LOCALS. FOOT BALL.

UNIVERSITY RESERVES VS. WILSON.

Wear Orange and Black—Everybody Come—Help the Boys—See a Good Game of Ball.

The people of Wilson are to see on Friday their first game of real foot ball. The Wilson management has secured a game with the University's second eleven. These men from Chapel Hill, know what foot ball is. They have been the main instruments in making the Varsity which meets the University of Virginia to-day on the gridiron in Richmond. Our men will go into that game determined to win honor for Wilson. While many of us love old U. N. C., yet in a fight for our home, we have the interest of Wilson at heart and all will go into the game determined to win for her new laurels. Every person in Wilson should go out to see this game. Our men need cheering up. Let the young men take every young lady in the city. Let all wear our colors—orange and black. If our team is not supported by home folks it can not be expected that we make much of a record. Give us your support and all in the team will defend the reputation of our charming little metropolis.

Mason's Funeral.

The Masonic funeral of Mr. T. B. Dixon which was to have been held several weeks ago but was postponed on account of the sickness of Mr. Dixon's little girl, will be next Sunday afternoon at half past two o'clock at Maplewood Cemetery. The people of the town are invited to attend the services and all Masons are expected to be in the procession.

MISS BETTIE H. LEE

Nash Street—opposite Cash Racket.

A Treat for Elm City.

On Friday night, Nov. 27th, our townsman, Henry Blount, will deliver his celebrated monologue, "Beyond the Alps lies Italy" in Elm City, and our readers in this section should embrace this opportunity to hear him. The Lenoir Topic says: "This production is a most palatable, a most delicious mixture of good things, and never have our people enjoyed a richer or more sumptuous feast of wit and humor and eloquence and oratory. Henry Blount is unquestionably a genius, for his varied gifts and talents sweep the whole gamut of feelings, and every chord is responsive to his magic touch. One minute he opens the fountain of pathos and glistening tears are trickling; the next, he uplifts the flood gates of merriment, and streams of laughter come rippling. No other man can charm or amuse an audience like he, for he is actor, mimic, humorist, orator—all in one harmonious whole, and we can't tell in which roll he excels, for he is superb in each, and master of all."

Ye Old Folkes Concerte.

For several weeks past many of our young people have been actively engaged in the preparation for the concert of Thursday night, November 19th. A search had been made throughout the town for relics of ye olden times. Old furniture, old dresses and old pictures were made special objects of research. Mrs. Floyd

Davis and Mrs. S. W. Venable were the leaders in the movement. They put their wits together to have the best concert of the season, and there is not one in Wilson who saw the performance Thursday but what will render the decision well done. They had gone into the concert to make a nice evening and well did they succeed.

The costumes deserve special mention. Many of those taking part looked as if they had stepped down from some old picture of years ago to do the honors of the evening. These costumes represented olden styles, yet they had been arranged with a great deal of care and so presented not only a unique but a taking appearance.

At eight o'clock on Thursday night the Opera House was crowded. During the afternoon almost every available seat had been sold. During the few moments of suspense between the arrival of the crowd and beginning of the performance, Mrs. Venable delighted all with renditions of several tunes of ye olden days. But the waiting was not for long for on the curtain was raised exposing a beautiful sight. The opening song, "Old Folkes at Home," was sung in concert by the company and was applauded loudly. The next part was amusing. The fair gallants, who numbered by far the smallest portion of the company, gave an exhibition of ye olden courtesies.

Miss Sudie Wells, posing as Peggy Simms, then gave the audience a fore taste of the treat that was in store for them. A quartette composed of ye men singers next delighted the audience. Their every appearance on the stage was greeted with rounds of applause. In every appearance they did themselves proud. Miss Salie Cotten's rendition of "Mrs. Henry Hawkins" was one of the features of the evening. She was encored for the third time and pleasantly responded with one of her little comic songs which always took down the house. The remainder of the hastily selected program was received with much favor by the audience. Every piece was rendered excellently. Among the attractions of the latter part of the programme was the solo of Miss Borden, of Goldsboro. Her song, while truly of the olden type, was sung with much sweetness. No one would refuse to listen to "Nelly Gray" when sung in such a manner. The solos of Mrs. R. P. Watson and Mrs. Woodard were also taking features. As before the audience knew when it had something good and so did not release the singers until another piece was given. The chorus was composed of Mesdames F. S. Davis, J. A. Cutchin, H. Rountree, S. A. Woodard, E. K. Wright, S. W. Venable, W. P. Anderson, Misses Sudie Wells, Nan Branch, Sue Borden. Messrs. J. M. Wilson, S. M. Bobbitt, W. S. Harriss and S. W. Venable.

EPWORTH LEAGUE MEETS.

Very Enthusiastic Meeting—Large Crowd Present—First Address by Dr. Albert Anderson.

The Epworth League held a devotional meeting on Friday night but owing to the absence of several of the leading members the exercises of the evening were postponed until Monday night. On this occasion a large crowd had gathered to hear the subject, "Young Men and Young Women of the Bible and Their Work," discussed. The audience was the most enthusiastic and the exercises the best that the League has had since its organization in June. Every one seemed to take a personal interest in the evening as an entertaining was the result.

The meeting was opened with devotional exercises, conducted by Rev. Mr. Ivey. After this the regular order of the evening was taken up. It had been arranged that each member should take some character in Bible history which outlined forcibly the work of the young women and young men and give an outline of their life work. Of course not all the members responded, not from any neglect of duty, but because of meekness. They had not been in the work long enough to stand up before an audience and give an original production. Mr. Ivey in the course of his remarks told why the League was formed. Said he, the Methodist church needed some channel through which the energy of its young men and young women could be utilized. This need was at first felt by every denomination and as a result the Sunday School was formed. As the need became greater societies of different natures were formed to reach the different classes which could be reached in no other way. As this came on the work of the church widened. Fields which had never before been worked were filled with enthusiastic laborers. The Epworth League, he said, had many members, the Southern roll includes one million members. Every one of these Leagues contain members who are doing good work for Christ which could be done in no other way. In this way inactive Christians are made active.

Mrs. M. E. Edwards, President of the League, was the next to respond. She gave briefly an outline of Mary the Mother of Jesus. In her paper she brought out the love of a mother. She portrayed very beautifully the love of Mary for her only child, Jesus. Her talk was terse and to the point. She was followed by Miss Edwards who discussed another Mary, the sister of Lazarus, showing in her character implicit trust and devotion to the noble work in which she was engaged.

The address of the evening was made by Dr. Albert Anderson. He took not a Bible young woman or young man but one of today. He raised the question, why are the women of today growing stronger, while the men are growing weaker. In religious work, said he, we find woman taking an active part while the men are as a rule taking back seats. His reason for this was that woman in her deepest moral nature was man's superior. It comes but natural that her to come early into the church, and from thence to go out as a devoted worker, while the youth of the present time found amusement in various other ways. He does not spend his time in the church or prayer meeting because he can spend it more pleasantly, according to his own estimate, at some other place. As a result of the Bible study and church devotion we have a strong man mentally. Dr. Anderson gave an example which has been before the minds of the United States very forcibly for the past three months, William J. Bryan. Said he: "I believe it was by the inspiration that he had gained from a careful study of religion that gave him the power to be the moral and social force that he is today. From this source came a sure conviction and a constant struggle for the principles which he believed were the best for the American people." Had in not been in a church Dr. Anderson would no doubt have been cheered heartily at the close of his address.

He was followed by Mr. Wade Davis who gave an outline of the character of Absolum. He contrasted what might have been the end of his life had he not permitted vengeance to be his ruling passion. He was the pet of a potent family, yet the passion which ruled his life caused him a death of shame.

The meeting was closed by further devotional exercises.

The True Remedy.

W. M. Repine, editor Tiswilka, Ill., "Chief," says: "We won't keep house without Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption, Coughs and Colds. Experimented with many others, but never got the true remedy until we used Dr. King's New Discovery." No other remedy can take its place in our home, as in it we have a certain cure for Coughs, Colds, Whooping Cough, etc. It is idle to experiment with other remedies, even if they are urged on you as just as good as Dr. King's New Discovery. They are not as good, because this remedy has a record of cures and besides is guaranteed. It never fails to satisfy. Trial bottles free at Hargrave's Drug Store.
