PUBLIC LOVEMAKING.

Upper Class Wooing in Mexico is Fraught With Inconvenience.

The lovemaking of upper class Mexico is perforce done for all to see. It is practically impossible for lovers to have speech quite alone, and less so if they are engaged, than if their passion is undeciphered. An avowedly enamored couple must be under constant supervision. A girl may not receive callers of the other sex save in the presence of a suitable chaperon, and this does not tend to make calling a favorite pastime with the men—hard put to it though they are to fill their days. Except for the chances occasionally offered the eyes must tell what the tongue may not.

And all this has given rise to customs affording unmixed delight to the stranger who for the first time observes them. Those which are known as luciendo deloso (playing the bear), and pelando la lava (plucking the peacock), are respectively talking through barred windows or strolling up and down beneath an inaccessible balcony. For it is luciendo which awakens a yet greater sense of amusement. Literally translated it means "darting arrow"—Cupid's dart, by inference. But it is nothing more or less than staring one's lady love out of countenance with eyes which express devotion in inverse ratio to the number of times they wink. This form of courtship is chiefly resorted to in the plaza and in the theatre.

To the central plaza the Mexican girl goes upon those evenings when the hand plays. Here she locks her arm in that of a friend or relative of her own sex and begins to walk along the broad pavement which surrounds the bandstand. Before long there is a steady, unbroken stream of femininity moving in one direction and one of men, equally steady and unbroken moving in the other.

It is extremely rare for a man to join the women for more than a moment, and even this moment is not habitually seized. The whole satisfaction is derived from passing the beloved time and again, exchanging with her a meaning glance. While the band is not playing the women seat themselves upon the benches which line the promenade. Thereupon an ardent suitor is expected to station himself opposite, and at once set about luciendo.

There are lots of ideal husbands in novels.

Forced to Leave Home.

Every year a large number of poor sufferers whose lungs are sore and racked with coughs are urged to use another climate. But this costly and not always sure, there's a better way. Let Dr. King's New Discovery cure you at home. "It cured me of lung trouble," writes W. R. Nelson, of Calamine, Ark., "when all else failed and I gained 45 pounds in weight. Its surely the King of all cough and lung cures." Thousands owe their lives and health to it. It positively guarantees for Coughs, Colds, Grippe, Asthma, Croup—all throat and lung troubles. 50¢ and $1. Trial bottle free at all druggists.

A woman is so anxious to relate the bad dream she had that she can hardly wait until her husband gets through saying grace at the breakfast table.

DAVID BENNETT HILL.

HON. DAVID BENNETT HILL, former Governor of New York, died suddenly at his country home, Wolfert's Roost, near Albany, N. Y., at 3:45 o'clock Thursday morning, aged 67 years.

For more than thirty years David Bennett Hill was a prominent figure in the public life of New York. The force of his personality impressed itself not only upon the people of New York but upon the whole country, and at the expiration of his final term as Governor he became the candidate of his party in the State of New York for the Presidential nomination before the Democratic National convention. As U. S. Senator from 1891 to 1897, he found an ample opportunity for the exercise of his skill as a parliamentarian, his brilliant powers as an orator and his uncommon gifts as a leader of men.

THE LOST CHILD.

I remember when they cut my curls not very long ago, Because they looked just like a girl's and I'm a boy, you know; I used to wear 'em awful long, and once my pa, he said, 'I see I had my curls cut off and wore short hair instead; Because I'm big enough for that; and then they took the shears And snipped my curls off one by one right close up to my ears. But every time a curl came off, my mother, she just hid Her face a little bit and cried. I wonder why she did.

And after 'while she picked one up and held it in her hand With something shining in her eyes I didn't understand; She petted it as if it was a little boy or girl, And acted fond of it when it was nothing but a curl. And after 'while they're all cut off and down there on the floor, And I looked much more like a boy than I had been before, But there was something in her eyes she tried and tried and tried To brush away, but still it came. I wonder why she cried.

And after 'while I'm all trimmed off, and then my pa, he said, 'I'm not a baby any more, but I'm a boy instead. And he is awful proud of me; and then my ma, she smiled And said we found a boy that day and lost a little child; So I said I would hunt for him and bring him back, but then She said she was afraid that he would not come back again; And picked the curls I had all up from off the floor and hid Them in her bureau drawer and cried. I wonder why she did?

—J. W. Foley.

"SUCH AS I HAVE."

Here is something for All The Members of the Various Choirs to Read.

G. Campbell Morgan tells this story:

"Some years ago a woman came to me at the close of the Sunday morning service and said: 'Oh, I would give anything to be in this work actively and actually. I would give anything to have some living part in the work which is going on here next week in winning men and women to Christ, but I do not know what to do.' I said: 'My sister, are you prepared to give the Master the five loaves and two fishes you possess?' She said: 'I do not know that I have five loaves and two fishes.' I said: 'Have you anything which you have used in any way specially?' 'No,' she did not think she had. 'Well,' I said, 'can you sing?' Her reply was: 'Yes, I sing at home, and I have sung before now in an entertainment.' 'Well, now,' I said, 'let us put our hand on that. Will you give the Lord your voice for the next ten days?' Said she: 'I will.' I shall never forget that Sunday evening. I asked her to sing and she sang. She sang the gospel message with the voice she had, feeling that it was a poor, worthless thing, and that night there came out of that meeting into the inquiry room one man. That man said unto me afterwards that it was the gospel that was sung which reached his heart and from that day to this—that is now eleven or twelve years ago—that man has been one of the mightiest workers for God in that city and country I have ever known. How was it done? A woman gave the Master what she had.

Are we willing to give the Master what we have? If so, there will be a harvest of glorious surprises in the immediate future. There is not a talentless man or woman in the world.'—Selected.

WANTED ALL TO BE HONEST.

Mark Tuiley, state treasurer and candidate for re-election, was a travelling salesman for 25 years and has a fund of good stories of the road.

He tells that one time he was in a town in Central Kansas where a protracted revival meeting was going on. One of the residents of the town was named Toby. He was a tall, gaunt man, with long whiskers, and was very fond of whiskey, of which he frequently imbibed beyond his limit. This man was attending one of the meetings, and the revivalist was busy scoring every form of vice and calling down drastic condemnation upon them.

"Woe to the drunkard! Woe to the drunkard! Woe to the drunkard!" he shouted in doleful tones.

Old Toby got on his feet and raged at his whiskers, and the fact that he stuttered only made his interruption more marked: "G-g-guess th-th-th-th-th-m-m-m-e! I-I-I'm p-p-present!"

The preacher went on. "Woe to the liars! Woe to the liars! Woe to the thieves! Woe to the thieves!" His voice was dolorous and sepulchral.

Again old Toby got to his feet. He motioned around the room, swinging and pointing with his arms and fingers.

"G-g-get up," he commanded, "G-g-get up! He's callin' on s-s-some of you fellers! I've answered p-p-present, it's your turn now. S-s-stand up and be c-counted!"—Kansas City Journal.

THE THREE WERE NOT MISSED

It is told that a certain lady of a western Kansas town desired to show kindness to a captain of the local State militia company, and wrote the following invitation: "Mrs. _____ requests the pleasure of Capt. _____'s company at a reception on Friday evening."

A prompt reply came: "With the exception of three men, who are sick with the measles, Capt. _____'s company accepts your kind invitation and will come with pleasure to your reception Friday evening."—Kansas City Journal.

PUTTING AWAY SMALL SUMS

Here, you can put away small sums not needed for present use. And while waiting your call they will draw interest. An account in our Savings Department does not always imply small transactions, far from it. Many large depositors are using our Savings pass-books. They are using them for the interest they get; they are also using them because of the convenience afforded. 4 per cent. interest allowed, compounded quarterly.

BE AFFABLE.

Many girls think they are demeaning themselves if they are approachable. They cultivate an icy manner as a hallmark of respectability.

Don't be afraid of being pleasant. It cannot hurt you, and will be good as a tonic for all you meet. What though you do think yourself superior to most of your acquaintances, is it good taste for you to placard your belief by a freezing countenance?

There is nothing like affability to conceal one's family skeleton. A haughty manner is a direct bid for the rest of the world to rake up ancestral secrets that you thought buried under a mound of gold.

The secret of many a homely girl's success is an affable manner that makes every one she meets feel welcome.

Be affable. If you are not pleasant because it comes natural, be so because it is the only manner that is well bred.

The shyest person can cultivate affability. She will be surprised to find that the effect not only helps her own shyness, but is a regular magnet as a friend-winner.

If you want to be affable take an interest in every one you meet.

Nex to taxes, wedding gifts seem to be the sorest trials.
