We notice that new palings are being put around the lots of Mrs. Eva Davis and Mrs. Ida Wilkins, which, when finished will add much to the appearance of both places.

THE trains on the Petersburg road have been arriving late for the past few days. The cause of the delay is the burning of a bridge on the line of the Pennsylvania Railroad.

THERE was a hop at Whitaker's Tuesday night. Circumstances over which we had no control prevented our attendance. We hope that the boys and girls enjoyed themselves.

WE think we have, five or six thousand tons, some something said about water's lingering in the lap of spring, a highly improper proceeding by the way, but this year the thing is reversed. Spring has set down all over winter.

A big snow storm in the West has blocked up all the railroads and killed large numbers of sheep and cattle. One stockman near Sherman in Wyoming territory lost 10,000 sheep. Several persons were frozen to death.

WANTED.—A few thousand men, women and children to sing about shriek or whistle the "Sweet By-and-By." Those who have strong lungs and good voices can obtain steady employment at good wages by applying to this office.

Col. S. T. CARRIOW, late U. S. Marshal for North Carolina, has opened a hotel in Washington, N. C. We get this item from the Tarboro Southerner of the 14th. Our impression is that Col. Carrrow opened the hotel early in January.

We desire to return thanks to the gentlemen who so kindly lent us their assistance in getting out our last issue, but what makes our life a burden is, that we are afraid people will want us to be sick and put them to work again.

We spent an hour very pleasantly a Gaston last Wednesday. We were unable to gather any news items however, probably from the fact that we spent the whole time laughing at the inimitable jokes of our friends Jesse Carter and D. Clenmon.

An orator recently in winding up one of his flights of eloquence used the quotation from Pope: "An honest man's the noblest work of God." An old man on the outside of the crowd finished the matter by adding: "Yes and the easiest." Carried by a large majority.

CAPT. E. A. THORNE, having finished up his surveying business in this neighborhood has returned home near Littleton. He hopes now to be allowed time to look after his farm, but if any of our readers are compelled to have surveying done they can write to Capt. Thorne and be promptly attended to.

A man has been arrested near Battleboro, giving his name as Jesse Sumpter, J. H. Thomas and Thomas Burgess. He had in his possession a large dark red ox supposed to have been stolen. The man claims to be well known in this section, but gives conflicting accounts of himself. Samuel R. Hilliard of Battleboro, wants information in regard to him.

JOHN HOSKINS is running a bran new engine built out and out at the shops of the Wilmington and Weldon Railroad Company. Under his management she will gain fame for speed. John was engineer on the train that ran from Wilmington to Weldon 180 miles in three hours and forty-two minutes.

We learn from the Tarboro Southerner of the 14th inst., that Senator Ransom has introduced resolutions for the improvement of the life-saving service and that Col. McDaniel's stable has been burned down. It is true that the ROANOKE NEWS printed Senator Ransom's resolutions in full about a month since and told of Col. McDaniel's misfortune the day after it happened in January, but then it is plain to see that our co-temporary has at last found them out and it leads us to hope that before very long now those of our fellow citizens who depend on the Southerner for their information will find out that PAX IV is dead and possibly by the time the next issue of the paper opens they may be informed that Cardinal Redd has been elected pontiff under the name of Leo XIII. There is nothing like having all the news even it does come a little late.

A bright and beautiful child shows in its very expression that its babyhood was not associated with Opium, cordials, etc.—for the continued use of Opium is antagonistic to health. The valuable and highly recommended Remedy for the disorders of babyhood, Dr. Bull's Baby Syrup, is absolutely free from Morphia and all other dangerous agents, and can be safely employed at all times. Only 25 cents per bottle.

The residence of Mr. Wright Hayes, an old and respectable citizen of Enfield, came very near being destroyed by fire Monday night. The fire is supposed to have been caused by the careless throwing of a lighted cigar in a pile of dry timber. But for the dampness of everything many dwelling houses would have probably been burnt.

The handsome and usually urbane Treasurer of Halifax county says that he could stand the spelling of his name McLong in the Tort Field and Farm; but he wasn't it understood that if any local editor anywhere or under any circumstances ever again says his name is L. M. Kenney Long he intends to murder that local it he has to John Bennett's Polar expedition to get to him.

The members of the Roanoke Literary Society are again discussing the question of selling their present property, and with the proceeds of the sale, building a large brick hall on the corner of the lot now owned by it. It would certainly be a great benefit to the town to have the vacant lots on the Literary property built up, and we are inclined to believe that the sale would ensure to the benefit of the Society.

Col. L. L. POLK, our indefatigable Commissioner of Agriculture passed through Weldon Wednesday on his way to Washington. In the latter city he expects to meet the heads of the Agricultural Departments of Virginia and Maryland, and the United States Fish Commissioner, and he hopes to make arrangements with these officials to establish a co-operative fish hatchery at the head of Albemarle sound. If this plan succeeds the proposed fish hatching establishment will be the largest in the world and from it the young fry will be distributed to the states mentioned and to several others.

LAST Thursday a Weldon man who is remarkably well versed in ancient history, was telling to a delighted circle of auditors the story of one B. Franklin who made his appearance in Philadelphia one morning with a roll of light bread under his arm and another in his mouth, and how a girl laughed at him, and how he married her. The rest of the instruction contained in the story was not wasted. Yesterday as the time drew near for the arrival of the Seaboard train, about half a dozen of the boys were observed walking about under the shed with a card of rolls under his arm from which he would occasionally take one and throw it gleefully into his mouth. Finally the train came the young ladies did not come and the boys were thoroughly laughed at.

CONGRUUM.—A party of gentlemen were engaged in a king each other conundrums a night or two since, and some of the original queries were really very good. One especially whereby one of the gentlemen was likened to a side show, because he was an educated hog while rather personal was highly applauded, and another— "Why is the town of Weldon like the city of Damascus," was also regarded as good. At last it was resolved to fix up a conundrum for publication in the News for the best answer to which a reward should be offered. The first conundrum proposed was: "Why is the editor of the News like a glass of soda water; but an old conundrum from gasser objected at once on the ground that it would be guessed too easy and every one would give the same answer because its note gas than anything else.

HOW THEY DO IT.—Early in November when the ocean telegraph first brought the intelligence of the final illness of Pope Pius the ninth, a certain editor at him down in the best style known to the guild, wrote an editorial giving a resume of his public life. This editorial the editor stowed away to be published when intelligence of the expected demise of his holiness should be received. Time rolled on, one day the Pope was better the next worse, until at length the pallbearers of his public life. This editorial the editor stowed away to be published when intelligence of the expected demise of his holiness should be received. Time rolled on, one day the Pope was better the next worse, until at length the pallbearers of his public life.

C. Thackeray, are still sent gratis to new subscribers for 1878.

COMENDABLE GENEROSITY.—We promised Mr. Glibb, the Superintendent of the S. & R. R., that we wouldn't put him in the papers, and we have heretofore kept our promise, but some of his doings came to our ears a day or two since that we intended to make public if we die for it. As the readers of the News have reason to know, an effort has been made to have some riding at Weldon this spring. Among them Mr. Glibb was approached on the subject and with a noble liberality he not only promised to contribute personally toward making up the purse but said that his road would give $100 for the same purpose. Nor was this all. When certain race horse men from Baltimore wrote to know what freight arrangements could be made in case they did need certain of their horses down, Mr. Glibb replied that so far as his road was concerned the horses would be brought for nothing and returned at the same price.

This is not the first instance of generosity to the people by whom his road is sustained which Mr. Glibb has been guilty of. It was through his kindness in a great degree that three of the churches in Weldon were built and while Mr. Glibb has at all times guarded strictly the interest of his company, he has at the same time shown every disposition to be generous to the people.

DEAR NEWS:—Has it never occurred to you that Chief Justice Smith deserted his State in her time of sorest need? When North Carolina was a prey to the worst of calamities he sought a home in Virginia, and it was only when there was a prospect of her redemption, by those who were true to their mother throughout, that he returned. I was surprised at the unanimity with which the press and people approved Gov. Vance's appointment for Chief Justice when so many must have known that Mr. Smith, though an able lawyer and polished gentleman, was not, by any rate of justice, entitled to the place. I remarked this in the time but did not mention it, but your editorial of the 13th suggested to me the propriety of referring to it. DEMOCRAT. March 12th, 1878.

THE WESTERN STORM. CRYSTANS, March 14.—All the roads are still except the Central Colorado, which still has eight miles of hard packed snow. The loss of life is considerable. Fear of a bursting party of five were found dead, and the other is missing.

THE FIRST SILVER DOLLAR. NEW YORK, March 14.—The first silver dollar made its appearance in Wall street this morning, being limited amount. The supply was soon exhausted, the desire to obtain them as tokens being general, and buyers paying a premium above par in gold.

A NEW WOODEN BRIDGE ACROSS THE RARITAN. NEW BRUNSWICK, N. J., March 14.—The new wooden bridge across the Raritan river was completed last night. It is 900 feet long and was put up by 500 men in a little over four days.

A NEGRO LITCKED IN FLORIDA. PENNSACOLA, March 14.—A negro violated the person of a five-year-old child here recently, and the child, who quietly died. The mother was lashed by a mob last night. The sheriff and posse fired on the mob, killing one and wounding five dangerously.

WASHINGTON LETTER. WASHINGTON, D. C., March 14th, 1878. Mrs. Representative Willis has been called the handsomest society lady here this winter; and she is really beautiful to look at, but she is only as a wax doll is beautiful. Her teeth are white, her face is fair, her features regular and her color good; but her face lacks expression, and she is very conspicuous in admiration. One of her attractions to me is the simplicity of the style of hair-dressing she adopts—her own hair in plain braided loops with front waves. Speaking of this reminds me of some statistics I saw lately regarding false hair. Paris alone "consumes" more than all of the available capillary crop of France, and the two Sicilies for 40 tons of dark hair annually, from which 35,000 chignons are made up. France makes up 350,000 "pieces" every year, England being her best customer, but America almost as good. Much more "dead hair" is used in these "pieces," but the term so used does not always signify coming from the grave; though in cities many paper corpses are despoiled of their hair before burial, and besides—as it is a well-known fact that human hair frequently grows to great length after death—coffins are filled for this ghastly growth. But "dead hair" includes also combings, clippings of barber shops, worn out curls, faded switches, &c. The rag pickers of every city, both at home and abroad, value nothing so much as a roll of silver or silver spun, so much as a coil of combings, however small or a dirt, for they always sell readily. They are washed with soap and water, dried, sifted, cleaned, sorted and colored, and made into the cheap "frizzes," curls, puffs and chignons that abound in the market.

These are all established facts and aren't they enough to make our bodies, if they only knew them, discard all hair save what grows on their own devoted heads? Society people are heartily glad that Lent has arrived and their season of resignation after the fatiguing whirl of gypsy in which they have passed the past winter. I fear the season of fasting and prayer will hardly be passed to worship by them. They are too tired to be taken until about noon. Fish meat and fish are not to be used at the same meal during Lent. A small refreshment, commonly called a lation is allowed in the evening, not to exceed the fourth part of an ordinary meal. It is permitted to use bread, butter, cheese, eggs, all kinds of fruits, salt vegetables, fish at the table. General usage has made it lawful in the morning to take some warm liquid, such as chocolate made with milk, or bread, &c.

What a beautiful world we live in! Nature gives us grandeur of mountains, plains and oceans, and thousands of means for enjoyment. We can secure no better when in perfect health; but how often do the majority of people feel like getting out of this world, discouraged and worried out with disease, when there is no occasion for their feeling, as every sufferer can testify, that they are in a bad way. An artificial flower will make them as free from disease as when born. Dyspepsia and Liver Complaint is the direct cause of seventy-five per cent of such malady as Biliousness, Headache, Constipation, Nervous Prostration, Dizziness of the Head, Palpitation of the Heart and other distressing symptoms. Three doses of August 21st will give you relief. Price 25 cents. Write to the proprietor, Weldon, N. C.
