MISS GINGS MEMBERS

HAYWARD CHIEF CONSPIRATOR.

The Murder Was Planned to Secure Miss Ging's Life Insurance Money-The Confession of Janitor Blixt, Who Fired the Fatal Shot at Hayward's Bidding.

MINNEAPOLIS, Dec. 10 .- The confession of Adry Hayward reveals the whole plot by which Miss Catherine Ging, the dresemaker, came to her terrible death on the shore of Lake Calhoun Monday night, Her life had been insured, and she was killed that her lover, Harry Hayward, who instigated the crime, might realize upon the policies, which had been transferred to him. The whole plot was hatched up after the publication of the Holmes insurance swindle, and was unquestionably the outgrowth of it.

Young Hayward, who is of respectable parentage, a swell in society and the betrothed of the daughter of C. J. Bartleson, a leading attorney, seems to have had some strange control of Miss Ging. No breath of scandal had ever attached to her name, yet since her murder it has been developed that she was infatuated with the man, and had repeatedly furnished him large sums of money with which to gamble, she being a partner in his enter-

At first he let her win. She had given him more than $1,000 at a time with which to "play the bank," but after the first play or two he always lost. Finally, when she had no more money, and when he was in desperate straits, he suggested that she embark in business on a larger scale.

He would furnish the capital—$7,000 was the figure. He would secure a loan from a friend if she would insure her life in his favor for $10,000. This she did, and the policies were transferred to Hayward. Then she demanded the mency. He gave 12%c. to 10c. it to her in counterfeit goods. The control which he had over her made it an easy 7 to loc. matter for him to induce her to deposit 20 to 30c. the money in a safety vault instead of banking it, where its worthlessness would be discovered, but she was immediately afterward so determined upon embarking in business that Hayward not only saw exposure from the counterfeit money deal staring him in the face, but realized as well that he would lose the $10,000 insurance on her life.

BRIEF SKETCH OF HIS CAREER.

For Many Years He Served in the Diplomatle Service of France, Being at One Time Minister to Berlin-The Panama Canal Caused His Downfall.

PARIS, Dec. 8.—Cointe Ferdinand de Losseps, died yesterday at Lachennie, near Vatan, in the department of l'Indre. During the night he received the last sacrament, and his physicians remained at his bedside from Thursday evening, from which time his death was expected at every moment. Comte de Lesseps had been in a very feeble condition ever since the Panama canal exposures.

Viscount Ferdinand de Lesseps, G. C. S.

I., was born at Versailles, France, Nov. 19, 1805. In 1826 he entered the diplomatic service as an attache of the consulate at the state, died at his home in Jersey City, Lisbon, and subsequently served in like ositions elsewhere. He was consul at Barcelona in 1842 when that city was bombarded, and was zealous in the protection of the lives and property of French citizens and afforded an asylum to Spaniards on board the vessels of the French fleet. In 1848 M. de Lesseps was appointed French minister to Madrid, but was succeeded by Prince Napoleon Joseph Bonaparte in about a year. The former was then appointed minister to Switzerland but soon after was sent on an important diplomatic mission to Italy.

Comte de Lesseps was among the first to urge the expediency of constructing a canal across the Isthmus of Suez, connect ing the Mediterranean with the Red sea. After unremitting effort for many years he obtained a firman from Said Pasha in 1854, and enlisting French and English capitalists undertook the work, which was vigorously prosecuted to completion despite many obstacles that would have discouraged a less resolute man. Decorations were showered upon him by nearly every sovereign of Europe, and honors were con ferred upon him by learned societies in all parts of the world.

Turning his attention to the new world M. de Lesseps undertook the construction of a canal across the Isthmus of Panama. The new Chinese treaty has arrived in | The original capital of the company, 600,-000,000 francs, was exhausted, when the subscribers refused to advance more money and the enterprise was abandoned. De-Lessens' private fortune was also absorbed in the undertaking, and he was left comparatively poor. He continued his efforts to procure means with which to prosecute the work, but capital was timid, and he was unable to procure the necessary assist-

> Then came the report of fraud in connection with the Panama canal loan and lottery schemes. At first but a marmur, it roar when Deroulede committed snicide and the damning revelations against prominent Frenchmen were published. The storm shivered honored names and tore exalted reputations to tatters in its fury. De Lesseps and his son and three others were found guilty of fraudulent proceedings and were sentenced on Feb. 9, 1893, the elder De Lesseps being heavily fined and condemned to five years' imprisonment. No attempt was made in his case, however, to execute the sentence, which was finally set aside by the court of cessation.

It is doubtful whether the old man ever realized the calamity and the disgrace that had overtaken him. When he was put under arrest at his home he had apparently some vague idea of impending menace to his reputation, and he put on his orders and his star of the Legion of Honor before not molested further, and never knew that he had been tried, convicted and sentenced to five years' imprisonment. Even the fact of his son's sentence was mercifully kept from him, and he was permitted to die in peace. For many months before his death his memory was a blank, and it was only at rare intervals that there was any flash of intelligence in the brain that had once been so active.

In February last Comte de Lesseps resigned the presidency of the Sucz Canal company, and was made honorary president. An effort was made to have him expelled from the Legion of Honor, but it was finally abandoned, and to millions of Frenchmen he remained "Le Grand Francais" to the day of his death.

THE TREATY WITH JAPAN.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 10 .- The new treaty between the United States and Japan is the main subject of comment in diplo matic and official circles today. The treaty shows how fully the United States has accorded Japan the recognition she now has as an entightened, modern nation. Running throughout the new treaty are the concessions recognizing her courts and laws as ample for Americans as well as natives. This is the chief feature of the treaty. The old consular courts, in which United States consuls tried cases at Japan as treaty ports are abandoned. The Pains of Rheumatism

According to the best authorities, originate in morbid conditions of the blood. Lactic acid caused by the decomposition of the gelatinous and albuminous tissues, circulates with the blood and attacks the fibrous tissues. particularly in the joints, and thus causes the local manifestations of the disease. The back and shoulders are the parts usually affected by rheumafism, and the joints at the knees, ankles, hips and wrists are also someimes attacked. Thousands of people have found in Hood's Sarsaparilla a positive and permanent cure for rheumatism. It has had remarkable success in curing the most severe cases. The secret of it is that it attacks at once the cause of the disease by neu-

He Winked the Other Eye. At one of our fashionable boarding nouses the other day a misunderstanding took place that came near resulting seriously. A young man who has a muscular eye affliction that causes an involuntary blinking, was seated at the table in front of a young man and his wife. Every time he looked up from his plate he would apparently wink at the young woman. The husband got madder and madder, as the dinner majority and a minority report, was given be able to solve the problem of these the table. A free fight was likely, but and threw the involuntary winker from mutual friends separated the combatants long enough for an explanation. -Raleigh Press.

Knights of the Maccabees,

The State Commander writes us from Lincoln, Neb., as follows: After trying other medicines for what seemed to be a very obstinate cough in our two children we tried Dr. King's New Discovery and at the end of two days the cough entirely left them. We will not be without it hereafter, as our experience proves that it cures where all other remedies fail."-Signed F. W. IT WILL CURE YOU. RICHMOND, VA., November 18, 1894. I have visited Mr. Swindfords "Arsenic Lithia Water" Spring in Chesterfield County. It is clear and bold, with nothing near to contaminate it. The chemical analysis demonstrates its purity, and long before any analysis was made the spring was much used by peeple residing in the neighborhood because of their experience of its value. I am using it myself as a pleasant and healthful drinking water. Hargrave's Pharmacy, REV. MOSES D. HOGE. SOLE AGENCY.
