HAD TRICK BATHING SUIT.
Young Woman Causes Autumn Sensation at Brighton.

A pretty young woman emerged from the waters of the Atlantic ocean at Brighton Beach yesterday afternoon and because she then proceeded to take off her bathing suit and accessories, she nearly caused a riot among those present. But despite the fact that thousands of perfectly respectable persons crowded around the young woman who was taking off her bathing suit and putting on her sweater and skirt, all in the world that they saw was a young woman taking off her bathing suit and putting on her sweater and skirt.

Just that and nothing more. The young woman had a trick suit, but before she got it on she nearly caused a lot of bronch necks among gentlemen who thought that they had trick necks. She caused only a mild sensation when she came out on the beach and pulled off the sweater and skirt, mild, because not very many saw her before they also saw that under the sweater and skirt she had on a bathing suit that was high enough up and low enough down not to offend anybody. Then she went into the water. After awhile she came out and walked up to her clothing, which she had placed in a neat little pile.

She picked up her sweater. She unbuttoned a strap of her blouse.

"Hey fellows!" yelled an elderly gentleman.

The fellows came on a run, thousands of them, and none of them blind. The young woman unbuttoned the strap, bearing a small part of one shoulder and an entire arm. This arm and this shoulder she inserted into the proper place in the sweater. Then she unbuttoned the strap on her other shoulder, and put that shoulder and its dependent arm in the other sleeve of the sweater.

Then she buttoned the sweater.

Having buttoned the sweater she reached up under it and jerked at her blouse. It came down and dangled at her waist. Then she picked up her skirt and slipped it over her head.

It was then that it became apparent that she had a trick bathing suit.

The skirt came slowly down over her body and as it came down the bathing suit came off. The movement synchronized perfectly, and as the skirt dropped to the proper place about her waist, the bathing suit dropped about her ankles.

Then she stepped out of it, put on her shoes and went away from there.

Several gentlemen who had fainted were ducked in the ocean. -New York Sun.

STOMACH TROUBLE
Mr. Marion Holcomb, of Nancy, Ky., says: "For quite a long while I suffered with stomach trouble. I would have pains and a heavy feeling after my meals, a most disagreeable taste in my mouth. If I ate anything with butter, oil or grease, I would spit it up. I began to have regular sick headache. I had used pills and tablets, but after a course of these, I would be constipated. It just seemed to tear my stomach all up. I found they were no good at all for my trouble. I heard

THEDFORD'S

SAFEST PLACES IN A LIGHTNING STORM.
Bolt Never Strikes Railroad Cars, Skyscrapers or Battleships—Brass Beds a Protection.

The fear of being struck by lightning is both a very real and very sensible. But lightning can be avoided like all other evils. It will strike in certain places. There are reasons for its behavior in both cases, for nature never operates by chance.

A steam engine or a railroad coach is as safe as any place in the world as far as the lightning is concerned. No one has ever been struck by lightning while he was aboard a train.

The business part of a city likewise is never struck by lightning. Neither are tall skyscrapers ever hit. It is a matter of record that insurance companies never have any losses from lightning striking any building with metallic sides and framework of iron and steel.

A steel battleship is also safe from bolt from the clouds, as is a steel windmill tower. This is because every one of these objects is its own lightning rod and needs no further protection than they can give themselves.

There is another list of things that lightning will strike. It will strike a country house or the house in the outskirts of a town. It likes to hit a barn, church, schoolhouse, tree, stack or animal especially if it is near a wire fence.

As for a house, the safest place in a lightning storm is your iron or brass bed. It is very dangerous to stand by the bed because you are taller than the bed. The reason why you are safe when lying on it is that the bed, head and foot extend above your head. The current will not leave the bed to pass through your body. The walls and the floor of the room may be ripped to pieces, but you will be safe as long as you lie still in your bed.

Feather beds offer no protection whatever from lightning unless they lie on a metal bed. -Philadelphia Inquirer.

Pale Faced Women Take Phosphates to Make Ruddy Cheeks and Beautiful Forms.
Men Need Phosphates to Make Strong, Healthy, Vigorous Bodies.

Athletes increase their strength, energy and endurance 200% or more by simply taking a few week's treatment of Argo Phosphate

Atlanta, Ga. Dr. F. J. Jacobson says that Phosphates are just as essential to any man or woman who live easily, pleasantly or profitably, as they are to the most vigorous healthy body. As they are essential to make it grow. The lack of Phosphates in the system of all suffering from ill-health and the administration of a great Argo Phosphate tablet will increase the strength and endurance of weak, nervous, exhausted and women like per cent. in two or three weeks' time in many instances, and their continued use will build up the whole nervous system, and give new vim, vigor, and vitality to the whole body. I always prescribe Argo Phosphate to patients who are pale and sickly, and it is surprising to see how quickly a few weeks' treatment will transform a pale face to a ruddy, healthy one. They can be no checked, healthy, beautiful women without their system is sufficiently supplied with Phosphates. In recent interviews with physicians on the grave and serious consequences of a deficiency of Phosphates in the blood of young men and women, I have strongly emphasized the fact that doctors should prescribe more phosphates in the form of Argo Phosphate for weak, nervous, lagged looking men and women. When the skin is pale, and the flesh flabby, it is a sign of anemia. When the phosphaes go from the blood, the pink cheeks go, too. The muscles lose tone. They become nervous, irritable, despondent, melancholy, the brain lags, and the memory fails. Therefore if you wish to preserve your health, to increase your size and vitality, to take hold of life, you must supply the deficiency of Phosphates existing in your food by using Argo Phosphate, the form of Phosphates most easily assimilated.

NOTICE
Argo Phosphate which is recommended and prescribed by physicians in all disease cases, is not a secret or patent medicine, but one that is sold and recommended by well known druggists everywhere, and physicians are daily prescribing the constituents contained in it. Being entirely unlike any other Phosphates, it is easily assimilated and will be found superior in the treatment of indigestion and stomach troubles, as well as for every other nervous condition. The manufacturers of Argo Phosphate will refund to any charitable institution $200.00 if they cannot treat any man or woman under 65 who lacks Phosphates and increase their strength and endurance from 100 per cent. to 200 per cent. or more in one month's time, if they are free from organic trouble. It is dispensed by the W. M. Cohen Drug Company.

I have walked in the valley of sorrow,
I have met with the death-dealing foe,
I have cringed from the dawn of the morn
With its secrets no mortal may know,
'Till I've threaded its darkness and danger
And tasted its bitter and sweet
Encountered its friends and maligners
And known its success or defeat.

I have seen the soft tints of the dawning
Fade out of the rosy flushed east,
The tempest come hissing and frowning,
The pale shafts of anger released,
Yet oft with the noon came the breaking
Of light, and the mist rolled away,
New hope in my bosom awaking,
My faltering courage to stay.

A day may be turbid and stormy
With never a ray of the sun,
A life may be saddened and gloomy,
But each when it's course is run
May witness the glory of Heaven
Cast back in the last fading glow
That glints where the storm clouds are riven
To gladden a dark world below.

Faint not when the tempests o'ertake thee:
'Tis only the crucible test
Designed by the Father to make thee
Cling closer to love's holy breast,
To prove to the soul that is wilful
Its weakness compared to his strength,
To prove He is tender and mindful
And guides us to glory at length.

NOT SO INNOCENT.

Having come to see her soldier brother, who was on duty at that time, she was being taken around by his chum.

"Who is that person?" she asked, pointing to a gymnastic instructor with a badge of crossed Indian clubs.

"That is the barber; don't you see the scissors on his arm?"

Seeing yet another man with cuffs decorated with stars, she asked, "And that one?"

"Oh, he is the battalion astronomer; he guides us on our night maneuvers!"

"How interesting!" replied the maiden. Then, seeing her companion's badge, that of an ancient stringed instrument, she asked: "And does that thing mean you are the regimental fiddler?" -London Tit Bits.

ALL CLEAR NOW.

Old farmer (to soldier son, just returned from the front): "Well, Dick, what be these tanks like that there's so much talk about?"

Son: "Why, they's just what-bling thing-mabobs, full o' what-you-may-call 'ems, and they blaze away like billyo!"

Old Farmer: "Ay, I heard they was wonderful things, but I never could get any details before." -Tit Bits.

CHRISTMAS HOLLY.

The round, bright sun in the west hung low,
It was old-fashioned Christmas weather.
I remember the fields were white with snow
As we stood by the stile together,
In the woods the berries grew thick and red,
Yet I lingered and called it "Folly!"
When you said with a smile: "Let us cross the stile
And gather some Christmas holly."

Bar over hills by the frozen brook
We went where the boughs were sprinkled
With snow; and deep in a sheltered nook
The waterfall faintly tinkled,
A brave little robin sang out in the cold:
It was only young lovers' folly,
But we listened so long to the redbreast's song
That we almost forgot the holly.

Then the light died out of the golden day,
And the moon showed her silvery brow,
And we never knew if our homeward way
Lay through rose-leaves or drifted snow,
One bright star shone in the pale, clear sky,
And my mother said it was folly
To listen so long to a robin's song—
But we brought home the Christmas holly.

You sit not now from our ingle brook,
And my hair is white like the snow;
For the story you told 'mid the sunset gold
Is the story of long ago.
As hand clasps hand by the winter fire,
Do you deem it an old wife's folly
That my eyes grow wet with sweet regret
When I look at the Christmas holly?

Preters Chamberlain's
"In the course of a conversation with Chamberlain's Medicine Co.'s representative today, we had occasion to discuss in a general way the merits of their different preparations. At his suggestion I take pleasure in expressing my estimation of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. I have a family of six children and have used this remedy in my home for years. I consider it the only cough remedy on the market, as I have tried nearly all kinds." -Earl C. Ross, Publisher Hamilton County Republican News, Syracuse, Kan.

Soon Over His Cold.
"Every one speaks well of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy after having used it. Mrs. George Lewis, Pittsfield, N. Y., has this to say regarding it: "Last winter my little boy, five years old, was sick with a cold for two or three weeks. I doctored him and used various cough medicines but nothing did him much good until I began using Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. He then improved rapidly and in a few days was over his cold."

When a man's trousers bag at the knees they seldom bag at the pockets.

TIMOROUS LOVER.

A woman came into a store for a pair of slippers. She asked the shop assistant to get her a pair about size 10, and she wanted them squeaky.

"They are for my father," she added.

"Squeaky, miss? I'm afraid we have not any of that kind."

"Couldn't you make him a pair of squeaky ones?" asked the young woman. "There is a young man who visits me frequently and it would be very convenient for him to know just when pa is coming down stairs."
