OUR NEXT FAIR.

THE WELDON FAIR,

it has affordeded us pleasure several times to notice the flattering prospects of the Fair of the Roanoke and Tar River Agricultural Society, which takes place Idon on October 20.h, 21st, 22nd, 23rd and 2sth.

This annual exhibition of the State has aver been uniformly successful, and we have assurances that the Fair of 1879 will prove equal, if not superior, in attractions to all its predecessors. Mr. L. M. Long, Secretary of the Socisty, will accept the thanks of the Fre Lance for a complimentary ticket on the occasion.-Free Lance.

Our readers have all heard that "Nice Tailors make a man." Possibly, however, some of them would like to know th origin of the saying Here it is .- 'In 1743 an orphan beguat boy applied for sims at a Tailor's shop in London, in which nine journeymen were employed. His fortora but intelligent appearance touched the hearts of the beacvolent tailors, who gave him a shilling each. With this capital the young hero purchased trait, which he retailed at a profit From the beginning, by industry and perceverance, he rose to distinction, and u etainess. When his first carriage was built he caused to be printed on the panel "Nine tailors made me a man."

THE BIGGEST WORM ON RECORD. MESSR E (TOUS : A low days store my triend Mr. Whitaker of Roanoke told mthat he had seen that morning on a cotton stalk, a worm that measured S1 in hes in length and 2 is hes in encomf rence His color, he said, was that of a rainbow and the rainbow stripes went around his hody about 8 times. Upon his back were a large number of horns which were very sharp at the ends. There were four row of horns on his head and four horns in each row; all of them were three quart rs of an inch long. His feet were about half an in h long. The horos on his hea i were like those of a steer and Mr. W. said the worm looked like a steer when he raised his head.

Mr. H. of Palmyra states that he saw last year a worm smiller to that seen by Mr. W., but thinks Mr. Whitaker saw still worm, aud it Mr. Whitaker will buy same of his vermance and give to the worm he warrants that he will never be still any more but will keep going. He save he has moved still worms with it Truly. NOSE. oitch. CAEIN OF SIGHTS.

The labor question truly is a hackneyed one, but still the great question that deman is our hist consideration. Without rgan'z d labor there certainly can be no agricultural success. The only labor at our disposal is the emancipated slave, who we sil know or agree is by far the most efficient, and I might say the most reliable, and being familiar with our wan's protucts, and modes of agriculture, is by far better suited to our climate than any other. This labor has been worked as you well know upon various plans, but none of them have preved very satisfactory. Has capital lost its power to control labor or, does the want of a proper knowled_e to direct this labor make it present this anomaly ? In some portions of the South it seems that this labor is worked with more energy and success than in our immediate section And I desire to call your especial atter. tion to the lact in the hope that in your d-interations an discussions you may find out the cause and apply the remedy.

It is your duty also, gentlemen, to report the result to the public of such experiments as you may try, and the efore every production again t deception and fraud should be taken, and strictly prorided against, You should not do injustice to any, still at the same time outspoken and independent action is the only protection to the community.

I have thus gentlemen called your attention to some of the subjects that came within the parview of your associaton L t us then with revewed z al and united effort as one man act in concert. Where there is union there is strength, wher there is division there is weakness. We have not worked in frateinal harmony with an eye single to the advancement of the inverest of the whole. The radical changes that have taken place and are more than ever in progress in the business of farming render it necessary that you should take a d ep interest in your meetings; for priverly manager something serv ceable will be broucht out, applicable
