"YUM YUM."

You kissed me at the gate last night, And mother heard the smack; She says it's naughty to do so, So please to take it back.

I cannot see what harm there is In such a thirg—can you? But mother seems so very wroth, Please take it back-now do.

It seems to me quite natural For lips to meet that way; But mother says it's very wrong— So take it back, I pray.

And come to think of it, I'm sure That several times twas dore So now, to make it right, be sure To take back every one.

I would not have you think it's me; I do not care a mite ; But mother's so particular ; Please take them back to night,

LOVE ACAINST COLD.

Edna stood a little back from the droop of the white Swiss curtains that so beautifully and coolly draped the windows of Mrs. Chessomleigh's suit of rooms at the seaside hotel, listening nervous, until a sudden exchanation with a courtesy of attention to Aunt from Mr. Gleamorris made her forget Chessomleigh's remarks, but a courtesy herself and everything else except the that was mingled with a pretty little air of half defiance and half-deprecation.

"Fortunate? Why, Elna, is it possible you do not comprehend you are the most fortunate girl? Only think, child, you haven't been with me a month yet -not a month away from the quiet little country house, and here you've had an offer from Clarence Cumberland, the most eligible parti in society- word : rich, handsome and aristocratic."

It is a wonder that by the building up of character of more actime the reserve and the purity of the count than the building up of a fortune, mother's mind is wore out, the daughter or a reputation. A man may subject is in just the same condition, with this himself to the practice of self-denial difference that, while the mother has and kindness of others, and if it be for family ties that serve as a check, and the sake of position, place or material has the judgment of maturer years, the gain merely, he will be the loser by the daughter is hampered by none of these, exercise; whereas if he indulge the so that, as she stands at the threshold same practice for unselfish ends and the of life, she is like a boat tossed out benefit of others, and needy ones, he own desire, and the crew, instead of that he who would gain his life shall

A gentleman is more than a more observer of the conventional proprieties of social life. His gentleness must be spontaneous. And if the reader would like to know exactly how to be a gentleman, let him read Paul's 13th Chapter of his First Letter to the Cerinthians.

The hall No. 24 German street, where the ladies of the Christian Temperance Union are holding Gospel meetings, was again crowded yesterday, and the meeting was one of unusual interest. During a full Rice aread and raid it was marvellous how many in the bey-day of their sins were so tash as to tempt the mercy of Almighty God.
