SECRETLY MARRIED.

Intending to keep their marriage secret until Christmas, or until the bride could be released from her school dunes, two of our local people met in Weldon two weeks ago and were married by the Methodist minister at the parsonage.

The story leaked out when a suspicious. It was not however, and best wishes. until this travelling man recognized the lady here in town last week that he told what he had seen in Weldon.

Mr. Pete Shields came from Henderson last night, not anniciand when told about it this morning admitted the truth of the story but stated that both he and Mis-Miller had wished to keep the marter quiet until the Christmas holidays. Scotland Neck Common- ma, North Carolina

CLAUDE AND NEWSPAPERS.

Many of the North Carolina newspapers are going after the Hon. Claude Kitchin pretty swift Miss Gladys, are visiting relaives during the observance of Yom just now. It seems that Claude is the evil genius who insists that papers should pay some freight in this new revenue bill. Some of the papers insist that a newspaper should pay no more on its advertising account than a merchant should pay on his sales account or a day laborer on his wage. Be that as it may, there is a strong probability that when the election comes Claude will have more opposition than ever. Yet here is betting a dollar to a doughnut that he will sweep over his district like a prairie fire. He is strong "back home," and the tradition of the Kitchin family is to get in and stay in. Bill missed it but that was because he allowed ambition to run too high. As a Congressman Claude Kitchin is liable to die in the harness. He is just about invincible in his district
