NOT JUST WHAT SHE MEANT.

Under the Circumstances it is to Be Hoped Minister Had a Sense of Humor.

When the new minister made his first pastoral call at the Brownings he took little Anna on his knee and asked her if she had a kiss for him. But the little girl refused to kiss or be kissed. She squirmed loose and ran into the next room, where her mother was putting a few finishing touches to her adornment before going into the drawing room to greet the clergyman.

"Mamma," the little girl whispered, "the man in the drawing room wanted me to kiss him."

"Well," replied mamma, "why didn't you let him? I would if I were you."

Thereupon Anna ran back into the drawing room, and the minister asked:

"Well, little lady, won't you kiss me now?"

"No, I won't," replied Anna, promptly, "but mamma says she will."

THE TEN MISTAKES OF LIFE.

An English paper is said have given what are called "the ten mistakes of life," as follows:

1. To set up our own standard of what is right and wrong and judge people accordingly.
2. To measure the enjoyment of others by our own.
3. To expect uniformity of opinion in this world.
4. To look for judgment and experience in youth.
5. To endeavor to mold all dispositions alike.
6. To look for perfection in our own actions.
7. To worry ourselves and others with what cannot be remedied.
8. To refuse to yield in immaterial matters.
9. To refuse to alleviate, so far as lies in our power, all that which needs alleviation.
10. To refuse to make allowance for the infirmities of others.

NOW I LAY ME.

There is a touching story told of a little girl who was undergoing an operation. The physician said to her as he was about to place her on the operating table: "Before we can make you well we must put you to sleep." The little girl looked up and smiling, said, "Oh, if you are going to put me to sleep, I must say my prayers first." Then she knelt down beside the table and said: "Now I lay me down to sleep, I pray thee, Lord, my soul to keep; If I should die before I wake, I pray thee, Lord, my soul to take."

The surgeon said afterwards that he prayed that night for the first time in thirty years. This little girl was about her father's business as Christ was when He was listening and answering questions. No one is so small but he can attend to the business of prayer. Thank God that there are little prayers, little burdens, little words, deeds, and songs adapted to little children, for shall they not lead us? (Is. 6:6)—Record of Christian Work.

The Best Pain Killer.

Hucklen's Aranea balm when applied to a cut, bruise, sprain, burn or scald, or other injury of the skin, will immediately remove all pain. E. E. Chamberlain, of Clinton, Me., says: "It cures cuts and other injuries of the skin. As a healing remedy its equal don't exist." Will do good for you. Only 25c at all druggists.—Adv.

A BAD MISTAKE.

"That young lady is angry with me. The episode happened at a reception. I couldn't see her face under a big hat. "And you mistook her for another young lady, eh? Nothing in that to get mad about." "I mistook her for a piano lamp."—Ex.

After Long Suffering

Women Are Constantly Being Restored to Health by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

"Worth mountains of gold," says one woman. Another says, "I would not give Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound for all the other medicines for women in the world." Still another writes, "I should like to have the merits of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound thrown on the sky with a searchlight so that all suffering women could read and be convinced that there is a remedy for their ills."

We could fill a newspaper ten times the size of this with quotations taken from the letters we have received from grateful women whose health has been restored and suffering banished by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. Why has Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound accomplished such a universal success? Why has it lived and thrived and kept on doing its glorious work among the sick women of the world for more than 30 years? Simply and surely because of its sterling worth. The reason no other medicine has ever approached its success is plainly and simply because there is no other medicine so good for women's ills. Here are two letters that just came to the writer's desk—only two of thousands, but both tell a comforting story to every suffering woman who will read them—and be guided by them.

FROM MRS. D. H. BROWN, Lola, Kansas.—"During the Change of Life I was sick for two years. Before I took your medicine I could not bear the weight of my clothes and was bloated very badly. I doctored with three doctors but they did me no good. They said nature must have its way. My sister advised me to take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and I purchased a bottle. Before it was gone the bloating left me and I was not so sore. I continued taking it until I had taken 12 bottles. Now I am stronger than I have been for years and can do all my work, even the washing. Your medicine is worth its weight in gold. I cannot praise it enough. If more women would take your medicine there would be more healthy women. You may use this letter for the good of others."—Mrs. D. H. Brown, 609 North Walnut Street, Lola, Kan.

Write to LYDIA E. PINKHAM MEDICINE CO. (CONFIDENTIAL) LYNN, MASS., for advice. Your letter will be opened, read, and answered by a woman and held in strict confidence.

TAKE HEART AND GO ON.

"Sometimes we are almost discouraged. The way is so cumbered and steep; Sometimes, though, we're spent with the sowing, There cometh no harvest to reap, And we faint on the road and we falter, And our faith and our courage are gone, Till a voice, as we kneel at the altar, Commands us: "Take heart and go on." "Take heart!" 'Tis the word of our Leader, And e'en when our vision is dim, What else can we do, but arising, Uplift weary eyes unto Him? "Take heart!" Why, 'tis Christ who hath spoken; And what can we do but obey? Though He gives us no tangible token, Himself is the sun of our day.

And in His own time He will show us Why sorrow and trial were sent— Why we toiled and saw naught for our toiling, And home empty-handed we went, Though He gives us no tangible token, Still must we arise and go on, As sure as His body was broken For us, that our fight shall be won.

Then faint for a touch of His garment When crowds hem us in and 'tis dark; We'll cling to the thought of His goodness, Press on, with the cross for our mark. Take heart! Yes, our own blessed Master, Till the last of our heartbeats are gone, Amid conflict and loss and disaster, We'll just take heart and go on."

A WOMAN'S LOVE.

A sentinel angel sitting high in glory, Heard this shrill wail ring out from purgatory: "Have mercy, mighty angel, hear my story:

"I loved—and, blind with passionate love, I fell; Love brought me down to death, and death to hell, For God is just, and death for sin is well.

"I do not rage against His high decree, Nor for myself do ask that grace shall be; But for my love on earth who mourns for me.

"Great Spirit! Let me see my love again, And comfort him one hour, and I were fain To pay a thousand years of fire and pain."

Then said the pitying angel: "Nay, repent That wild vow! Look, the dai' finger's bent Down to the last hour of thy punishment."

But still she wailed, "I pray thee, let me go! I cannot rise to peace and leave him so! Oh, let me soothe him in his bitter woe!"

The brazen gates ground sullenly ajar, And upward, joyous, like a rising star, She rose and vanished in the ether far.

But soon ahead the dying sunset sailing, And like a wounded bird her pinions trailing, She fluttered back, with broken hearsed wailing.

She sobbed, "I found him by the summer sea Reclined, his head upon a maiden's knee— She curled his hair and kissed him. 'Woe is me!'"

She wept, "Now let my punishment begin, I have been fond and foolish. Let me in, To expiate my sorrow and my sin."

The angel answered, "Nay, sad soul, go higher! To be deceived in your true heart's desire 'Was bitter than a thousand years of fire."

WANTED--A GIRL.

A Loving Daughter, the Touch of Whose Caressing Fingers Brings a Happy Light to the Wrings Eyes of a Father and Mother.

Yes, wanted a girl—a daughter—in a thousand homes, bright, smiling, helpful, always willing to hold the baby, set the table or sweep the floor, and to do these things so happily and cheerfully and well, that the baby will crow, the table will look like a well-balanced picture, and the careful, critical grandmother will find no dust under the chairs or in the corners of the room. Wanted—a loving daughter, the touch of whose caressing fingers brings a happy light to the weary eyes of a father and mother, the sound of whose cheery voice and merry laughter is a joy to the whole household. Where is there a home in which such a daughter is not wanted? Does any one know such a girl? There is a situation open for her. She is advertised for, sought for; she can have any place she wants; the world is hers, but why are there not more applicants? Ah, she is already occupied. She has a home of her own which she cannot give up; she is enshrined in the hearts of father and mother; her brothers have bound her about with the chords of love, and will not let her go.

THE WRONG PASSENGER.

One afternoon not long ago, in the vicinity of Druid Hill Park, in Baltimore there might have been seen a young man industriously pushing up and down a baby carriage, intently reading a book the while.

"Henry! Henry!" called a young woman from the second story of a house opposite.

Henry heard not, but continued to push the baby carriage and to read his book.

In about an hour the cries for "Henry," were repeated.

"Well, what do you want?" he demanded, rather impatiently.

"Nothing, dear," was the irritating response, "except to inform you that you've been wheeling Harriet's doll all the afternoon. I think it's time for the baby to have a turn now."—Harper's Magazine.

SHE KNEW.

The young man glanced around timidly and said: "I would like a pair of lady's silk stockings."

"What size, please?" asked the clerk.

"The smallest you have."

"All right," said the clerk, knowingly, and handing out a pair of tenns, "I think these will be about right. By the way, they're for your sweetheart, are they not?"

"Yes, of course," the customer replied, blushing to the roots of his hair, "but how you know?"

"Well, if you had been buying them for your wife you would have asked for a good large size, and they would have been cotton."

WHAT SHE WANTED.

A teacher asked her pupils to draw a picture of what they wished to be when they grew up. The pupils went to work and drew soldiers, sailors, policeman, fire ladies, etc.

They all handed in their work except one little girl, who sat quiet by with her pad in front of her and her pencil in her hand.

"Well, Sarah, don't you know what you want to be when you grow up?" asked the teacher.

"Yes, I know, but I don't know how to draw it," answered Sarah, with a worried look.

"What is it that you want to be that you can't draw?"

"I want to be married."—Exchange.

Minister Praises this Laxative

Rev. H. Stubbins, of Allston, La., in praising Dr. King's New Life Pills for constipation, writes:—"Dr. King's New Life Pills are such perfect pills no home should be without them." No better regulator for the liver and bowels. Every pill guaranteed. Try them. Price 25c. at all druggists.—Adv.

THE MAN WHO LAUGHS.

The Blues Flee Before Him as the Fog Before the West Wind.

The man whose ha! ha! reaches from one end of the street to the other may be the same fellow who scolded his wife and spanked the baby before he got his breakfast, but his laughter is only the cradle of thorns under the pot. The man who spends his laughter through his life—before a late breakfast, when he misses the train, when his wife goes visiting and he has to eat a cold supper; the man who can laugh when he finds a button off his shirt, when the furnace goes out at night and the twins come down with the measles at the same time—he is the fellow that's needed. He never tells his neighbor to have faith; somehow he puts faith into him. He delivers no homilies; somehow the sight of his face, the sound of his happy voice and the light of his blessed life, carry conviction that words have no power to give. The blues flee before him as the fog before the west wind. He comes into his own home like a flood of sunshine over a meadow of blooming buttercups, and his wife and children bloom like June roses. His home is rendered with sympathy and love. The neighborhood is better for his life, and somebody will learn from his life that laughter is better than tears. The world needs this man. Why are there so few of them? Can he be created? Can he be evolved? Why is he not in every house, turning rain into sunshine, and winter into summer all the year around until life is a perpetual season of joy?
