A Less Warlike Feeling in England and Germany.

STATEMENT FROM CECIL RHODES.

Me Declares That England Is Entitled to American Sympathy in the Present Crisis. Dr. Jameson and His Followers Will Probably be Deported.

LONDON, Jan. 13 -Interest in the Transvaal question in its immediate bearings has revived to an appreciable extent, while the incidental straining of relations between Great Britain and Germany, which so completely placed the Boers in the background of the picture for a time, has in its turn receded, but by no means disappeared. There is little apprehension of war with Germany, over the present complication at least, and the British public has a reassuring sense that if there is to be a war England is right ready for it. The prompt and efficient measures of the naval authorities, and the formidable show of strength that is the result, gives John Bull a feeling of confidence.

There are no further explicit announcements of a movement looking to an alliance of the powers against England. Nevertheless it is keenly perceived by the public that the sentiment displaye I by the German government has a far wider bearing than the present dispute in the Transvaal, and there are visions of future complications on questions of conflicting in-

Saturday's cabinet councils remains largely a subject of speculation, and whatever decisions may have been taken are sedulously guarded as state secrets, and the greatest care taken to avoid publicity.

Mr. William H. Mercer, private secretary to Colonial Secretary Chamberlain, said last night to a representative of the Associated Press that the secretary had no further telegrams to communicate to the public which had been received from South Africa. The visit of the Prince of Wales to the colonial office on Saturday, he said, just when several of the directors of the Chartered South Africa company were there, was purely an accidental coincidence. His royal highness called, he said, to show his interest, and had made some kind remarks in recognition of Secretary Chamberlain's labors.

This explanation is hardly likely to satlsfy the public, in view of the repeated statements published that the directorship of the Duke of Fife, hasband of Princess Louise of Wales, in the Chartered South Africa company, is a subject of concern to the royal family, and especially to she queen.

It is understood that the difficulty over the manner of disposal of Dr. Jameson's followers was settled on Saturday, the Transvaal government simply stipulating that the rank and file of the Jameson expedition should be deported from South Africa. According to the Transvaal law, the punishment for treason is banishment and a large fine. It is now bilieved here that President Kruger has demanded the abrogation of the London convention, which provides for the suzerainty of Great Britain over the Transvaal, as the price of sparing Dr. Jameson's life.

STATEMENT FROM CECIL RHODES. England Should Have Our Sympathy in the Transvaal Dispute.

NEW YORK, Jan. 13 .- The World today publishes the following dispatch from Cecil J. Rhodes, under date of Capetown, Jan. 12.

"The position is that within the Transvaal there are 70,000 newcomers and an old population of 14,000. With the development of the gold industry to a fuller extent the newcomers will amount to 500,000 in five years, and eventually to a million, probably more. From time to time the position will be upset by the attempts of the new population to claim common civil rights, which eventually they cartainly must get. Statesmanship should give them some rights now, as the present state is impossible for the newcomers, who own more than half the soil of the Transvaal, and nine-tenths of the wealth of the country. The new males outnumber the old five to one, and are composed largely of Americans, including the principal mine

"England is the only great power in South Africa. She is now threatened with resent and resist. In this she should have America's sympathy. Blood is thicker than water. Americans above all nations ty, Va. insist on civil right, in one's industries here at the Cape. In the Transvaal, all my have the spectacle of the two great English speaking nations of the world almost on the verge of war, about some barren land in South America, whereas, working in perfect harmony, the peace of the world would be secured."

North State Guard.

Adjutant-General Cameron's report made to Governor Carr says the strength of the State Guard is 1,567. It is composed of twenty-seven infantry companies and three divisions of naval reserves. The troops are better equipped for service than ever beore. They have abundant clothing, overcoats, blankets, camp equipage, and amunition, and can all be concentrated at any point on a line of railway in thirty-six hours, armned, and fully prepared for at least six months' service. Twice during this year, at Bath and at Winston, the troops aided the civil authorities in preventing seriously threatened riots and bloodshed.

The Fusion Legislature having withdrawn the appropriation for an annual encampment, none was held. The Adjutant-General says it was evidently hoped and believed that the manifest hostility of the Legislature would result in the speedy and voluntary disbandment of the Guard, but the troops stood by their colors and deserve lasting praise.-Weekly Review.
