MRS. DUDLEY MALONE

Mrs. Dudley Field Malone is the eldest daughter of Senator and Mrs. James A. O'Connor of New York and wife of D. J. Field Malone, an attorney at law in New York City.

MAN.

He frets through the day and lieth awake nights trying to keep himself and his dependent population out of the poorhouse.

Man that is born of his parents is of few years and full of microbes. He goes to school when a youngster and gets the seat of his pants paddled for something he did not do until he is sick at heart. He grows up like a weed in a back yard and soon reaches the age when he is composed largely of feet, freckles and an appetite for pie. About the time he gets too long for short trousers and not long enough for long ones, he goes away to college, learns how to monkey with a three-dollar mandolin and play whisky poker. He comes home a bigger fool than ever and marries a sweet young thing whose pa is supposed to be wealthy, but whom he subsequently ascertains, could not buy the prize rooster at a county fair. He worries along from year to year, gradually acquiring offspring, until his house resembles a Sunday school class just before Christmas. He frets through the day and lieth awake nights trying to figure out how to keep himself and his dependent population out of the poorhouse. Efforts are rewarded by having his daughter run away and get married and bring him home a nice son-in-law every few days to feast at his board. His sons grow up and call him governor and set him back a five spot every day or two. About the time he has acquired enough lucre to make it worth while for his heirs to quarrel over, he contracts a cold and is hurried away before he has time to have a talk with his family. His sons blow in his estate on bad whiskey and plug hats and his wife puts the finishing touches to his career by marrying the hired man.

Best Medicine for Colds

When a druggist recommends a remedy for colds, throat and lung troubles, you can feel sure that he knows what he is talking about. C. L. King, druggist of Marion, Ohio, writes of Dr. King's New Discovery: "I know Dr. King's New Discovery is the best throat and lung medicine I sell. It cured my wife of a severe bronchial cold after all other remedies failed. It will do the same for you if you are suffering with a cold or any bronchial, throat or lung cough. Keep a bottle on hand all the time for everyone in the family to use. It is a home doctor. Price 50c and $1. Guaranteed by all druggists.—Adv.

EARLY HOURS.

Employer—Are you afraid of early hours?
Applicant—No, sir. You can not close too early for me, sir.

Comparative Digestibility of Food

Made with different Baking Powders

From a Series of Elaborate Chemical Tests:

An equal quantity of bread (biscuit) was made with each of three different kinds of baking powder—cream of tartar, phosphate, and alum—and submitted separately to the action of the digestive fluid, each for the same length of time.

The relative percentage of the food digested is shown as follows:

Bread made with Royal Cream of Tartar Powder:

100 Per Cent. Digested

Bread made with phosphate powder:

68 1/2 Per Cent. Digested

Bread made with alum powder:

67 1/2 Per Cent. Digested

These tests, which are absolutely reliable and unprejudiced, make plain a fact of great importance to everyone: Food raised with Royal, a cream of tartar Baking Powder, is shown to be entirely digestible, while the alum and phosphate powders are found to largely retard the digestion of the food made from them.

Undigested food is not only wasted food, but it is the source of very many bodily ailments.

THE HEART'S ROADWAY.

A big road circles round the world, sure—fine it is and gay, But the little borgen of my heart runs lone and far away; 'Tis winding over weary seas with many a sigh and heave, But, oh, of all the roads I know it is the sweetest yet.

By common ways and common graves and common homes it goes; But, oh, its beauty no one but the soul within me knows; Its dawns are drenched with dew—'neath heaven, its nights are tearful sweet, And sometimes One long crucified walks there to guide my feet.

It leads me down by purple hills where fairies sport of nights, It shows me many a hawthorn lane, the scene of dead delights; It clothes again with living grace the faces away Beneath the cold of grass and mould, my road of yesterday.

Oh, twilit borgen of my heart, the world is vague and vast, But you are holy with the balm of all my hallowed past; You thrill me with the touch of hands my hands were wont to hold, You lure me with the lit of dreams I dreamed and lost of old.

The big road of the world leads on by many a stately town, But the little borgen of my heart keeps ever drifting down; By common ways and common graves and common homes, but, oh, Of all the roads in life it is the sweetest road I know.

MY PRAYER.

I do not ask, my God, for mystic power
To heal the sick and lame, the deaf and blind;
I ask thee humbly for the gracious dower
Just to be kind.

I do not pray to see the shining beauty
Of highest knowledge most divinely true;
I pray that, knowing well my simple duty,
This I may do.

I do not ask that men with flattering finger
Should point me out within the crowded mart,
But only that the thought of me may linger
In one glad heart.

I would not rise up upon the men below me,
Or pulling at the robes of men above;
I would that friends, a few dear friends, may know me,
And, knowing, love.

I do not pray for palaces of splendor,
Or far amid the world's delights to roam;
I pray that I may know the meaning tender
Of home, sweet home.

I do not ask that heaven's golden treasure
Upon my little, blundering life be spent;
But oh, I ask thee for the perfect pleasure
Of calm content.

GOOD HUSBANDS.

How to Make Good Husbands—Test it. It is Said to Work Like a Charm.

First—Be a good wife! In so doing you will have a good influence over hubby.

Second—Treat him to kind words, kisses and good dinners. Prepare the dishes he likes best if your means will allow.

Third—Keep his room in order, no matter how often he scatters things around; put hat and boots where he will always know where to find them.

Fourth—Never scold, no matter how wet the wood or how much the stove smokes; tell him you like it that way; smile and go on.

Fifth—Make him believe he is all the world to you, as, indeed, he should be. Laugh at his jokes, no matter how stale.

And last but not least, keep all his buttons sewed on and all in their proper places, and all his socks well darned. Then, if you don't have a good husband we will say that you have remarkably poor material to work on.

WELL.

A certain man in this town went to call at the office of a certain other in this town Friday. The office boy told the caller that the boss was out on important legal business and the caller went away. But the next morning the caller called again, relates the Cleveland Plain Dealer.

"Where's the boss?" he asked.

"Out on important business," answered the office boy.

"Look here, boy! I was here yesterday and you said the boss was out on some important legal business."

"Yes, sir."

"Well, I went out and found him up against the bar in the nearest saloon. Is that what you call legal business?"

"Why ain't it? Is it illegal to get a drink?"—Philadelphia Press.

GOLDEN COIN OF COURTESY.

A gentleman stops at a friend's house and finds it in confusion. He does not see anything to apologize for—"never thinks of such matters." Everything is right, cold supper, cold room, crying children—"perfectly comfortable!" Good homes, where his wife has been taking care of the children or attending the sick, and working her life almost out. Then he does not see why things can't be kept in order; "there never were such cross children before!"

No apologies accepted at home! Oh, why not look at the sunny side at home as well as abroad, and try pleasant words instead of sorely me?

Why not be agreeable at home? Why not use freely that golden coin of courtesy?

Love at first sight is apt to fade on its initial trip to the wash.
