A LITERARY CURIOSITY.

A lady occupied a whole year in searching for a fitting title for the following thirty-six lines from English and American poetry. The whole reads as if written at one time and by one author:

LIFE.

Why all this toil for triumphs of an hour? [Young.] Life's a short summer—man is but a flower.—[Dr. Johnson.]

MRS. KIDD AND THE BURGLAR.

How He Rushed Into Her Bedroom and How She Put Him to Flight.

FORGETFULNESS.

Hard as it may seem to overcome the habit of forgetfulness, it is a thing which may be accomplished; for the memory, like all God-given talents, may be cultivated to a great extent.

MRS. LING LIN'S QUER PET.

A COUPLE OF LIONS NEARLY TWO YEARS OLD [From the Boston Herald.]

ARTIFICIAL BABIES.

The Paris Exposition describes an "artificial baby," which is to be exhibited at the great Exposition, and which is claimed to be an American invention.

A COURT SCENE.

A young woman of pleasing countenance and diffident air, attired in silk and seal-skin, stood before Judge Judge yesterday morning.

A PROPHECIC DREAM.

A lady who was always rather skeptical as to the subject of dreams and their fulfillment, recently met with a singular experience.

EASY ATTAINMENT.

By the cultivation of kind and generous impulses, every man who will may be a gentleman. It is too rarely so found among those who value themselves the gentlemen and ladies of the day.

WILLING TO BE IDLE.

It is a calamity when able-bodied men are willing to be idle, and live on the bounty of others. It is unfair to those who have to support them, and it is a great damage to themselves.
