I think President Wilson has acted with courage and discretion and high patriotism, but the "iingo" policy and its inevitable high taxes are unnecessary when war is ended and peace and reason resume their sway. Armies and the President's defence policy. navies will not be needed except in a small way for the balance of the century, let us hope. I think Mr. Bryan's letter on the subject is quite sensible.

GEORGE B. CURTIS. The people of this community as a whole are strongly in favor of the President's defence policy.

T. M. COOPER. I think a decided majority of the people of this community are entirely in accord with the President in his defence policy. Personally, I believe it is imperative that we have an adequate defence and that this can be had only by materially what would happen if Japan had strengthening both the army and China's size or China had Japan's the navy.
