NUXATED IRON
The Power behind the Strong Vigorous Iron of Today

Dr. Ferdinand King, a New York City Physician and Medical Author, says: "There can be no strong, vigorous, iron men nor beautiful, healthy, rosy-cheeked women without iron—Nuxated Iron taken three times per day after meals will increase the strength and endurance of weak, nervous, run-down folks 100 per cent. in two weeks' time in many instances. Avoid the old forms of metallic iron, which may injure the teeth, corrode the stomach, and thereby do more harm than good. Take only genuine Iron—Nuxated Iron." It is dispensed in this city by all good druggists.

A MYSTERY.

Some Things Will Never Be Understood in This Old World

We could never understand how a comely maiden who has allowed some frail man to whisper into her waken ears the heated words of love to a point where above sixty in the shade, and swear by all the stars and moons and that he loved her, that he loved her to distraction! and after the ear chewing and the rapturous bliss knowing only to the period of young love's dream, promised to marry her, and afterwards changed his mind and failed to make good; treated her with contempt—we never could understand, we say, why a woman of mature years, old enough to make a contract of marriage could establish that she had any change coming to her; how she could put money value on the love that her young heart gave—that she threw at the feet of a man who was ungrateful enough not to pick it up, but beastly enough to tread upon it and crush it with his number nine brogans. But courts allow damages—heavy damages, sometimes, and the pining maiden takes the coin and buys her jim-cracking True So, as we French have it, and marries another fellow and live happily ever after.

Nor could we ever understand how a man could come in and claim that a woman who would leave him; who would go with another man; forsaking her children; her honor; her very life, almost, had any affection that belonged to him. But the law says such is the case; that a fellow who has stuff runs off with another man's wife that the other man can come into court and have a jury of his fellow countrymen and his peers award him as many plunks as he wants and as the case demands.—Everything.

ALL OFF.

"Were you ever shaved by a lady barber?"
"Once."
"How did you enjoy the experience?"
"Not very much."
"She damaged your face, then?"
"Not at all. She was a rather pretty woman, but just about the time I had settled back in her chair and was beginning to feel romantic she started to tell me how hard she worked to support her six fatherless children."

A MEAN MAN.

The telephone bell rang with anxious persistence. The doctor answered the call.
"Yes?" he said.
"Oh, doctor," said a wearied voice, "something seems to have happened to my wife. Her mouth seems set, and she can't say a word."
"Why, she may have lockjaw," said the medical man.
"Do you think so? Well, if you are up this way some time next week I wish you would step in and see what you can do for her."

A CROP ODDITY.

"Queer, isn't it?"
"What?"
"You plant the eyes of the potatoes and the ears of corn."

WOMAN NOW IN PERFECT HEALTH

What Came From Reading a Pinkham Advertisement.

Paterson, N. J.—"I thank you for the Lydia E. Pinkham remedies as they have made me well and healthy. Some time ago I felt so run down, had pains in my back and side, was very irregular, tired, nervous, had such bad dreams, did not feel like eating and had short breath. I read your advertisement in the newspapers and decided to try a bottle of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. It worked from the first bottle, so I took a second and a third, also a bottle of Lydia E. Pinkham's Blood Purifier, and now I am just as well as any other woman. I advise every woman, single or married, who is troubled with any of the above ailments, to try your wonderful Vegetable Compound and Blood Purifier and I am sure they will help her to get rid of her troubles as they did me."—Mrs. ELISE J. VAN DER SANDE, 36 No. York St., Paterson, N. J.

LIVER DIDN'T ACT DIGESTION WAS BAD

Says 65 year Old Kentucky Lady, Who Tells How She Was Relieved After a Few Doses of Black-Draught.

Meadorville, Ky.—Mrs. Cynthia Hightsham, of this town, says: "At my age, which is 65, the liver does not act so well as when young. A few years ago, my stomach was all out of fix. I was constipated, my liver didn't act. My digestion was bad, and it took so little to upset me. My appetite was gone. I was very weak. I decided I would give Black-Draught a thorough trial as I knew it was highly recommended for this trouble. I began taking it. I felt better after a few doses. My appetite improved and I became stronger. My bowels acted naturally and the least trouble was soon righted with a few doses of Black-Draught."

THE HAPPY HILLS.

There's a wonderful country, lying Far off from the noisy town,
Where wind-flower swings,
And veery sings,
And the tumbling brooks come down;
'Tis a land of light and of laughter,
Where peace all the woodland hills;
'Tis the land that lies
'Neath the summer skies
In the heart of the happy hills.

The road to that wonderful country Leads out from the gates of care;
And the tired feet
In the dusty street
Are longing to enter there;
And a voice from that land is calling
In the rush of a thousand rills—
'Come away, away,
To the woods to-day,
To the heart of the happy hills."

Far away in that wonderful country,
Where the skies are always blue,
In the shadows cool,
By the foaming pool,
We may put on strength anew;
We may drink from the magic fountains
Where the wine of life distils,
And never a care
Shall find us there,
In the heart of the happy hills.

MY DREAM.

I dreamed a dream last night, of wind and rain,
Around me darkness lay, the dark of storm,
Far in the farthest sky quick lightning played,
Cold winds swept down the hills, with mockings shrill,
Defied my flagging feet, that backward pressed,
By rock and thorn, o'er arduous winding path,
And stern activity, strove hard to breast their buffeting
Past weary I, that scarce found strength to pray,
Except to die.

But passed the storm, the chill of wind and rain,
To tint of rose above the rain-washed hills
I raised my eyes; far, in that farthest sky,
Where quick the lightning played, a cross was set,
Its beck'ning arms of purest silver wrought,
And at each gleaming point a shining star;
Swift leaped my lagging heart; swift sped my feet
With buoyant spring,
Ere day should die, to reach that radiant trail
Athwart the sky.

Then changed my dream; upon a seagirt shore
Remote, I seemed to be; soft winds, spice-laden,
Blessed with fragrant balm, blew cool and fresh
From o'er the whitened sands, filled was the air
With music strangely sweet,—a rhythmic song,—
Soft-falling on my brow I felt again
The roseleaf touch of long-lost tender hands,
Ah! then I knew,
Upon the strand of Paradise I stood,
And walked with you.

A GOOD GUESS.
"Well, I guess it's time to go."
Said he, as the clock struck ten;
"I hope," the weary maid replied,
"You won't have to guess again."

PICTURESQUE SHELL OF CITY.

Capital of Portuguese East Africa Looks Imposung from Sea Front But is Empty and Silent

Mozambique, capital of Portuguese East Africa, is a picturesque shell of a city, nothing more. It rises grand and imposing from the sea front, with its great blocks of old-time Portuguese and Arab fortresses—built when the slave trade flourished, but its broad streets are curiously empty and silent. It is like a deserted city, clean and colorful and beautiful, but lacking in sound and life.

There are no wheeled vehicles in Mozambique, except one lone cart on two wheels that serves as a city scavenging department, creeping about the streets picking up rubbish, drawn by a bullock with immense white horns rising straight up like the horns of a goat. Except for this equipage and a few rickshaws, the only sign of traffic is the dust stirred up by the soundless bare feet of the negroes. The heavy shutters on the big white houses are tight closed. The long day's heat keeps the whole European population indoors from sunrise to sunset.

Enormous palms wave their leafy fronds under the blue sky; the blue waves of the Passage beat into white foam on the sands; the bright pinks and yellows and blues of the houses have faded with time into soft blending tints of an old painting. Everywhere there is beauty of color and line and uncanny silence.

IN THE HEAT.

Colonel Roosevelt told at the Plattsburg training camp a hot-weather story.
"Today," he began, "is like the day when the major said to the colonel:

"Colonel, I bet I've sweat 24 gallons this afternoon."
"Major," said the colonel, "gentlemen don't sweat—they perspire. Hosses sweat, sir."
"Then, by gum, colonel," said the major, "I'm a hoss."—Washington Star.

A COMPROMISE.

"We'll have to have your appendix out," said the eminent surgeon.
"Can't we compromise, doctor?" asked the patient in a feeble voice.
"What do you mean, sir?"
"Take my tonsils and let me go."

LEMONS WHITEN AND BEAUTIFY THE SKIN

Make this beauty lotion cheaply for your face, neck, arms and hands.

At the cost of a small jar of ordinary cold cream one can prepare a full quart of the most wonderful lemon skin softener and complexion beautifier. Squeeze the juice of two fresh lemons into a bottle containing three ounces of orsard white. Care should be taken to strain the juice through a fine cloth so no lemon pulp gets in, then this lotion will keep fresh for months. Every woman knows that lemon juice is used to bleach and remove such blemishes as freckles, sallowness and tan and is the ideal skin softener, whitener and beautifier.
Just try it! Get three ounces of orsard white at any drug store and two lemons from the grocer and make up a quart of this lovely fragrant lemon lotion and massage it daily into the face, neck, arms and hands. It is marvelous to smoothen rough, red hands.
