Massachusetts Semocratic State Convention.

WORCESTER, MASS., September 17 .-There is a very large gathering of delegates at the Democratic Convention. Butler's friends are present in large numbers, but are meeting with the most determined opposition, and show signs of weakening. fi the Butler tanks are broken Charles. Theo, Russell will be nominated. The State Central Committee are deciding contested cases against Butler men.

At8 o'clock the Butler men having posession of the hall, placed L. Powers, of Springfield, in the chair and proceeded to usiness. After a long wrangle Mayor Platt took the platform and said that persons in the hall might remain, but that no others would be admitted. A resolution thaking the Mayor for his decided stand. was unanimously passed amid great ap plause. The Convention then took a re cess of fitteen mioutes,

At 11:10 David Powers took the floor and requested the delegates to nominate a CIBITMAD

Mr. McDevitt, Butler's secretary, moved that a committee be nominated to see that only delegates having credentials be admitted to the hall.

The motion was carried, and the committee elected retired. Before it returned there was a rush made for the hall by an ontsider, and the door was foreed. He was closely followed by the mob, but the doors were closed by the police. At this juneture Major McCafferty entered the hall and was received with cheers,

Hop Edward Avery stepsed upon the platform and said : "By request of the Democratic State committee, 1 am here to announce"-(cat-calls and hisses followed each other in rapid succession.)

Mr. Avery maintaining his position, a delegate moved that he be requested to leave the platform.

The Chairman decided that Mr. Avery must leave the platform, which he relused to do. Major McCafferty said Mr. Avery was ambitious for the houors of a martyr. He wanted to go out to the "Blue Bloods" and inform them that he had served them. He wanted to go out and inform the men who called the members of the Convention Communists, that he had performed that duty. "I am authorized," said Mr. Avery, (cat-

calls and hisses again interrupted the speaker, who was oblige to cease speaking, Major McCafferty again tried to speak urging the convention to hear what Mr

Avery had to say. The excitement beggared description, the delegates brandishing canes, hats, &c. Finally Mr. Avery got the platform and declared the convention adjourned until Wednesday, September 25th. He then left the hall. Farther proceedings resulted in the election of Major McCafferty, of Wurcester, as temporary chairman This was followed by the election of Richard S. Spafford of Newburyport as permanent provident. On taking the chair, Mr. Spafford made speech, referring to the wants of the laboring classes and denouncing the bondholders.

During the proceedings previous to the ection of permanent chairman, Dr. Kruz of Boston declared the action of the Dem ogratic committee an usurpation of extra ordinary strocity and deserving of the censure of the Democratic party of Massschu-

The convention was further organized by the choice of Dr. A. R. Rice, Matthew The season's over. Foley and P. Mehan, as secretaries.

John L. Rice, of springfield, then said he proposed to place in nomination for Gay. gray pigeon feathers, rnor a man who believed in the good old Democratic principle, and would right the old Commonwealth. He therefore nominated General Benjamin F. Butler, (cheers and great excitement, the delegates all rising and cheering.) Mr. Cook, of Boston, seconded the nominstion.

The chairman stated the motion, when John C. Galvon, of Stoughton, took the floor and protested against the name of Benj F. Butler, and asked how in the name of God a Democrat could consistently nominate General Butler for Governor. He in this vicinity this summer. said "For 15 years Butler has opposed every Democratic principle. By his own declarations he is not a Democrat, and you cannot consistently nominate him." This apeech was received with hisses and cries to put the speaker out, and at its conclusion three groans for the speaker, and three abeers for Butler, were given.

The committee on Resolutions was then appointed. On motion a committee was appointed to report candidates for the remaining offices on the State ticket, after which recess was taken.

The committee to nominate the remainder of the State ticket reported as follows : Lieut. Governor J. F. Arnold ; Secretary of State, Charles M. Straus; Attorney General Caleb Cushing; Auditor, J. Boyle O'Reiley; Tressurer, D. N. Skillings. The nominations were unanimously endorsed.

The platform re-affirms a therence to the Democratic princ ples enunciated and acted upon by Jefferson, Madison, and Jackson; condemus extravagance in State expenditures; expresses shame and sorrow at the sight of a President, elected by the votes of a majority, set aside, and the people deprived of his services by forgery and perjury, and declares that no man should e permitted to hold office who is tainted with traud and corruption; reproduces the platform for the State government, as set forth by the Democratic party in its con- to a mule's hind leg. sention in 1875, a more extended reference to which is found in the address of the citizens who asked him to be a candidate; deprecates legislation tending to place impediments in the way of tree suffrage by oor men; and calls upon all to unite with the Democracy in securing needed reforms.
