right, until the head of each column met. Then at another signal all of them swam in line toward the shore, advancing more and more in crescentic formation. As they neared the shore, increasing numbers of fish appeared in the shallow water, frightened forward by the splashing of the advancing column of dogs, which, as soon as their feet touched bottom, pounced upon the fishes as quick as a flash. The dogs promptly brought the fish which they had seized to their masters, who cut off the heads and gave each dog the head which belonged to him as his share of the catch. The dog which caught nothing got nothing. I believe this dog drill of the Alnus is entirely unique.—Life with Trans-Siberian Savages.

At a certain point all the men and dogs came to a halt. Half the dogs and men then moved further along and the water's edge about two hundred yards. At a concerted signal the dogs were started from their respective points, and swam straight out seaward in single file in two columns. At a wild, sharp cry from all the Alnus the right column wheeled left and the left column wheeled right, until the head of each column met. Then at another signal all of them swam in line toward the shore, advancing more and more in crescentic formation. As they neared the shore, increasing numbers of fish appeared in the shallow water, frightened forward by the splashing of the advancing column of dogs, which, as soon as their feet touched bottom, pounced upon the fishes as quick as a flash. The dogs promptly brought the fish which they had seized to their masters, who cut off the heads and gave each dog the head which belonged to him as his share of the catch. The dog which caught nothing got nothing. I believe this dog drill of the Alnus is entirely unique.—Life with Trans-Siberian Savages.

At a certain point all the men and dogs came to a halt. Half the dogs and men then moved further along and the water's edge about two hundred yards. At a concerted signal the dogs were started from their respective points, and swam straight out seaward in single file in two columns. At a wild, sharp cry from all the Alnus the right column wheeled left and the left column wheeled right, until the head of each column met. Then at another signal all of them swam in line toward the shore, advancing more and more in crescentic formation. As they neared the shore, increasing numbers of fish appeared in the shallow water, frightened forward by the splashing of the advancing column of dogs, which, as soon as their feet touched bottom, pounced upon the fishes as quick as a flash. The dogs promptly brought the fish which they had seized to their masters, who cut off the heads and gave each dog the head which belonged to him as his share of the catch. The dog which caught nothing got nothing. I believe this dog drill of the Alnus is entirely unique.—