He who votes the fusion ticket should ask himself the question: Will better government prevail? the fusionists are successful?

WHEN a man casts his ballot next week he should know well the import of that ballot. He should ask himself why he votes as he does.

IF you believe in joining hands with the Republican enemies of good government, vote the fusion ticket headed by Faircloth and Furches.

IF you believe in tariff reform, vote the Democratic ticket, for the Democratic party is the only party that has ever made any efforts at reform along that line.

HILL is making a gallant fight in New York and says that he is going to win, but the odds are very much against him. The State Democracy is very much divided there, but Hill will win if anybody can.

DEMOCRATS are the only people who have shown any friendliness to silver in this country. The Republicans demonetized it in 1873, and now the Populists are marching to the ballot box arm in arm with them.

POPULISTS have put themselves on record as opposed to the free coinage of silver, not by their words, but by their acts. They have joined hands with a party that is against silver, and in that act endorses these principles.

HAVE the Democratic judges of courts proved derelict to duty? Every body knows they have not. Indeed the courts of North Carolina have been justly famed for their purity since the Republicans were turned down about twenty years ago.

SOME people say that the Democrats have put the price of cotton down to five cents. That is attributing power to the Democracy which they do not possess. The price is fixed in England, and if any American party has any influence there, it is the Republican party, certainly not the Democratic.

IT is usual for our Populist friends to claim that the Democrats have done nothing for the relief of the people. Well, they said that two years ago before the Democrats had a chance to do anything, and it was true. They got wound up then and have been running ever since on the same line. But the charge is false now.

JAS. ANTHONY FROUDE, the great English historian, died last week. He was master of a style that was rich and refreshing. His life of Julius Caesar was one of his masterpieces and was one of the masterpieces of the English language. His essays are particularly bright and instructive. He was one of the greatest writers of this generation.

—Greenville Index: George Spell, a colored man, who works for the Tilgham Lumber Co., in getting on the log train at Falkland Tuesday, slipped and fell under the wheels of the cars and was badly crushed. Drs. say that every bone in his body was broken. The man lived about three hours.

AN UNJUST JUDGMENT.

Two years ago when Populism began to show its head, their leaders made the charge that the Democratic party had done nothing to relieve the distresses of the people. Quite a large portion of the people went into another political organization while the greater part remained faithful to Democratic principles.

Those that left pronounced the charge of the leaders true. They said, "It is a fact that the Democratic party has not performed its duty and is not deserving of our support." Those who remained in the Democratic ranks said, "Yes, it is true that the Democrats have not done anything for the financial relief of the people and the betterment of their condition; but they have not had the chance to do anything yet. They have not had the law making power. Give them that, and if they don't do something then, we will leave the old party also."

The majority of the people looked at it that way, and the Democratic party was installed in power in all branches of the government. They have been there eighteen months. They have been busily engaged in carrying forward remedial legislation. They have passed a tariff law that removes nearly a billion of taxation from the shoulders of the people in a year. That taxation, too, did not go to the support of the government, but went into the pockets of the Northern syndicates and trusts. The government got not a dollar of it. That business has been abolished. They have reformed the pension lists so that enormous sums have been saved that way. They have cut down the expense of the government about fifty million dollars a year, so that taxation need not be so large for the future.

They have done these things. There's the record of them in the departments at Washington? and any body can see for himself if he will go there. Many other things, too, have been done to relieve the people, but these are sufficient.

The arrangement is very simple and convenient. It is not very expensive, as we learn. It comes in as a thing in need, and will doubtless come into general use.

Train burglary has come to be all too common, and railroad companies will be obliged to provide some means to prevent their frequent recurrence.

It was thought for a long time that the eastern part of the United States was safe from such vandalism, but the recent Aquia Creek affair has taught train men that nothing is safe. If the car proves a success they will doubtless be put on all railroads in a short while.

REPUBLICAN DOINGS.

No man of intelligence will deny that every law on the statute books, which has oppressed the people and of which our farmers have complained, was put there by the Republican party.

What party demonetized silver in 1873 and contracted the currency?

What party established National Banks in this country?

What party enacted high tariff laws, put upon the people the odious McKinley law, and built up trusts and monopolies to oppress the great body of the people, and to enrich a few men and corporations at the expense of the toiling millions?

What party placed upon the statute books of the nation those infamous election laws to degrade and destroy freedom of the elections in the South, and provide for supervisors and military force at the polls to intimidate and over awe the State and county officers in conducting the elections of their own officers?

What party voted in Congress recently against the establishment of State banks, thereby continuing the monopoly of National Banks, and preventing an increase of the currency which the people so much need?

What party but recently voted in Congress against the income tax? The Republican party.

The Republican party has done all these things. This will not be denied. And yet the Populist leaders call upon honest farmers and Southern Democrats to go into a fusion with this Republican party, when it is plain, that if such fusion is successful, the result will be the defeat of the Democratic party, and placing in power again of the same wicked party which has passed all the bad laws that oppress us and which have brought the country to the very brink of bankruptcy.

We appeal to honest men to pause before they allow themselves to be led astray by ambitious and corrupt leaders, who are willing to ride into office upon the ruin of their country.

POLITICAL NOTES.

Cooke, the gallant Cooke, will beat Buck Stroud in the fourth by nearly two thousand majority.

Lockhart will go through with a whoop in the sixth, notwithstanding Dockery's stand against him.

BRANCH is somewhat in danger in the first district, but it is believed that he will go through by a small majority.

Henderson will be elected in the seventh, Bower in the eighth and Crawford in the ninth, but the ninth is more doubtful than either of the others.

Woodard in the Second is thought to be safe. This is a Republican district naturally, but Cheatham is not popular with his race and Freeman will carry many negro votes.

The fifth is very close. Settle the Republican candidate is personally very popular, but Graham is popular also. Graham will perhaps pull through with a small majority.

Shaw in the third is having it all his own way if the papers tell the truth. His is a close district, however, and extraordinary developments may come to light at any time. He is believed to be safe.

Vance's Successor.

Up to this writing there are several candidates for the place vacated by the death of the late Senator Vance. They are Capt. Samuel A. Ashe, Judge Armfield, Attorney General Frank Osborne, Maj. Charles M. Stedman, Judge A. C. Avery, ex-Speaker L. S. Overman, ex-Judge James M. Merrimon, and possibly Col. Frank Cox. Ex-Representative W. M. Robbins may also be included among the possibilities. They are all gentlemen of at least fair talents, and two or three have special qualifications that would make them useful and efficient Senators. Who will lead at the start and who will come in ahead at the last stretch and win the much coveted stake is beyond our prophetic ken. There is one of the above who would be sure to rank high in the Senate after a few years, if not sooner, unless we over estimate his abilities, which more than two decades ago impressed us as very considerable. He is a strong man with genuine legislative gifts, or we are mistaken. But we name no one.
