

RHEUMATISM ARRESTED

Many people suffer the tortures of lame muscles and stiffened joints because of impurities in the blood, and each succeeding attack seems more acute until rheumatism has invaded the whole system. To arrest rheumatism it is quite as important to improve your general health as to purify your blood, and the best (proved in Scott's Emulsion) is the great blood-maker, while its medicinal nourishment strengthens the organs to expel the impurities and uphold your strength. Scott's Emulsion is helping thousands every day who could not find other relief. Refuse the alcoholic substitutes.

COME along now. Let's have more weddings. June is passing along rapidly.

AND everybody will be wanting to know how that South Carolina anti-tipping law gets along.

GREENVILLE with a $30,000 bond issue for school purposes is moving along on the right road.

THE increasing number of traveling libraries now being put to use in North Carolina is a good sign.

THE only way to put an end to "blind-tigering" is to try the effect of road sentences. And for a second offense increase the term.

THE rapid rate at which money is being spent in the war in Europe is shown in the statement that it is costing England $15,000,000 a day.

WHILE New York sweltered under a hot sun on one of the warmest June fourteenths in the history of the Weather Bureau, between four and twelve inches of snow fell at Sargis, South Dakota.

WHISKEY gets another blow. In Alabama the law recently approved by the Supreme Court of that State by which newspapers carrying liquor advertisements are not allowed to circulate is looked upon to become a great aid to prohibition.

THE convention of ginners will meet in Raleigh, July 29th, for the annual session and according to President V. Cockrum there will be more than a thousand delegates present.

THIS is the largest organization of cotton ginners in the South and is made of representatives of the industry from the Southern States. The business of the convention in July will be the consideration of laws for the protection of ginners the purchasing of bagging and ties direct from the factory, arranging for the fall seed crop, more co-operation and mutual fire protection.

DEAFNESS CANNOT BE CURED

by local applications as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever, nine cases out of ten are caused by Catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces. We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Deafness (caused by catarrh) that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure.

HOWARD-JOHNSON.

Beautiful Home Wedding—Bride A Favorite in Weldon Social Circles.

One of the loveliest weddings ever before witnessed in Weldon took place Wednesday evening, June 16th, at 8 o'clock at the Colonial home of Mrs. Lee Johnson, where here daughter, Miss Eleanor Johnson, became the bride of Mr. Curtis William Howard, Jr. The ceremony, which was performed by Rev. C. W. Howard, of Kingston, father of the groom, was witnessed by relatives and a limited number of friends.

The decorations were unusually artistic in green and white, consisting of palms, ferns, Southern smilax, and white cut flowers. The bride, who was given in marriage by her uncle, Dr. Sterling Blackwell Pierce, was a picture of girlish beauty in her wedding gown of white crepe de chine trimmed with rare lace. The bridal veil was arranged coronet fashion and held in place with a wreath of orange blossoms. Her only ornament was a handsome pearl necklace, which was a gift of the groom.

Miss Willie Blackwell Musgrove, cousin of the bride, who was maid of honor, wore an attractive gown of white net over white tulle. Her short tulle veil was caught with small rosebuds and she carried an armful of bride's roses tied with white tulle.

The bride's maids were Misses Louise Beason, of Lexington; Mae Wilson, of Roxboro; Gladys Wallace, of Elm City; Louise Horton, of North Wilkesboro; Mary Nicholson, of Littleton; Marion Clayton and Louise Thorne, of Littleton, all Sorority mates of the bride. Their dainty frocks were of white net with lavender ribbons, the Sorority colors, and each wore short tulle veils and carried wreaths of roses, tied with lavender tulle. The bride carried a handsome shower bouquet of lilies of the valley and maiden hair ferns.

The ushers were Mr. Pierce Johnson, brother of the bride, and Mr. Howard Bounds. Mr. Paul Howard, of Kingston, served as his brother's best man. Little Miss Katherine Pierce, cousin of the bride, bore the ring in a shower of Easter lilies.

Immediately before the ceremony a musical program was rendered by Mrs. W. S. O'B. Robinson, of Goldsboro, and Miss L. L. Thorne, of Littleton. Mrs. William Alexander Pierce was accompanist and rendered the wedding music, giving soft selections during the ceremony.

The bridal register was in charge of Misses Lillie Gay Shaw and Bessie Carrington Owen. Mrs. J. W. Pierce received the guests at the library door and conducted them to the register.

Delightful and refreshing fruit punch was served by Misses Katherine Ward and Jeannette Musgrove and W. T. Shaw, Jr., and B. M. Tuttle.

The bride, the only daughter of Mrs. Johnson, is a young woman of unusual charm and culture, especially talented in piano and voice, being a music graduate of Peace Institute. The large collection of costly and handsome gifts coming from various sections attest in a measure the love and esteem in which she is held by her friends.

The groom, a former resident of Kingston, has made Weldon his home for the past several years, and is one of the most successful and prominent of the younger business men.

At the conclusion of the reception Mr. and Mrs. Howard left for an extended bridal trip north.

THOMAS JORDAN JARVIS.

Death Ends Career of North Carolina's "Grand Old Man."

Thursday night at nine o'clock, at his home in Greenville, Thomas Jordan Jarvis, former governor, senator, ambassador, friend of every man, woman and child in North Carolina—the State's "Grand Old Man"—died quietly after six weeks of illness. He was in his eightieth year, having celebrated his seventy-ninth birthday the 18th of January, receiving at that time hundreds of congratulatory messages from the people of the State who loved him better perhaps than any man within its borders. Weakness of body incident to a heaviness of years brought death.

When Vance was nominated Governor he was chosen as Lieutenant-Governor, succeeding Vance to the Governorship upon the latter's election to the Senate. He was re-elected for a full term in 1880. Promoting public education, advancing the construction of the Western North Carolina extension of the Cape Fear and Yadkin Valley Railroad, building of the Western Asylum at Morganton, the Eastern Asylum at Goldsboro, the Governor's Mansion at Raleigh, the purchase of the land of the State Department of Agriculture—these were some of the activities of the State during his administration. Toward its close an exposition was held in Raleigh showing marvelous industrial progress and contentment of the people.

In 1874 Governor Jarvis was married to Miss Mary Woodson, the daughter of Judge John Woodson, of Virginia, a lady of fine literary attainments and who had made notable contributions to North Carolina literature. They lived together in that long union in complete happiness and it is no secret that he attributed much of his popularity and success to her.

Governor Jarvis was a member of the Methodist Episcopal Church in the General Conference, and was long a trustee of Trinity College. He was a member of the Odd Fellows and of the Knights of Pythias.

LEO M. FRANK.

Gets Commutation to Life Imprisonment—Governor Slaton Gives Out Lengthy Statement Declaring That Spirit of Judge Roan Calls Back from Unknown To Save Prisoner from Death.

Governor John M. Slaton, of Georgia, Monday, commuted the death sentence of Leo M. Frank to life imprisonment.

The announcement was followed by mob violence and the militia of the State was called out to protect the Governor's home. Stones, brick, and bottles were thrown at the soldiers and Lieutenant Arnold Parker was struck and rendered unconscious for a short time.

At Marietta, the former home of Mary Phagan, the Governor was burned in effigy. A life sized dummy strung up to a telegraph pole at Marietta, bore an inscription "John M. Slaton, Georgia's traitor Governor."

Governor Slaton in a lengthy statement giving his reasons for commutation said: "In any event the performance of my duty under the constitution is a matter of conscience. The responsibility rests where the power is reposed. Judge Roan, with that awful sense of responsibility which probably came over him as he thought of that Judge before whom he would shortly appear, calls to me from another world to request that I do that which he should have done. I can endure misconstruction, abuse and condemnation, but I cannot stand the constant companionship of an accusing conscience which would remind me in every thought that I, as Governor of Georgia, failed to do what I thought to be right.

There is a territory 'beyond a reasonable doubt and absolute certainty' for which the law provides in allowing life imprisonment instead of execution. This case has been marked by doubt. Two judges of the State Supreme Court doubted. Two judges of the United States Supreme Court doubted. One of the three prison commissioners doubted.

"In my judgment, by granting a commutation in this case, I am sustaining the jury, the judge and the appellate tribunals, and at the same time am discharging that duty which is placed on me by the State constitution."

The Governor then appended the order commuting Frank's sentence from death to imprisonment for life.

SPEAK INTO THE TRANSMITTER

And Ask the Party You Are Talking To To Do the Same.

Many of the complaints made by subscribers that their telephones do not talk up and that they cannot hear or be heard, are frequently due to the improper method of the subscribers in talking into the telephone. Some subscribers talk "at it," some "away from it," and some "as though the telephone did not exist." The proper way to use a telephone is to TALK DIRECTLY INTO THE TRANSMITTER.

Telephone engineers have made elaborate tests to show the effect on transmission expressed in miles of No. 10 B. & S. copper circuit from varying distance of lips from the transmitter. They are the authority for the following figures:

Distance	Loss of Transmission
1 inch	57 miles
2 inches	128 miles
3 inches	178 miles
4 inches	218 miles

It is true that the telephone has been in common use for a great many years and yet it is also a fact that a large per centage of telephone users do not speak into the transmitter. To do this has a two-fold advantage; it enables the person at the other end of the circuit to HEAR PERFECTLY, and keeps, in part, at least, the "stand-by" from hearing what you have to say. The next time you talk local or Long Distance—speak into the transmitter—and ask the party you are talking to to do the same, and note the wondrous change, and what a pleasure it is to "Gift the Miles with Speech."
