GIRL "KIDS" THE PRESIDENT.

Washington Telephone Maid Calls Him "Woody Old Top," and Chides Him.

One of the most competent and popular telephone girls at a leading hotel in Washington, D. C., received a call a few days ago. The party wished to converse with one of the hotel guests. The operator inquired the name.

"Woodrow Wilson," came back over the phone. Now the gag is an old one and the "wise" telephone girls are on. So this one came back: "Well, Woodie, old top, how are you?" she gently chided. "You haven't called up for several days. You don't know how I have missed your sweet voice over the wire. Where have you been?"

The voice said it would like to have the call and minded not at all the telephone girl's "taffy." By and by the response came and the girl heard things that worried her. She looked thoughtful and chewed her mint more vigorously.

"I wonder if it could have been the president," she mused. Nervously she called the White House. One of the secret service men responded and the girl asked if a call had recently been sent to such and such a hotel.

After a minute's delay the reply came back:

"Yes, the president has been talking to Hon. —, of New York."

"My Gawd," was the reply.

A WISER VIEW.

"We take a wiser view of preparedness now than we took last year," said Representative David A. Claxton at a banquet.

"Our former attitude toward preparedness reminds me of Boozeman Boozier."

"How well you are looking," a man said to Boozier at the club.

"Yes," he answered, swelling out his chest. "Yes, I've sworn off."

"Gee! That settles it. I'm going to swear off, too. How long have you been a teetotaler?"

"I begin tomorrow." Boozeman Boozier answered. — Washington Star.

DAYS OF MIRACLES NOT PAST

The squire's pretty daughter, (examining the village school): "Now, children, can you tell me what a miracle is?"

The children looked at one another, but remained silent.

"Can no one answer this question?" the new curate asked, who was standing behind the squire's daughter. A little girl was struck with a brilliant idea. She held up her hand excitedly.

"Well, Nellie," the squire's daughter asked, smiling approval.

"Please, miss," the small child replied, breathlessly, "mother says 'twill be a miracle if you don't marry the new curate." — Topeka State Journal.

A GREEN ROOKIE.

"What's the trouble, sergeant?" "Tis the new recruit, sorr. Shure, I told him to mark time in the drill room till O came back and he's scratched up 'th' face of the clock wid a pencil."

CALOMEL SALIVATES AND MAKES YOU SICK

Acts like dynamite on a sluggish liver and you lose a day's work.

There's no reason why a person should take sickening, salivating calomel when 50 cents buys a large bottle of Dodson's Liver Tonic—a perfect substitute for calomel.

It is a pleasant, vegetable liquid which will start your liver just as surely as calomel, but it doesn't make you sick and can't salivate.

Children and grown folks can take Dodson's Liver Tonic, because it is perfectly harmless.

Calomel is a dangerous drug. It is mercury and attacks your bones. Take a dose of nasty calomel today and you will feel weak, sick and nauseated tomorrow. Don't lose a day's work. Take a spoonful of Dodson's Liver Tonic instead and you will wake up feeling great.

No more biliousness, constipation, sluggishness, headache, coated tongue or sour stomach. Your druggist says if you don't find Dodson's Liver Tonic acts better than horrible calomel your money is waiting for you.

OLD MEMORIES.

A quaint little pathway that twisted and turned
And passed from our sight at the mill,
Then wandered away where the wild flowers burned
Their gold in the slope of the hill.
How silent it led, with the alders above,
Till splashed by the sun streaming through,
It ended its way on the threshold of love,
Of an old-fashioned cottage we knew.

Each flower that bloomed 'round the lattice way there
Came down from the gardens above—
Each new opened blossom gave out on the air
Fresh tokens of tenderest love—
Each sigh in the trees of the breeze passing through,
Each call of a bird for its mate,
Belittled this old-fashioned cottage we knew
And the old-fashioned folk at the gate.

The gourd at the wall, the bucket and sweep,
The something that whispered of home,
The warmth of the welcome they treasure and keep
To greet a son given to roam;
Aye, each little thing, each joy and care
That passes in distant review;
May we find the old-fashioned cottages there
And the old-fashioned couples we knew.

GENEROSITY.

Generosity Takes In a Wide Range of Life.

When we speak of a generous person we usually think of one who is always willing to share of his earthly goods with others. But generosity is more than that. To be truly generous in acts, but in words and thought, as well. Generosity takes in a wide range of life, and when a person is truly generous he is noble and honorable and magnanimous.

How often, when people speak of all the bad points of some one under discussion, the generous person will, in an almost imperceptible manner, show the good points, sometimes not visible to the eye of the ungenerous, but still there for all that and ready to blossom forth in such glory as will command admiration if only cultivated and cared for.

The generous person must be willing to step aside sometimes so that others less fortunate may be able to make the progress that would be impossible with too strong competition. He must be always ready to defend the weak, speak well of the absent, help the struggling in the dark to the light, and share his earthly and heavenly blessings with those who cross his path in the journey through life. — Young People.

SHORT OF BREATH.

It was on the morning of St. Patrick's Day and the farmer thought he would treat his servant boy, so he gave him a big glass of whiskey. The farmer's wife thought she would treat him also, but she gave it to him in a very small glass. He looked at it and asked:

"Ma'am, how are those glasses made?"

"Oh, you know, these glasses are blown."

"Well," said the servant, "whoever blew that one must have been very short of breath." — Buffalo News.

The man who has but one shirt is short on change.

Constipation and Indigestion.

"I have used Chamberlain's Tablets and must say they are the best I have ever used for constipation and indigestion. My wife also used them for indigestion and they did her good." writes Eugene S. Knight, Wilmington, N. C. Chamberlain's Tablets are mild and gentle in their action. Give them a trial. You are certain to be pleased with the agreeable laxative effect which they produce.

GIRLS OF OTHER DAYS.

"Speaking of the peaches we knew 20 years ago—"

"Yes."

"Some of them seem to be pretty well preserved."

ENEMIES.

A Man Who Has No Enemies Is Seldom Good For Anything.

Have you enemies? Go straight on and mind them not. If they block your path walk around them, and do your duty regardless of their spite.

A man who has no enemies is seldom good for anything; he is made of that kind of material which is so easily worked, that everyone has a hand in it. A sterling character—one who thinks for himself, and speaks what he thinks—is always sure to have enemies. They are as necessary to him as fresh air: they keep him alive and active.

A celebrated character, who was surrounded with enemies, used to remark—"They are sparks which, if you do not blow, would go out themselves." Let this be your feeling while endeavoring to live down the scandal of those who are bitter against you. If you stop to dispute, you do but as they desire and open the way for more abuse. Let the poor fellows talk; there will be a reaction if you but perform your duty, and hundreds who were once alienated from you will flock to you and acknowledge their error. — Exchange.

HIS RIGHTS.

"Why did you strike this man?" asked the judge sternly.

"He called me a liar, your honor," replied the accused.

"Is that true?" asked the judge, returning to the man with the mussed up face.

"Sure it is, said the accused. "I called him a liar because he is one, and I can prove it."

"What have you got to say to that?" asked the judge of the defendant.

"It's got nothing to do with the case, your honor," was the unexpected reply. "Even if I am a liar, I guess I've got a right to be sensitive about it, ain't I?" — Topeka Star.

Taking Big Chances.

It is a great risk to travel without a bottle of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy, as this preparation cannot be obtained on the trains or steamships. Attacks of bowel complaint are often sudden and very severe and everyone should go prepared for them.

Obtainable everywhere.

MATERIAL FOR MIRTH.

Kidder—You know, Miss Giggles, I am becoming so I can make a joke about nothing.

Miss Giggles (enthusiastically)—Oh, make one about me, please.

THE WAY OF IT.

"Mrs. Smith, do you and Mr. Smith agree like most couples on the question of preserves?"

"No, we take quite different views about them. I put them up and he puts them down."

Biliousness and Stomach Trouble.

"Two years ago I suffered from frequent attacks of stomach trouble and biliousness," writes Miss Emma Verbyke, Lima, Ohio. "I could eat very little food that agreed with me and I became so dizzy and sick at my stomach at times that I had to take hold of something to keep from falling. Seeing Chamberlain's Tablets advertised I decided to try them. I improved rapidly." Obtainable everywhere.
