SELF-ESTEEM.

This is a Big World and No Man Is Necessary to Its Success.

Self-esteem is a good thing but you don't want too much of it; enough of anything is enough and no matter how good a thing is, too much is more than you need, and self-esteem is no exception to the rule.

It is well enough for a man to hold his head up and step around with an air of considerable importance, if he is really doing any good in the world by living in it. Of course a man wants to possess self-confidence, and he wants to think he is just as good as anybody but he don't want to think that the welfare of mankind hinges on his actions, or that the earth rests on his shoulder.

While it is well enough for a man to have a good opinion of himself, and feel that he is able to do it alone, he should be careful not to go too far. Self-esteem is like a mince pie—alright in moderate quantities, but seven or eight slices is all one should indulge in at one time. A man has to assume an air of some importance in this world to get along, but the trouble is, too many slop over.

This is a big world and no man is imperatively necessary to its success. Presidents, kings and school directors may die, but still the old world goes around. Governors may resign, road overseers may move away, but the great mass of mankind never stop to weep, and when you and I pass off this stage of action, there will be several people perhaps who will not miss us.

Yes, this is a big world and spread yourself as you will, gain all the name and fame possible, reach as far to the front as you can and still you have succeeded in attention of but a few. And when you die, millions of eyes will never shed a tear, and millions of tongues will never speak your name. Your children will quarrel over your wealth, the lawyers will gobble it and the world will soon forget you.

NO LONGER INTERESTED.

Theodore Lane, who resided at the home of his parents, 749 Holton Avenue, had a toothache the other morning. It was a bad toothache, too, and Theodore let the neighborhood know all about it. But when his father got home that evening (this is according to his father) the boy was calm and seemed at peace.

"Has your tooth stopped aching, Teddy?" asked Theodore, Sr.

"I don't know," answered the youngster.

"Don't know. Why, what do you mean?"

"It's out."—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

"Oh, yes. See how many divorces there are."

A SONG OF THE SOUTH.

[Some of the world's rarest and most beautiful poems have been written in prison cells. The following verses have a poignant touch of human interest from the fact that they were composed by a man now serving a fifteen-year sentence in the United States prison at Atlanta.]

To the dear land of the South—
Where the mockingbirds sing the sweetest,
Where the white magnolias blossom,
And the maidens are prettiest,
Where the white rose is the whitest,
And the blue skies are the bluest,
And the men are always gallant
And fair women's hearts are truest—
I returned from many wanderings,
Through the snow fields of the North,
To pass my days in pleasure
In the land that gave me birth.
Where I, with my sweet sisters,
In childhood's happy days,
Strolled 'mid the fragrant orange groves
Beneath their perfumed sprays.

The pine trees sing the same sweet song
They sang long years ago,
Beside the laughing waters, where
The cotton blossoms blow.
The cottage on the hillside,
Run o'er with clinging vine,
Looks pleasant in the pale moonlight,
And in the broad sunshine,
But, O, the changes Time has wrought,
When I stood before
That friendly lassie, when but a boy,
There met me at the door,
The smiling face and virgin heart
Of gentle, blue-eyed May,
Whose tender form now lies beneath
A mound of rose-wreathed clay.

I sought the spot, where rests in peace,
The girl I loved so well,
And by the sacred mound, alone,
Upon my knees I fell.
Then suddenly there came to me
A vision wondrous fair,
The girl I loved so long ago,
In memory, met me there.
Methought she looked the same as when
I last beheld her face;
Since then, the little churchyard there
Has been my trysting place,
Where oft, in stilly hours of night,
Alone, I bend my way,
To meet in memory's realm again
My darling, blue-eyed May.

AN AWKWARD APOLOGY.

A kindergarten teacher in Washington, with a pile of books on her arm, was about to get off a street car just as a gentleman whom she thought she recognized as the parent of a pupil in her school got on.

"Good morning!" she said, with a cheery smile.

Instantly she saw, by the quizzical expression on the face of the man addressed, that she had made a mistake. Intending to correct it, she added quickly:

"Oh, pardon me! I thought you were the father of one of our children."

NOT RISKING INTERFERENCE.

"Why do you insist on staying down town tonight?"

"I have reason to believe that my daughter is planning to elope with a young man who has nearly a million dollars in his own right."

THE HOME MOTHER.

Blessing Be On The Home-Loving Mother.

We must draw a line, a broad line, between the home mother and the worldly mother, who, forgetful of the sacred task assigned her, neglects those who have been given into her charge, leaving them to the care of hirelings, while she pursues her girlish round of amusement.

Not so with our home mother. Thd heart warms to see her in her daily rounds of duties. How pleased she sits day after day, shaping and sewing some little articles for use and ornament of her little ones. And how proud and pleased is each little recipient of her kindness. How the little faces dimple with pleasure and the bright eyes grow still brighter as mother decks them with her own hands in the new dress she has made. How much more warm and comfortable they feel if mother wraps them up before they go to school.

There is a particular charm about all she does, explain it who can. They could not sleep—nay, for that matter, she could not, if she failed to visit their room, and arrange them comfortably before they slept. He heart thrills with gratitude as she imprints a good-night kiss on each rosy cheek. It may be, too, a tear will start for the little nestling in its chill narrow bed, for whom her maternal care is no longer needed. It sleeps though the wild winter winds howl around its head. A mightier arm enfolds it. It is at rest. She bends meekly to the Hand that sped the shaft, and turns with a warmer love, if it is possible, to those little ones who are left to love. How tenderly she watches by their bedside when they are ill!

Blessing be on the home-loving mother! Angels look with love upon her acts. Her children will grow up and call her blessed and the memory of her kindly deeds will remain when time shall have blotted out everything besides. The mother is the incarnation of love; for she finds her chief joy in promoting the happiness of her offspring. How great the privilege of having such a mother. How strong are her claims on her children's gratitude, love and good offices.—Scottish American.

The average married man knows what it is to be cross-examined.

Escaped After Fifteen Years

W. P. Broyles made a successful escape after fifteen years of suffering from kidney and bladder troubles. Foley Kidney Pills released him and will do just the same for others. He says: "They cured a most severe backache with painful bladder irregularities, and they do all you claim for them." Refuse substitutes.—Adv.

E. CLARK.

The trouble with having money is it takes more than you've got to live up to it.

W. F. Fox, 195 W. Washington Street, Noblesville, Ind., says: "After suffering many months with kidney trouble, after trying other remedies and prescriptions, I purchased a box of Foley Kidney Pills which not only did me more good than any other remedies I ever used, but have positively set my kidneys right. Other members of my family have used them with similar results." Take at the first sign of kidney trouble.—Adv.

HIS TRADE.

"Our doctor wishes well to everybody."

"Then he is a hypocrite."

"How can you say so?"

"Because how can he want his practice to grow if he wishes everybody well?"

It's the easiest thing in the world for a pretty woman to manage a man—if she isn't married to him.

One who has nothing to lose is generally willing to take chances.

HIS METHOD.

Giller—How do you accomplish your great success with the ladies? Do you keep giving them things?

Perry—Nothing on earth but encouragement, old man.—Judge.

Cut the High Cost of Living

W. H. Chapman, Winnebago, Neb., tells how he did it. "My two children had a very bad cough and the doctor's medicines did them no good. I got a bottle of Foley's Honey and Tar Compound, and before it was all used the children were free and out of their cough. I saved a doctor's bill for one 25c bottle of Foley's Honey and Tar Compound. No opiates.—Adv.

DIFFERENT.

"Do you vote the same as your husband?"

"I should say not! He votes the same as me."

WHEN SHE DISCOVERS IT.

When a woman discovers that she is growing old she may be sure that her friends have known it for a long time.

"Dead"

"The fattest one as usual, and it's my own fault."

The poem got this line when a stout or portly man was asked how he kept so fat. He said: "I eat a little RED DEVIL LYE just occasionally, you would have kept the fat from me if I had used it every day. It's a good thing to have a little RED DEVIL LYE in the house. It keeps you from getting fat, keeps you from getting old, keeps you from getting sick, keeps you from getting ugly, keeps you from getting fat, keeps you from getting old, keeps you from getting sick, keeps you from getting ugly."—Adv.

THE KEY OF KNOWLEDGE.

Things You Ought to Know—Especially Why God Has Permitted Evil. Every Christian Bible Student SHOULD KNOW the satisfactory proofs that the Bible is a Divine Revelation—reliable and trustworthy—providing a Plan which is systematic, full of Justice, Wisdom and Love.

The Key of Knowledge of the Scriptures, long lost (Luke 11:52), is found and gives God's faithful people access to the "Hidden Mystery" (Col. 1:26).

YOU SHOULD KNOW that the Lord Jesus and his faithful are to be not only Priests but Kings.

YOU SHOULD KNOW that this Kingdom is to come and God's will be done at the Second Advent.

YOU SHOULD KNOW that God's Plan is to select and save the Church in the Gospel Age, and to use this Church in blessing the world during the Millennial reign on earth.

YOU SHOULD KNOW that a "Ransom for all" implies an opportunity for Restitution to all.

YOU SHOULD KNOW that the Day of Judgment is 1,000 years long—the world's Trial Day.

YOU SHOULD KNOW that the Spiritual and Human natures are separate and distinct.

YOU SHOULD KNOW that the "Narrow Way" of self-sacrifice will cease with this age.

YOU SHOULD KNOW that the "Highway of Righteousness" without suffering will be open to all of the re-embodied race during the Messianic reign on earth.

YOU SHOULD KNOW that the Kingdoms of This World are but for an ordained period and must then give place to the "Kingdom of Heaven"—"Thy Kingdom Come." Especially YOU OUGHT TO KNOW why God has permitted evil for six thousand years, and the relationship of God's people to this reign of sin and death and to the results.

These subjects and many others of deep interest to all of God's people are discussed fully and in language easy of comprehension in "THE DIVINE PLAN OF THE AGES."
