

The Roanoke News.

VOL. VII. WELDON, N. C., SATURDAY, APRIL 6, 1878. NO. 8.

Table with 4 columns: SPACE, One M., Two M., Three M., and a column for rates. Includes rates for One Square, Two Squares, Three Squares, Four Squares, Four Columns, Half Column, and Whole Column.

PROFESSIONAL CARDS.

WALTER CLARK, E. T. CLARK, Raleigh, N. C., Halifax, N. C. CLARK & CLARK, ATTORNEYS AT LAW, HALIFAX, N. C.

KITCHEN & DUNN.

ATTORNEYS & COUNSELLORS AT LAW, Scotland Neck, Halifax Co., N. C. Practices in the Courts of Halifax and adjoining counties, and in the Supreme and Federal Courts.

THOMAS N. HILL,

Attorney at Law, HALIFAX, N. C. Practices in Halifax and adjoining Counties and Federal and Supreme Courts.

DAY & HALI,

ATTORNEYS AT LAW, WELDON, N. C. Practices in the Courts of Halifax and adjoining counties, and in the Supreme and Federal Courts.

SAMUEL J. WRIGHT,

ATTORNEY AT LAW, JACKSON, N. C. Practices in the Court of Northampton and adjoining counties.

GAVIN DEHYMAN,

ATTORNEY AT LAW, HALIFAX, N. C. Practices in the Courts of Halifax and adjoining counties, and in the Supreme and Federal Courts.

R. O. BURTON, J. A.

ATTORNEY AT LAW, HALIFAX, N. C. Practices in the Courts of Halifax County, and Counties adjoining. In the Supreme Court of the State, and in the Federal Courts.

E. T. BRANCH,

ATTORNEY AT LAW, ENFIELD, HALIFAX COUNTY, N. C. Practices in the Counties of Halifax, Edgecombe and Wilson.

JAMES E. O'HARA,

ATTORNEY AT LAW, ENFIELD, N. C. Practices in the Counties of Halifax, Edgecombe and Nash. In the Supreme Court of the State and in the Federal Courts.

ANDREW J. BURTON,

ATTORNEY AT LAW, WELDON, N. C. Practices in the Courts of Halifax, Warren and Northampton counties and in the Supreme and Federal Courts.

MULLEN & MOORE,

ATTORNEYS AT LAW, Halifax, N. C. Practices in the Counties of Halifax, Northampton, Edgecombe, Pitt and Martin in the Supreme Court of the State and in the Federal Courts of the Eastern District.

THE YOUNG WIDOW.

She is modest but not bashful, Free and easy but not bold; Like an apple, ripe and mellow, Not too young and not too old. Half inviting, half repulsive, Now advancing and now shy— There is mischief in her smile, There is danger in her eye.

MILDRED.

BY CONSTANCE MATLAND. "—She lifted up her eyes, And looked him with a love that was her doom."

HOW YOUNG SAMPSON WAS THWACKED.

The other afternoon Sampson Jones, a boy of fourteen, was coming down Lafayette Street, wondering if he would get a bowl-kick in his New Year's stockings, when a young man of pleasing address encountered him, and said: "Bob, do you want to earn a quarter?"

NAPLES.

Laughing Naples! It has a charm of its own—a charm which is irresistible. It never goes to bed. Early in the morning may be heard the tinkling of gut bells and the patter of multitudinous hoofs hurrying to pasture.

THE BRIGHT SIDE.

Look on the bright side. It is the right side. The things may be hard, but it will make them no easier to wear a gloomy and discontented countenance.

MARRIED LIFE.

What misery may exist in the marriage state if the contracting parties are not harmoniously matched! Marriage can become a torment from excess of attention, if not a gain in the right spirit, and also from neglect and indifference.

A PASSIONATE TEMPER.

A merchant in London had a dispute with a Quaker, respecting the settlement of an account. The merchant was determined to bring the question into court, proceeding which the Quaker scarcely deprecated, using every argument in his power to convince the merchant of his error.

AN INSPECTOR OUTWITTED.

A police-inspector, on being informed that a restaurateur was serving game out of season, visited the restaurant in disguise and ordered dinner.

A STORY OF A MAGPIE.

About three leagues from Nantes, in France, is a pretty village called Thourie. In this village dwelt a few years ago a magpie, whose memory deserves to be cherished.

HOME-SWEET HOME.

On one occasion Howard Payne, the general-brave, kind little man who wrote the immortal song of "Home, Sweet Home," was walking with me in the great city of London, and pointing to one of the aristocratic streets in May Fair, where wealth and luxury had the windows tightly closed.

MIND YOUR OWN BUSINESS.

If people would only abstain from interfering in things which they have no concern, and which an unjustifiable interest, arising from a prurient disposition of petty curiosity, prompts, how smoothly affairs would proceed in families and society, and how much mischief might be avoided and vexation spared!

THE WAY OF SAYING THINGS.

Look at the ridiculous way in which a man takes for granted that a woman will be interested in his sayings and doings.

THE YOUNG WIDOW.

Oh, to get home and think—to think! How would thinking help me now? But soon we were alone again, Mildred and I—alone with each other, united more than ever in the agony of our mutual trial.

MILDRED.

BY CONSTANCE MATLAND. "—She lifted up her eyes, And looked him with a love that was her doom."

HOW YOUNG SAMPSON WAS THWACKED.

The other afternoon Sampson Jones, a boy of fourteen, was coming down Lafayette Street, wondering if he would get a bowl-kick in his New Year's stockings, when a young man of pleasing address encountered him, and said: "Bob, do you want to earn a quarter?"

NAPLES.

Laughing Naples! It has a charm of its own—a charm which is irresistible. It never goes to bed. Early in the morning may be heard the tinkling of gut bells and the patter of multitudinous hoofs hurrying to pasture.

THE BRIGHT SIDE.

Look on the bright side. It is the right side. The things may be hard, but it will make them no easier to wear a gloomy and discontented countenance.

MARRIED LIFE.

What misery may exist in the marriage state if the contracting parties are not harmoniously matched! Marriage can become a torment from excess of attention, if not a gain in the right spirit, and also from neglect and indifference.

A PASSIONATE TEMPER.

A merchant in London had a dispute with a Quaker, respecting the settlement of an account. The merchant was determined to bring the question into court, proceeding which the Quaker scarcely deprecated, using every argument in his power to convince the merchant of his error.

AN INSPECTOR OUTWITTED.

A police-inspector, on being informed that a restaurateur was serving game out of season, visited the restaurant in disguise and ordered dinner.

A STORY OF A MAGPIE.

About three leagues from Nantes, in France, is a pretty village called Thourie. In this village dwelt a few years ago a magpie, whose memory deserves to be cherished.

HOME-SWEET HOME.

On one occasion Howard Payne, the general-brave, kind little man who wrote the immortal song of "Home, Sweet Home," was walking with me in the great city of London, and pointing to one of the aristocratic streets in May Fair, where wealth and luxury had the windows tightly closed.

MIND YOUR OWN BUSINESS.

If people would only abstain from interfering in things which they have no concern, and which an unjustifiable interest, arising from a prurient disposition of petty curiosity, prompts, how smoothly affairs would proceed in families and society, and how much mischief might be avoided and vexation spared!

THE WAY OF SAYING THINGS.

Look at the ridiculous way in which a man takes for granted that a woman will be interested in his sayings and doings.

THE YOUNG WIDOW.

Oh, to get home and think—to think! How would thinking help me now? But soon we were alone again, Mildred and I—alone with each other, united more than ever in the agony of our mutual trial.

MILDRED.

BY CONSTANCE MATLAND. "—She lifted up her eyes, And looked him with a love that was her doom."

HOW YOUNG SAMPSON WAS THWACKED.

The other afternoon Sampson Jones, a boy of fourteen, was coming down Lafayette Street, wondering if he would get a bowl-kick in his New Year's stockings, when a young man of pleasing address encountered him, and said: "Bob, do you want to earn a quarter?"

NAPLES.

Laughing Naples! It has a charm of its own—a charm which is irresistible. It never goes to bed. Early in the morning may be heard the tinkling of gut bells and the patter of multitudinous hoofs hurrying to pasture.

THE BRIGHT SIDE.

Look on the bright side. It is the right side. The things may be hard, but it will make them no easier to wear a gloomy and discontented countenance.

MARRIED LIFE.

What misery may exist in the marriage state if the contracting parties are not harmoniously matched! Marriage can become a torment from excess of attention, if not a gain in the right spirit, and also from neglect and indifference.

A PASSIONATE TEMPER.

A merchant in London had a dispute with a Quaker, respecting the settlement of an account. The merchant was determined to bring the question into court, proceeding which the Quaker scarcely deprecated, using every argument in his power to convince the merchant of his error.

AN INSPECTOR OUTWITTED.

A police-inspector, on being informed that a restaurateur was serving game out of season, visited the restaurant in disguise and ordered dinner.

A STORY OF A MAGPIE.

About three leagues from Nantes, in France, is a pretty village called Thourie. In this village dwelt a few years ago a magpie, whose memory deserves to be cherished.

HOME-SWEET HOME.

On one occasion Howard Payne, the general-brave, kind little man who wrote the immortal song of "Home, Sweet Home," was walking with me in the great city of London, and pointing to one of the aristocratic streets in May Fair, where wealth and luxury had the windows tightly closed.

MIND YOUR OWN BUSINESS.

If people would only abstain from interfering in things which they have no concern, and which an unjustifiable interest, arising from a prurient disposition of petty curiosity, prompts, how smoothly affairs would proceed in families and society, and how much mischief might be avoided and vexation spared!

THE WAY OF SAYING THINGS.

Look at the ridiculous way in which a man takes for granted that a woman will be interested in his sayings and doings.

THE YOUNG WIDOW.

Oh, to get home and think—to think! How would thinking help me now? But soon we were alone again, Mildred and I—alone with each other, united more than ever in the agony of our mutual trial.

MILDRED.

BY CONSTANCE MATLAND. "—She lifted up her eyes, And looked him with a love that was her doom."

HOW YOUNG SAMPSON WAS THWACKED.

The other afternoon Sampson Jones, a boy of fourteen, was coming down Lafayette Street, wondering if he would get a bowl-kick in his New Year's stockings, when a young man of pleasing address encountered him, and said: "Bob, do you want to earn a quarter?"

NAPLES.

Laughing Naples! It has a charm of its own—a charm which is irresistible. It never goes to bed. Early in the morning may be heard the tinkling of gut bells and the patter of multitudinous hoofs hurrying to pasture.

THE BRIGHT SIDE.

Look on the bright side. It is the right side. The things may be hard, but it will make them no easier to wear a gloomy and discontented countenance.

MARRIED LIFE.

What misery may exist in the marriage state if the contracting parties are not harmoniously matched! Marriage can become a torment from excess of attention, if not a gain in the right spirit, and also from neglect and indifference.

A PASSIONATE TEMPER.

A merchant in London had a dispute with a Quaker, respecting the settlement of an account. The merchant was determined to bring the question into court, proceeding which the Quaker scarcely deprecated, using every argument in his power to convince the merchant of his error.

AN INSPECTOR OUTWITTED.

A police-inspector, on being informed that a restaurateur was serving game out of season, visited the restaurant in disguise and ordered dinner.

A STORY OF A MAGPIE.

About three leagues from Nantes, in France, is a pretty village called Thourie. In this village dwelt a few years ago a magpie, whose memory deserves to be cherished.

HOME-SWEET HOME.

On one occasion Howard Payne, the general-brave, kind little man who wrote the immortal song of "Home, Sweet Home," was walking with me in the great city of London, and pointing to one of the aristocratic streets in May Fair, where wealth and luxury had the windows tightly closed.

MIND YOUR OWN BUSINESS.

If people would only abstain from interfering in things which they have no concern, and which an unjustifiable interest, arising from a prurient disposition of petty curiosity, prompts, how smoothly affairs would proceed in families and society, and how much mischief might be avoided and vexation spared!

THE WAY OF SAYING THINGS.

Look at the ridiculous way in which a man takes for granted that a woman will be interested in his sayings and doings.

THE YOUNG WIDOW.

Oh, to get home and think—to think! How would thinking help me now? But soon we were alone again, Mildred and I—alone with each other, united more than ever in the agony of our mutual trial.

MILDRED.

BY CONSTANCE MATLAND. "—She lifted up her eyes, And looked him with a love that was her doom."

HOW YOUNG SAMPSON WAS THWACKED.

The other afternoon Sampson Jones, a boy of fourteen, was coming down Lafayette Street, wondering if he would get a bowl-kick in his New Year's stockings, when a young man of pleasing address encountered him, and said: "Bob, do you want to earn a quarter?"

NAPLES.

Laughing Naples! It has a charm of its own—a charm which is irresistible. It never goes to bed. Early in the morning may be heard the tinkling of gut bells and the patter of multitudinous hoofs hurrying to pasture.

THE BRIGHT SIDE.

Look on the bright side. It is the right side. The things may be hard, but it will make them no easier to wear a gloomy and discontented countenance.

MARRIED LIFE.

What misery may exist in the marriage state if the contracting parties are not harmoniously matched! Marriage can become a torment from excess of attention, if not a gain in the right spirit, and also from neglect and indifference.

A PASSIONATE TEMPER.

A merchant in London had a dispute with a Quaker, respecting the settlement of an account. The merchant was determined to bring the question into court, proceeding which the Quaker scarcely deprecated, using every argument in his power to convince the merchant of his error.

AN INSPECTOR OUTWITTED.

A police-inspector, on being informed that a restaurateur was serving game out of season, visited the restaurant in disguise and ordered dinner.

A STORY OF A MAGPIE.

About three leagues from Nantes, in France, is a pretty village called Thourie. In this village dwelt a few years ago a magpie, whose memory deserves to be cherished.

HOME-SWEET HOME.

On one occasion Howard Payne, the general-brave, kind little man who wrote the immortal song of "Home, Sweet Home," was walking with me in the great city of London, and pointing to one of the aristocratic streets in May Fair, where wealth and luxury had the windows tightly closed.

MIND YOUR OWN BUSINESS.

If people would only abstain from interfering in things which they have no concern, and which an unjustifiable interest, arising from a prurient disposition of petty curiosity, prompts, how smoothly affairs would proceed in families and society, and how much mischief might be avoided and vexation spared!

THE WAY OF SAYING THINGS.

Look at the ridiculous way in which a man takes for granted that a woman will be interested in his sayings and doings.

ADVERTISEMENTS.

SCHOOL TEACHERS. You can easily increase your salary by devoting a very small portion of your leisure time to my interest. I do not expect you to canvass for my celebrated...

BALTIMORE, MD.

DR. J. E. RICORD, 141 Fayette St. below Howard, has practiced thirty years of his extensive practice especially in the treatment of Chronic and Private Diseases...

ROCKY MOUNT MILLS.

ROCKY MOUNT, N. C. January 1st, 1878. We are now prepared to furnish the trade with SHEETINGS, SHIRTINGS, PLOW LINES and COTTON YARNS.

GENERAL FORWARDING.

REFRIGERATORS: W. H. Smith & Son, W. C. Morrow & Co., A. Green, Norfolk, Va. A. Garthald, J. W. Faucett, J. M. Mullin, Halifax, N. C.

METALLIC BURIAL CASES FOR SALE.

Persons wishing Metallic Burial Cases can always obtain them by applying to me, at the store of Messrs. Windfield & Emery...

RYE AND BOURBON WHISKIES.

Fresh, Apple, Blackberry and Cherry Brandy, Jamaica and New England Rum, London, Tom and Holland, Gin, Port, Sherry, Claret, Rhine and 2-year-old Spangenberg Whisk, Scotch and London Poter, and a very large list of...

RECTIFIED WHISKEY.

which I am offering at prices that cannot fail to give satisfaction. S. W. SUTNER, Jr., April 6th