That is better for the community than that the Bradley Martins should lock up an equal sum of money and draw that Mr. Dockery himself confessed this interest on it. In addition to this the Bradley-Martins are satisfied."

JUDGE AUGUSTUS S. SEYMOUR died in New York last Friday where he had gone for treatment, his disease being stomach trouble from which he has suffered greatly.

His home was at Newbern He was at one time a Superior court judge and presided with great ability. He was appointed a U. S. julge by President Arthur, which position he hold up to the time of his death.

Judge Seymour was a Republican in polities but a man of fine qualities and was one of the most upright justices on the United States bench He was highly esteemed by all parties and classes

VINTUE is not a ways its own reward, even with princes The Prince of Wales. is a man of tonder in-tinets and courtesy, as becomes his exaited rank. One day, relates the New York Mail and Express, alighting from a cab, the Prince saw a blind man and his dog vainly endeavoring to effect a passage across London's Pall Mall in the midst of a throng of carriages. With characteristic good nature the Prince went at once to the rescue, and taking his unconscious charge by the arm safely piloted him and his dog to the other side of the street. With this, so far as His Royal Highness was concerned, the incident was at an end. A short time afterward, however, a missive silver inkstand was received at Mariborough House, on which was the following inscription: "To the Prince of Wales, from one who saw him conduct a blind beggar across the street; in memory of a kind and Christian action." The name of the giver has never become known.
