WE WOULD SEE JESUS,

"Never Man Spake Like This Man."

Making the Acquaintance of the Christ—"Sir, we would see Jesus."—John 12:21.

The men who made this request of Philip were representatives of a nation which at that time held the preeminent position in intellect and culture. They were Greeks who had become tired of the polytheistic worship practiced in their own country, and had become converted to the Jewish religion. Coming up to Jerusalem at the time of the Passover they heard about the new Prophet that had arisen in Judea, and desired to be brought in His presence.

Whether it was idle curiosity that prompted them to make the request, or heart yearning to know more about the salvation which he preached, the Word does not say, but in either case it was a desire which resulted in great things for them. They were brought into the presence of the Son of God. Now there are many like these ancient Greeks who have heard of Jesus, but who have never really become acquainted with Him. It should be their desire to know Him both with heart and mind, and for the following reasons:

1.—Because He is the wisest teacher the world has ever had.

The world has produced many great teachers, but can it be said of any one of them as it was said of Christ, "never man spake like this man?" The world has made rapid progress and development, but the words which Jesus spoke, with such clearness and power, still hold first place in the thought of the world. The greatest and best teachers are willing to gather humbly around the feet of the Master, and study His messages, for they are eternal truths. They come from Him who is the source of all wisdom. No where else can we find words that combine such wisdom and simplicity, such prudence and courage, such faithfulness and tenderness, and such power and beauty. Is it not of the utmost importance, therefore, that men should know Jesus because of the truth which they can learn from Him?

2.—Because He is the perfect pattern.

The power of influence is recognized by all. We cannot come in contact with a person who possesses to a high degree nobility of character without being benefited by the association. A book which contains the biography of some consecrated servant of God will do much towards strengthening and elevating the characters of its readers. But the noblest character ever wrought out under the gracious influences of the Holy Spirit is only a faint reflection of the ideal life which Jesus lived. If in the life of one frail fellowman we can find inspiration, how much more shall we be able to find it in that life which was in every respect perfect. Jesus, by His lofty example, calls us away from things that are small and mean and useless, and leads us in pursuit of that which is great and good and useful. He directs our thoughts towards the highest, showing by His own life of devotion the way to gain the crown of eternal rejoicing.

Become better acquainted with the life of Jesus for it means inspiration after things which bring breadth of vision, depth of soul and heights of glory.

3.—Because He is the atoning Saviour.

Behold Him, for He is "the Lamb of God that taketh away the sins of the world." His blood "cleanseth us from all sin." He openeth the way of escape for fallen humanity by taking upon himself man's great burden of guilt. He "bore our sins in his own body on the tree, that we, being dead to sin, should live unto righteousness."

Friend of sinners, redeeming Saviour, and everliving Advocate, we would see Him and strive to dwell continually in His presence. We would sit at His feet and hear His words of wisdom, we would look up to Him and be led on to greater effort by His noble example. We would worship and sing His praises constantly, for He forgiveth all our iniquities, healeth all our diseases, and redeemeth our lives from destruction. Like the Greeks of old we desire to become better acquainted with Jesus, the Son of God.

WHO KNOWS.

Who knows—who can tell where the summer goes With dew-drenched garments and sweet-scented hair? Where is the life that went out of the rose? The music, the sunlight, the laughter—where? Who knows?

What knowledge reveals where the freed soul goes When released from its prison-house of pain? To the realm of light or the place of woes; To the golden heights or the shadowed plain, Who knows?

At the voice of knowledge all gates unclose, Except the portals of life and death, Here we pain to ask where the spirit goes, The secret of giving and hushing breath. God knows.

A SONG TO BROTHER ROBIN.

Thank you, Brother Robin, for the red that's on your breast; Somewhere Mr. Mockingbird is dreaming in his nest; Where lights of Maytime gleam, He's singing in a dream, Robin, singing in a dream!

Thank you, Mister Bluebird, for the flutter of a wing; Are you thinking of your sweetheart in a blossom-lane of spring? Frosty field and stream, But soon the light'll beam; You're dreaming of a dream, Bluebird, dreaming of a dream!

Linger, Brother Robin, with the red upon your breast; Stay till Mister Mockin'bird is singing 'round his nest! Weather's blowing bleak, But spring a word'll speak And make the wide world wonder at the roses on her cheek!

—Frank L. Stanton.

THERE'S PLENTY OF TIME.

There's plenty of time for everything good, There's time to laugh when you're in the mood, Time to labor and time to sleep, But not a minute of time to weep.

There's time enough to do your best; There's time to run and time to rest, There's plenty of time to strive and try, But not a moment of time to sigh.

There's time another's burden to share, Time for praises and time for prayer; Time for doing a kindly deed, But not a moment for grasping greed.

There's time enough to gather sweet flowers, Time to improve the passing hours; Time to be sure you're on the right track, But not a moment for looking back.

There's time to do all you need to do; Time to be brave and strong and true, But no time to spare for sniffs and sneers, And not a minute to waste in fears.

There's time to work for the kingdom of God, Time for shedding His Love abroad. Time to hope and patiently wait, But not a moment to spend in hate.

There's time to try to understand, Time to enjoy the beauties at hand; Time to live without making haste, But not a minute of time to waste.

The Liver Regulates the Body A Sluggish Liver Needs Care. Someone has said that people with Chronic Liver Complaint should be shut up away from humanity, for they are pessimists and see through a "glass darkly." Why? Because mental states depend upon physical states. Biliousness, Headaches, Dizziness and Constipation disappear after using Dr. King's New Life Pills. See at your druggist.

A man may take on sufficient liquor to disable his conscience temporarily, but it will be doing business at the old stand next morning.

DON'T YOU DO IT.

Warning Given Those who Would Needless Go Into Law Suits For Spite.

Whatever else you do, don't get into a lawsuit over some trifling disagreement with a neighbor. That courts are full of suits which could have been settled by mutual concession or by arbitration to the great advantage of all parties except the lawyers in the case. Just the other day a suit was decided after two or three years of expense and worry on the part of two families. It was over a disputed line as to many such suits are, and this land in dispute was probably not worth fifty dollars. The suit cost the winner $225, and the loser, being taxed with the costs, necessarily had more to pay. It is probable that each party spent at least $100 worth of time in moulting with the case.

Another case recently noticed, is where a farmer had a right to get water from a spring on a neighbor's land. He wanted to build a spring house, the owner objected. The first man had got along without a springhouse for years, it would not have damaged the landowner a penny, yet an injunction has been issued and a lawsuit is on. Each party will probably spend several hundred dollars and be no better off, and the old friendliness of the neighborhood will be a thing of the past.

To begin a suit in court over some such trivial matter which could easily be adjusted by a little give and take, is not only the poorest sort of business policy—a case of wasting certain dollars to gain possible cents—but is also a crime against the community and a foolish waste of the best part of life. For what shall it profit a man if he gain a needless lawsuit only to lose the good-will of his neighbors and his own friendliness towards them?—Progressive Farmer.

THE DOUBLES.

Col. Roosevelt, as all the world knows, shaves every evening before he goes to bed. Apropos of this odd fact there is a little story.

Before the Outlook office one day a robust man of middle age approached the Colonel and said, displaying a row of strong, white teeth in a smile:

"Colonel, I'm taken for you everywhere. It's most embarrassing."

Colonel Roosevelt looked the man over keenly, then, with a smile that displayed his own strong white teeth, he said:

"Well, of all my doubles you resemble me the most. In fact, if I could stand you up before me every evening, I'd be able to shave by you."

SOMETHING ELSE BEAUTIFUL.

A little girl named Hilda and her mother stood one cold winter morning looking out upon the landscape, in which everything was covered with an icy armor that sparkled with glittering beauty in the sunshine.

"Oh, how beautiful!" exclaimed Hilda.

"Yes," answered her mother, "but it will be all gone before noon time."

The little girl was quiet for a moment as she gazed upon the fairy-like scene that lay stretched out before her. Then she looked up and said brightly:

"Never mind, mother; there'll be something else beautiful tomorrow."

What a charming thought was uttered by that little girl in those words! What a comfort it is to know that, though some beautiful things may pass away, God will send others just as beautiful to take their places.

THE IMPECUNIOUS ARTIST.

"I wish you to paint me a picture of Eve, and the apple."

"Could you advance me the price of a costume?" faltered the artist.

"Why, Eve had no complicated costume."

"That's so, Well, could you advance me the price of the apple?"

CLOSE QUARTERS.

An Alaska pioneer was telling how crowded a certain ship was during the gold rush. One day a man came up to the captain and said:

"You will have to give me some place to sleep."

"Where have you been sleeping?"

"Well," the passenger replied, "I have been sleeping on a sick man, but he's getting better now, he won't stand it."

WOMAN WOULD NOT GIVE UP

Though Sick and Suffering; At Last Found Help in Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Richmond, Pa. — "When I started taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound I was in a dreadfully rundown state of health, had internal troubles, and was so extremely nervous and prostrated that if I had feelings I would have been in bed. As it was I had hardly strength at times to be on my feet and what I did do was by a great effort. I could not sleep at night and of course felt very bad in the morning, and had a steady headache."

"After taking the second bottle I noticed that the headache was not so bad, I rested better, and my nerves were stronger. I continued its use until it made a new woman of me, and now I can hardly realize that I am able to do so much as I do. Whenever I know any woman in need of a good medicine I highly praise Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound." — Mrs. FRANK CLARK, 3146 N. Tulip St., Richmond, Pa.

Women Have Been Telling Women for forty years how Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has restored their health when suffering with female ills. A Delightful Profession for Young Women

HERE is no occupation for a young woman that is more pleasant or congenial, more suited to her ability and nature, none that can give her more personal satisfaction, and if she be a thoroughly trained professional one that offers bigger rewards than that of music teaching. The supply of competent teachers of piano music is far short of the demand.

Has your daughter ever given this matter a thought; have you ever spoken to her about (some day becoming a teacher of music?) if so—buy her a
