THE HUMORISTS.

A LITTLE NONSENSE NOW AND THEN IS RELISHED BY THE WISEST MEN.

A happy pair—the old fashioned applebeec.

A high toned singer is generally off his base.

A weather profit—An income on the sale of overshoes.

Persons on pleasure bent often get badly doubled up.

Whaling in Lapland is among the earliest adventures of youth.

The czar of Russia is no goose, but he would like to be a turkey gobbler.

Atlas was the first leading gentleman. He supported earth in her great roll.

Men are most apt to rave about a woman's hair when it is found in the gutter.

It is eminently proper for a man who is boring for oil to sign his letters "your well wisher."

"That's a put-up job," said the merchant as he saw the Sheriff posting a sale notice on his place.

The man who raises game chickens may not have much ambition, but he puts spurs to what he has.

Many a man who thinks he can move the world changes his mind when a hornet gets after him.

Some men are the architects of their own fortunes and others are the contractor's of their father's fortune.

Client—"What makes you so certain that you will be able to break the will?" Lawyer (in a whisper)—"I drew it."

"Did you see any sharks while you were on your travels?" "I should say I did, but I didn't buy anything of them."

Woolen shirts and a broken five-dollar bill must be made of the same material, judging from the way they shrink.

Prisoner (in jail, looking at the sky through the bars of his cell)—"What frightful weather! I think I won't go out to-day."

"Did you ever go up in a balloon?" "Once." "What were your sensations?" "Oh, the same as usual. I wanted the earth."

"Papa," said a talkative little girl, "am I made of dust?" "No, my child. If you were you would dry up once in a while."

Greenland has no cats. How thankful the Greenlanders should be. Imagine cats in a country where the nights are six months long.

"Your hotel is a regular fire trap, sir," said a guest to the proprietor. "If that be true it is a very poor trap, for it has never caught fire yet," was the reply.

Jack—"How do you know Honorable married Miss Roche for her gold?" Ethel—"She told me he essayed several times before he finally proposed."

"Keep a stiff upper lip," said Miss Bleeker to her friend Miss Emerson, of Boston. "Yes," replied the latter, "I intend to maintain a superior initial rigidity."

Jessie—"You must be a hard worker Mr. Chapley." Chapley—"What makes you think that Miss Jessie?" Jessie—"George told me yesterday that you made him tired."

In the Street car—"Paul, sit still or you'll get a thrashing!" "Ma'mam, if you punish me I shall tell the conductor that I was four years old yesterday, then you will have to pay."

"Why do you think the cook stole the champagne last night?" "Because when she went to bed she put three shovelfuls of ice in the furnace and filled the refrigerator with coal."

"There was a man in front of my house yesterday with an infernal machine," said Barker. "How terrible," said Miss Mellow. "What did it look like?" "Like any other hand organ."

THEY ALL SAY

That for purifying the blood, strengthening the appetite, removing that tired feeling, and building up the system, Ayer's Sarsaparilla is the best. No other blood medicine is so rapid in its effects nor so permanent in its results.

"I was a great sufferer from a low condition of the blood and general debility, becoming finally so reduced that I was unfit for work. Nothing that I did for the complaint helped me so much as Ayer's Sarsaparilla, a few bottles of which restored me to health and strength. I take every opportunity to recommend this medicine in similar cases."—C. Erick, 14 East Main st., Chillicothe, Ohio.

AYER'S SARSAPARILLA

"Sometime ago I found my system entirely run down. I had a feeling of constant fatigue and languor and very little ambition for any kind of effort. A friend advised me to try Ayer's Sarsaparilla, which I did with the best results. It has done me more good than all other medicines I have ever used."—F. Mellow, 162 Broadway, Chelsea, Mass.

"About a year ago I began using Ayer's Sarsaparilla as a remedy for debility and neuralgia resulting from malarial exposure in the army. I was in a very bad condition, but six bottles of the Sarsaparilla, with occasional doses of Ayer's Pills, have greatly improved my health. I am now able to work, and feel that I cannot say too much for your excellent remedy."—P. A. Pinkham, South Moluncus, Me.

"I have suffered for years from a low condition of the blood and general debility, and have had such severe pains in my back and shoulders that it was impossible at times to do any work. I was greatly helped by a few bottles of Ayer's Sarsaparilla, and take every opportunity to speak of my cure to those who are afflicted as I was."—William P. Stearns, 9 Free st., Portland, Me.

Makes the Weak Strong

"My constitution is naturally delicate, but some time ago I became so weak and languid that I was unable to perform my work, which is mental. A fine eruption, which gave much trouble and distress, made its appearance on my skin. The physician's prescriptions proving of no avail, I was induced to try Ayer's Sarsaparilla, and soon my strength returned and my skin resumed its natural appearance. For a tonic, blood-purifier, and general health-restorer, I can heartily recommend Ayer's Sarsaparilla."—Miss Maggie O'Neill, E. Nodaway, Iowa.

"Ayer's Sarsaparilla has a well-deserved reputation in this locality for restoring to healthy, vigorous action the vital organs of the body when they have become weakened or exhausted. I have used it in my family for this purpose, especially after the system had become depleted from malarial attacks."—Charles C. Hamilton, Emberson, Texas.

"I use Ayer's Sarsaparilla with great satisfaction in my family, and can recommend it to all who have the care of young and delicate children."—Mrs. Joseph McComber, Brooklyn, N. Y.

"Ayer's Sarsaparilla, for building up the general health, stands at the head of the list."—James M. Williams, M. D., Sumner, Ark.
