This farmer telephoned and stayed at home.

This farmer went to market.

And find the market unfavorable for your produce? The farmer who has a telephone in his home can telephone first. The useless trips thus saved are worth the cost of service.

Under our plan the service costs but a trifle; the farmer owns the instrument and the equipment.

BROOKLYN TABERNACLE

BIBLE STUDY COURSE

LESSONS LEARNED BY JOSEPH'S BRETHREN.

Genesis 44-June 1.

Joseph's experiences, mixed with faith, worked out for him a grand character, wholly obedient to God. But by a different process, Joseph's brethren were exercised by remorse and became more sympathetic to their brotherly-kind, more loyal to their father Jacob. Life's experiences are intended, under Divine supervision, to be corrective and helpful. Could Joseph in God, however, be necessary as a basis for any such blessing.

After the feast in which Joseph had given Benjamin five portions, the brethren departed for home well pleased with their experiences. Joseph, however, desired to test their sympathy for their father and their loving interest in Benjamin. Therefore he sent of his silver cup to be placed in Benjamin's sack of wheat. After the brethren had gotten fully started homeward, Joseph sent servants to demand its cup.

The brethren insisted their innocence, and declared that if the cup were found in their possession, they would willingly become slaves. The search was made, and the cup found. In great distress the company wended its way back to the palace.

Again Joseph was anxious and reproved them, that they might have opportunity to absolve Benjamin. Protesting innocence, they declared their willingness to become Joseph's slaves. But he answered that only the guilty one—Benjamin—should become his slave, and that the rest should return home, and continue to do the favors of Egypt. This proposition he would test them. Had they the same heartiness that they had exhibited when they sold him into slavery?

Then Judah, who had pledged himself that Benjamin should return in safety, made an eloquent appeal, and pleaded that he be accepted as a slave in Benjamin's stead. He ended with the question, "How shall I go up to my father, and the lad be not with me? lest I see the evil that shall befall my father?"

The evidence of a change of heart was satisfactory to Joseph, and it is to all those who love righteousness, a joy to witness the conversion of sinners. The conversion is borne in upon us that much of the sin, the weakness, the cruelty of today may be attributed to inherited weaknesses and immature experience. We say, "How great a change would probably be effected by a broader, deeper knowledge of ourselves and others?"

And do not life's daily experiences tend to give us the broadening of sympathies, and this character development? Doubtless there are exceptions to every rule, but it is our conviction that a sufficiency of the likeness of God results in every member of our race to permit him at times to appreciate the good, the noble, the pure. It is because we are surrounded by sin and evil that the good and noble sentiments are so rarely brought into existence.

When Will Men Profit?

Some will say, "Admitting that life's trials teach men the selfishness of sin and the wisdom of righteousness, where would be the profit of such instruction if only the sally, who walk in Jesus' footsteps under a covenant of self-sacrifice, are to share in the Kingdom? How will the remainder of the race profit by their experiences, if death ends all hope?"

The answer is that we have made a mistake respecting the teachings of the Bible. The Scriptures nowhere say that all hope of salvation ends when we fall asleep in death. So far as the Church is concerned, it is true that death ends their probation. But this is not true concerning the world. The Church alone is now on trial. The world's trial time will be in the next Age.

Christ's Reign will be the great thousand-year Day, in which will be determined the worthiness or unworthiness of everlasting life of all humanity. Those found worthy will eventually be perfected, and granted the Divine blessing of everlasting life. All then found unworthy will be sentenced as unfit for life, sentenced to the Second Death.

The experiences of the present life, good or bad, will have their bearing upon the future trial, but will not decide the case for any one. Because of misuse of present opportunities and knowledge, some will enter upon the future life disadvantaged, proportionately. These disadvantages will be their stripes, their chastisement, for present failures. Others, rightly exercised by the trials and difficulties of life, will be made more just, more loving, as were Joseph's brethren. Thus they will be the better prepared for a good entrance into the Messianic Kingdom, now, we believe, near at hand.

HIGH COST OF LIVING

The high cost of living was not high when we were girls and boys; When we fewer bought things And scarcely any toys. We lived on what we had at home, Sold what we had to spare; And in the spring and summer days, Our feet and legs went bare. We enjoyed ourselves as well As any one can now; But just begin to follow style If you want to start a row. We wore plain clothes to church those days; As well as Sunday-school; But if we wear plain things now We are thought to play the fool. We saved the ashes and meat scraps To make the family soap; But to get such things these days, To town you have to lope. Of course, it's good to have the things Which money will always buy; But if you don't stint quite close Your living will sure be high. The one thing we all should do Is to make our living at home; Then the land will flow with milk And honey from the comb! —Southern Reporter.

MRS. JOE PERSON'S REMEDY CO., KITTRELL, N. C.

Dear Mrs. Person: I was troubled with a breaking out on my leg. It came first in the form of a very large swelling. After a month it commenced to spread, and continued until one half of my leg from the knee down, was almost a solid one. At times I was unable to walk. I tried various medicines and operations but it continued to spread and get worse. One day I was talking to a friend about having it amputated, but was persuaded to try Mrs. Joe Person's Remedy. I bought some of the remedy and used it very soon began to improve and in ten days perfectly well again. JNO. W. JOHNSON.

Mrs. Joe Person's Remedy is an old Indian remedy made from the juice of fresh green herbs, gathered while in this condition, thus preserving the full strength of the herbs. These herbs are found in the neighborhood of the Tar River in North Carolina, and their medicinal qualities were first discovered by the Indians who took the formula with the Person family. It is made today exactly like the original used by the Indians and is guaranteed under the National Pure Food and Drug Laws to be absolutely pure.

I gave up and thought I would die, but my husband urged me to try Cardui, so, I began, and the first bottle helped me. By the time the third bottle was used, I could do all my work. All the people around here said I would die, but Cardui relieved me."
